GOP Hopes For Balanced Budget Dashed

National Debt Boost Is Seen By Humphrey

Treasury's Chief Declares Security Risk Is Too Great

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—Republican hopes of achieving a balanced budget next year were dashed today when Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey declared it can't be done.

"The risks that would involve our security would simply be too great," Humphrey was quoted as telling a closed-door session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

"There is no prospect at all for anything but an increase in the national debt at the present moment," he was quoted.

Early Tax Cut Unlikely

Thus the administration's chief financial officer acknowledged that the administration does not hope to reach in the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1953, the goal which Republicans set themselves in last year's campaign. The Republican platform and party speakers declared the budget should be balanced as soon as possible. They also called for reduced taxes.

President Eisenhower, in announcing last week that he would cut 8½ billion dollars off the appropriations request made by the Truman administration, said he did not expect this would make possible a completely balanced budget in the coming fiscal year. But he declared his administration was making progress in that direction—and thus toward lower taxes—every day.

Chairman Wiley (R-Wis) said Humphrey told the senators that the legal limit on the size of the national debt may have to be raised.

Limit Now $275 Billion

The limit fixed by present law is 275 billion dollars. Today's daily Treasury statement on the government's financial position reported a debt of $265,621,000,000, compared with $258,447,000,000 a year ago.

Government officials in close touch with the nation's financial affairs estimated today that Truman's January forecast of the deficit for the current fiscal year, which ends June 30, might fall short by a couple of billion dollars.

Truman figured the government would spend $5,900,000,000 more than it takes in this year, but the experts said the most likely figure now is somewhere between 7½ and eight billion dollars.

Spicy Letters Admitted In Poison Trial

Mrs. Joyce Hayden and her husband, Robert, (right), talk to Dep. Dist. Atty. Joseph L. Carr at yesterday's session of the Los Angeles trial of Richard LaForce, accused of trying to poison Hayden. At the session, the judge permitted the jury to hear excerpts from 26 spicy love letters written last summer by Mrs. Hayden to LaForce. The letters had been the subject of a lengthy dispute between Carr and LaForce's attorneys over their admissibility.

Atomic Blast Turns Trees Into Torches

LAS VEGAS, Nev., May 8 (AP)—One of America's more powerful A-bombs blasted simulated military installations and set flaming torches amid a mock forest today on the barren desert of Nevada Proving Ground.

Two drone planes flew safely through the rim of the blast which was set off 2,500 feet above Frenchman Flat, and 20 Air Force planes, fully manned, cruised near the atomic cloud shortly after the explosion.

The bomb was dropped by a B50 from Kirtland AFB, Albuquerque, N. M. at 10:30 a. m. (EST), momentarily dulling the sun.

On the ground, 2,000 Army troops were able to move forward in maneuvers an hour after the blast to observe many fires burning in the area near ground zero. The Atomic Energy Commission's report gave no clear indication, but fire apparently raged in structures and trees.

Amazingly, however, the AEC reported that some of the larger pine trees, brought down from the nearby Charleston Mountains and anchored in concrete, still were standing.

The detonation tested bunkers and simulated fortifications, both above and underground, and a series of wall segments and textile samples mounted for civilian defense experiments. Twenty-five autos which survived previous tests were also subjected to the blast.

This was the eighth shot, and one of the strongest, of the spring series. It was the first this year at Frenchman Flat.

The shock hit Las Vegas, 65 miles away, but caused no damage. The explosion was reported heard in such distant communities as St. George, Utah, and Bishop, Calif.

Injuries Suffered In High Dive Killed "Aquatot," Father Says

MIAMI, Fla., May 8 (AP)—A tearful Russell Tongay went to bury his tiny swimming star daughter, Kathy, 5, today after denying he gave her a fatal beating.

Free on $5,000 bond on a second degree murder charge, the husky 36-year-old former Coast Guardsman and his school-teacher wife departed for Tarpon Springs, Fla., where the aquatot's bruised little body will be laid to rest beside Russell Tongay Jr., their first child who died at the age of 18 months.

"We are going to my home in Tarpon Springs to bury Kathy," Mrs. Betty Tongay said, her lips trembling.

"We need to be alone to sit and think this thing out. We may be there for some time. My mother is very ill."

Hurt In Dive, Father Says

Tongay told Jack Roberts, Miami Daily News reporter, in an interview before he surrendered to face a second degree murder charge that "I hold myself responsible for my daughter's death."

Tongay said his daughter was injured in a dive from a 33-foot platform and he felt responsible "because I didn't know she was so seriously hurt."

"I told police I didn't give Kathy a whipping Tuesday. I told them she was hurt in a high dive but they wouldn't listen," he said.

Mrs. Tongay said she herself spanked Kathy Tuesday but "it wasn't much of a whipping. Just the kind any parents give when their children don't mind.

"I want everyone to know that I share the responsibility for anything that has happened," she said. "I wanted the children to swim just like Russ did."

Hearing Set For June 11

Tongay, who is partially deaf, interrupted to say he had never been cruel to Kathy or her equally famous swimming brother, Bubba, 7, now being cared for by friends.

Then, still together, the Tongays went to Circuit Court. Homicide detectives served Tongay there with a warrant charging second degree murder.

A hearing on the second degree murder charge was set for June 11 before Peace Justice Edwin Lee Mason who signed the warrant. Louis Jepeway, Tongay's attorney, said he probably would ask for a postponement to June 18 because of other business.

"No Fix" Tagging Order Backfires

WOONSOCKET, R. I., May 8 (AP)—A few days ago Mayor Kevin K. Coleman issued a "no fix" tagging program.

Public Safety Director Gustave A. La Breche today smilingly reported cars of these city officials tagged for all night parking:

Mayor Coleman, Finance Director J. Leo Bradley, Personnel Director Francis J. Bolduc and Councillor Charles J. Creighton.

Byrd Blames Truman For Arms 'Slowdown'

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D-Va) said today he "has to assume" that former President Truman was responsible for what the Virginian called a virtual "slowdown" order on military purchases for the Korean War in September, 1950.

Byrd said his personal examination of Defense Department secret files disclosed a Sept. 20, 1950 letter signed by Gen. Omar N. Bradley saying the Joint Chiefs of Staff agreed that for budget purposes the war could be regarded as likely to end by the following June 30.

Five Scared Young Heroes Presented Medals By Nixon

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP) — Six terror-stricken youngsters got awards for heroism today from Vice President Nixon, who told them that meeting him was "part of the cost of the medal."

Five boys and a girl, who risked their lives to rescue schoolmates from onrushing cars or trains, found it a much tougher proposition to face the vice president and a battery of photographers.

The kids were given gold lifesaving medals from the American Automobile Association, which is sponsoring the 17th annual conclave of safety patrol boys and girls from all over the country.

They were having a grand time, seeing sights and traffic most of them had never seen before, until they came face to face with Nixon.

Then the quaking began. The first boy to get his medal, 12-year-old Kenneth Altsherr of Ypsilanti, Mich., eyed Nixon suspiciously and had to be shoved forward to get in focus for the cameras.

Then, while his citation was being read, Kenny kept staring down at the floor, swallowing hard, moistening his lips and trying to keep his heart from thumping so loud the vice president could hear it.

He got a little braver later on, though, when Jean Thompson, a pretty 11-year-old from Fairburn, Ga., was getting her medal. He asked Nixon to pose with Jean so he could get a shot with his camera.

The most garrulous of the untalkative youngsters was Paul Weiss, an 11-year-old from the Bronx,

3 Americans Die In Crash Of India Plane

19 Persons Perish As Airliner Plunges To Earth And Burns

NEW DELHI, India, Saturday, May 9 (AP)—An Air India passenger plane crashed in a ball of fire today. It killed 19 persons, including three Americans, in India's second air disaster within a week.

One of the dead was identified as a member of a wealthy American family that originated in India and now lives in Hawaii and Los Angeles.

Airport officials said the plane crashed less than three miles from its take-off point. First reports said the craft apparently caught fire soon after leaving the field on what normally is a five-hour flight. It burned to rubble before emergency crews from Palam Airfield reached the scene.

Officials said Americans aboard included a Miss Lehman and R. Watumull of Bombay. Watumull was described as a member of a prominent Los Angeles and Honolulu family with business interests in India.

It was India's second air disaster in a week. A British Comet jet airliner crashed near Calcutta last Saturday killing 43 persons, including three Americans.

Taylor Says Reds 'Have Bear By Tail'

SEOUL, May 8 (INS)—Lt. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor said today he believes the Communists will continue to press for a Korean truce because "we are sapping their strength and they have plenty of reason for seeking a military armistice."

The Eighth Army commander also thinks that the Communists have planned "to use their men and material somewhere else and they don't want to keep on losing them in a conflict they cannot win."

Taylor said he had no specific information of Communist plans for aggression in any one area. But he made it clear he feels the Reds want to put an end to the constant drain on their strength in Korea so they can build up for a possible push elsewhere.

"We are sapping their military power every day," Taylor said. "They are hurting badly and they have plenty of reason for seeking a truce.

"It is very logical to assume also that the Communists have other plans—they must have."

Taylor, who succeeded Gen. James A. Van Fleet as Eighth Army commander a little more than two months ago, said the Reds "have a bear by the tail in Korea" and they are trying to let go.

Laborites Make Gains In British Elections

LONDON, May 8 (AP)—British Socialists scored landslide gains at the expense of both the Conservatives and all other rivals in returns tonight from local council elections in England and Wales.

Labor party headquarters immediately heralded the outcome as a slap at the "conservatism" of Prime Minister Churchill's Conservative national government.

The voting began Monday. It closed yesterday.

First returns in metropolitan London saw the Laborites picking up a net of 119 seats in the borough councils—taking away 110 from Conservatives, seven from Communists and two from Independents.

While the trend was to the left, nowhere did the Communists make any impression. The congested Stepney Borough in London's East End clothing and dockyard district, a Red stronghold in past elections, voted out all seven Communists in the old council.

Murderer Recaptured

BALTIMORE, May 8 (AP) — A young murderer escaped from two guards at University Hospital here today and eluded pursuers for 90 minutes before being recaptured about seven miles away in South Baltimore.

He was identified as James Alton Best, 25-year-old Negro serving a 15-year Maryland Penitentiary term for second-degree murder.

Bigamist Sentenced To 7 Years In Prison

DENTON, Md., May 8 (AP)—Robert Dorr Kinney, strapping 200-pounder, was sentenced to seven years in prison today after admitting only two of his five marriages were legal.

The prosecuting witness was a 16-year-old girl Kinney married here last Feb. 27. She is expecting a child.

When sentence on the bigamy conviction was pronounced the 35-year-old Kinney kissed Wife No. 4 good-bye. They lived in Salisbury, Md., and have two children, although Kinney was not legally divorced when he married her, either.

Advocate Limited U. S. Participation

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—President Eisenhower and his cabinet, terming the controversial St. Lawrence Seaway project "highly desirable," today advocated limited U.S. participation in the big undertaking.

The idea of the seaway is to enable ocean-going ships to proceed from the Atlantic up the St. Lawrence to the Great Lakes.

The White House, in making what Canadian Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent said was a "statement of intention," said Eisenhower and the cabinet unanimously accepted the recommendations of a special committee named by the President to study the subject.

FPC License Necessary

The committee was composed of representatives from the Departments of State, Defense, Commerce and Interior.

St. Laurent, who had been shown the recommendations during a White House visit, told reporters after its issuance that his government is ready to discuss the project.

But he emphasized that the key to the whole undertaking of joint U.S.-Canada participation in the waterway depends on whether the Federal Power Commission (FPC) issues a license for construction of a related power development of the river in the International Rapids section, near Massena, N.Y.

Two Applications Pending

New York State and a private firm, Public Power and Water Co., Trenton, N.J., have applications pending before the commission for authority to engage in the estimated 600 million dollar hydro project. The licensee, if one is named, would join with the Ontario Hydroelectric Commission, in the project's construction.

Without the power project, the Seaway could only be built on the Canadian side of the river.

Meany Declares Union To Decide On Dock Cleanup

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—President George Meany of the American Federation of Labor roared out today that the AFL—not Sen. Tobey (R-NH)—will decide what the federation should do about cleaning up waterfront racketeering.

Meany testified the AFL Executive Council has taken a step unprecenteded in 70 years by demanding that the International Longshoremen's Association get rid of the "shape-up" hiring system and union officials with criminal records.

Agree Evils Present

"Yes," Tobey yelled, "and they haven't done a damn thing."

While senator and labor leader shouted angrily at one another at times, they were in agreement that there are evils on the docks that ought to be wiped out.

They faced each other at a hearing before Tobey's Senate commerce subcommittee, which is investigating crime and racketeering on the New Jersey-New York waterfronts.

Tobey had an idea the AFL and ILA aren't moving fast enough to correct conditions he said are intolerable and un-American.

Storm At Each Other

"The American people want some decency," he stormed.

"And we want decency," Meany stormed back. "But what we do about it, senator, is something we'll decide. You won't decide."

Meany said neither he nor the Executive Council, under the AFL constitution, can do anything to enforce a clean-up in the ILA. He said all the federation itself can do is strip the ILA of the AFL label.

Sabres Damage Three Red MIGs

SEOUL, Saturday, May 9 (AP)—Communist pilots came out Friday to challenge U. S. Sabre jets for the first time in eight days and Sabre pilots said they damaged three MIGs.

On the ground, U. S. and British Commonwealth division units on the Western Front threw back light Chinese Red probing attacks, aided by artillery.

There were no fresh reports from the Navy on the intense naval bombardment and carrier plane attacks which through Thursday had hit the Reds on the East Coast for a week.

The Fifth Air Force said one Red MIG was damaged in sky fights just south of the Yalu River between 10 Sabres and 16 MIGs. The other two were damaged during action involving 20 MIGs and an undisclosed number of Sabres.

Friday before dawn, troops of the U. S. 7th Division on Pork Chop Hill clashed briefly with a Chinese company. The Reds pulled back under Allied artillery and mortar fire.

14-Year-Old Boy Drowns

BALTIMORE, May — (AP) — Coy Johnson, 14, drowned in Back River late today after he jumped or fell from a rowboat, Essex police reported.

"World Citizen" Crashes Gate At Buckingham Palace

LONDON, May 8 (AP)—Scotland Yard hustled "World Citizen" Garry Davis into a hospital for mental observation today after he crashed the gate at Buckingham Palace in an effort to ask Queen Elizabeth to let him stay in England.

A policeman caught Davis inside the Palace grounds as he sped past the red-coated Royal Scots Guards and headed for the Queen's residence. After questioning at a nearby police station, he was taken to St. Pancras Hospital to undergo observation.

Davis went broke here when a play he was in closed recently. His residence permit expired April 28 and he sent a petition to the Queen—rather than go to the Home Office, which handles such matters—asking that he be allowed to stay on to earn passage to India.

Getting no answer, Davis parked outside the Palace gate with knapsack and typewriter, wrote some more documents to the Queen and waited for his chance to slip inside.

The guardsmen never broke step or batted an eye under their big bearskin caps when he streaked by. They left it to a polite London bobbie to catch him and lead him away.

The 31-year-old former U. S. Air Force bomber pilot gave up his American citizenship in 1948 to start a "world unity" movement. He traveled about as a stateless person, calling himself "World Citizen No. 1." He has since tried fruitlessly to regain American citizenship.

Ask Why Fate Should Be Left To Conference

Talks Are Recessed After U. N. Reaction Given By Harrison

PANMUNJOM, Saturday, May 9 (AP)—The Allies, answering a Communist compromise proposal for an armistice in Korea, today asked why it was necessary to hand over to a higher level political conference the disposition of prisoners refusing to go home.

Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, Jr., senior Allied delegate, gave the U.N. Command reaction to a sweeping Red proposal of last Thursday for exchanging prisoners, last crucial issue barring an armistice.

Immediately after Harrison finished speaking, the meeting was adjourned until 11 a.m. Sunday (9 p.m., EST, Saturday)

The session opened today after a one-day recess to permit Washington consultations on the Communist proposal.

Washington sources suggested that some parts of the Red offer appeared objectionable and that counter-proposals might be made later.

"All-Or-Nothing" Plan

Thursday the Reds had offered an eight-point plan for settling the thorny prisoner exchange issue. It contained one major concession but the Communists declared the Allies would have to take it in total or not at all.

The major concession was that 48,000 Red prisoners refusing to return to Communist rule need not be sent out of Korea to a neutral nation as the Reds previously had insisted.

Instead, the Reds proposed that they be kept in Korea, as the Allies have insisted all along, and placed in custody of a five-nation repatriation commission—Poland, Czechoslovakia, Sweden, Switzerland and India.

Guarded by troops of these nations, these balky prisoners then would be interviewed by Red representatives during a four-month period in efforts to "persuade" them to go home. If they still balked after that, their fate would be decided in a post-armistice political conference.

Washington Objections

Washington reports said strong objection was apparent to introducing in Korea the troops of the two Communist countries of Czechoslovakia and Poland. Washington officials also apparently opposed letting the political conference decide the fate of balky prisoners believing it would doom the prisoners to a long period of detention.

Allied truce delegates spent Friday carefully going over the Communist proposal. The delegates maintained close contact with Gen. Mark Clark's Far East Command headquarters in Tokyo. Clark's office in turn kept in contact with Washington.

Reds Clinging To Laos Base

HANOI, Indochina, May 8 (AP)—One Vietminh garrison clung mysteriously to a strategic base in the heart of Laos today while the rest of the Communist-led invasion force pushed northward in a general withdrawal.

The rebel command appeared to be pulling back the bulk of its troops through pelting summer monsoon rains after they had managed to sweep over a third of the little Indochinese kingdom in less than a month without a major clash.

But one powerful detachment still held its grip on the important town of Xiengkhouang, seized when the French-Laotian defense garrison gave it up without a fight in the initial Vietminh invasion.

From there, troops of the Vietminh's crack 304th Division have stabbed southward to within 35 miles of Pak Sane on the Mekong River, which forms part of the frontier between Indochina and Thailand.

Assaults from Xiengkhouang still could be launched against the Laotian royal seat at Luang Prabang, 90 miles to the northwest, and the administrative capital of Vientiane, 80 miles to the southwest. Both of these towns also are on the Mekong.

U. S. Aid For French

Byrd Blames Truman For Arms 'Slowdown'

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—Sen. Byrd (D-Va) said today he "has to assume" that former President Truman was responsible for what the Virginian called a virtual "slowdown" order on military purchases for the Korean War in September, 1950.

Byrd said his personal examination of Defense Department secret files disclosed a Sept. 20, 1950 letter signed by Gen. Omar N. Bradley saying the Joint Chiefs of Staff agreed that for budget purposes the war could be regarded as likely to end by the following June 30.

Cutback At Edgewood

EDGEWOOD, Md., May 8 (AP)—The Army announced today the deactivation of a section of its chemical-warfare test center here as part of a belt-tightening program.

Five Scared Young Heroes Presented Medals By Nixon

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP) — Six terror-stricken youngsters got awards for heroism today from Vice President Nixon, who told them that meeting him was "part of the cost of the medal."

Five boys and a girl, who risked their lives to rescue schoolmates from onrushing cars or trains, found it a much tougher proposition to face the vice president and a battery of photographers.

The kids were given gold lifesaving medals from the American Automobile Association, which is sponsoring the 17th annual conclave of safety patrol boys and girls from all over the country.

They were having a grand time, seeing sights and traffic most of them had never seen before, until they came face to face with Nixon.

Then the quaking began. The first boy to get his medal, 12-year-old Kenneth Altsherr of Ypsilanti, Mich., eyed Nixon suspiciously and had to be shoved forward to get in focus for the cameras.

Then, while his citation was being read, Kenny kept staring down at the floor, swallowing hard, moistening his lips and trying to keep his heart from thumping so loud the vice president could hear it.

He got a little braver later on, though, when Jean Thompson, a pretty 11-year-old from Fairburn, Ga., was getting her medal. He asked Nixon to pose with Jean so he could get a shot with his camera.

The most garrulous of the untalkative youngsters was Paul Weiss, an 11-year-old from the Bronx,

3 Americans Die In Crash Of India Plane

19 Persons Perish As Airliner Plunges To Earth And Burns

NEW DELHI, India, Saturday, May 9 (AP)—An Air India passenger plane crashed in a ball of fire today. It killed 19 persons, including three Americans, in India's second air disaster within a week.

One of the dead was identified as a member of a wealthy American family that originated in India and now lives in Hawaii and Los Angeles.

Airport officials said the plane crashed less than three miles from its take-off point. First reports said the craft apparently caught fire soon after leaving the field on what normally is a five-hour flight. It burned to rubble before emergency crews from Palam Airfield reached the scene.

Officials said Americans aboard included a Miss Lehman and R. Watumull of Bombay. Watumull was described as a member of a prominent Los Angeles and Honolulu family with business interests in India.

It was India's second air disaster in a week. A British Comet jet airliner crashed near Calcutta last Saturday killing 43 persons, including three Americans.

Taylor Says Reds 'Have Bear By Tail'

SEOUL, May 8 (INS)—Lt. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor said today he believes the Communists will continue to press for a Korean truce because "we are sapping their strength and they have plenty of reason for seeking a military armistice."

The Eighth Army commander also thinks that the Communists have planned "to use their men and material somewhere else and they don't want to keep on losing them in a conflict they cannot win."

Taylor said he had no specific information of Communist plans for aggression in any one area. But he made it clear he feels the Reds want to put an end to the constant drain on their strength in Korea so they can build up for a possible push elsewhere.

"We are sapping their military power every day," Taylor said. "They are hurting badly and they have plenty of reason for seeking a truce.

"It is very logical to assume also that the Communists have other plans—they must have."

Taylor, who succeeded Gen. James A. Van Fleet as Eighth Army commander a little more than two months ago, said the Reds "have a bear by the tail in Korea" and they are trying to let go.

Laborites Make Gains In British Elections

LONDON, May 8 (AP)—British Socialists scored landslide gains at the expense of both the Conservatives and all other rivals in returns tonight from local council elections in England and Wales.

Labor party headquarters immediately heralded the outcome as a slap at the "conservatism" of Prime Minister Churchill's Conservative national government.

The voting began Monday. It closed yesterday.

First returns in metropolitan London saw the Laborites picking up a net of 119 seats in the borough councils—taking away 110 from Conservatives, seven from Communists and two from Independents.

While the trend was to the left, nowhere did the Communists make any impression. The congested Stepney Borough in London's East End clothing and dockyard district, a Red stronghold in past elections, voted out all seven Communists in the old council.

Murderer Recaptured

BALTIMORE, May 8 (AP) — A young murderer escaped from two guards at University Hospital here today and eluded pursuers for 90 minutes before being recaptured about seven miles away in South Baltimore.

He was identified as James Alton Best, 25-year-old Negro serving a 15-year Maryland Penitentiary term for second-degree murder.

Bigamist Sentenced To 7 Years In Prison

DENTON, Md., May 8 (AP)—Robert Dorr Kinney, strapping 200-pounder, was sentenced to seven years in prison today after admitting only two of his five marriages were legal.

The prosecuting witness was a 16-year-old girl Kinney married here last Feb. 27. She is expecting a child.

When sentence on the bigamy conviction was pronounced the 35-year-old Kinney kissed Wife No. 4 good-bye. They lived in Salisbury, Md., and have two children, although Kinney was not legally divorced when he married her, either.

Ike, Cabinet Endorse St. Lawrence Seaway

Advocate Limited U. S. Participation

ATOM MUSHROOM — A huge column of dust is sucked upward to join the atomic cloud and form the mushroom of yesterday's blast at Frenchman Flat, Nev. The atomic device was dropped by a B-50 bomber. (AP Wirephoto).

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—President Eisenhower and his cabinet, terming the controversial St. Lawrence Seaway project "highly desirable," today advocated limited U.S. participation in the big undertaking.

The idea of the seaway is to enable ocean-going ships to proceed from the Atlantic up the St. Lawrence to the Great Lakes.

The White House, in making what Canadian Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent said was a "statement of intention," said Eisenhower and the cabinet unanimously accepted the recommendations of a special committee named by the President to study the subject.

FPC License Necessary

The committee was composed of representatives from the Departments of State, Defense, Commerce and Interior.

St. Laurent, who had been shown the recommendations during a White House visit, told reporters after its issuance that his government is ready to discuss the project.

But he emphasized that the key to the whole undertaking of joint U.S.-Canada participation in the waterway depends on whether the Federal Power Commission (FPC) issues a license for construction of a related power development of the river in the International Rapids section, near Massena, N.Y.

Two Applications Pending

New York State and a private firm, Public Power and Water Co., Trenton, N.J., have applications pending before the commission for authority to engage in the estimated 600 million dollar hydro project. The licensee, if one is named, would join with the Ontario Hydroelectric Commission, in the project's construction.

Without the power project, the Seaway could only be built on the Canadian side of the river.

Meany Declares Union To Decide On Dock Cleanup

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—President George Meany of the American Federation of Labor roared out today that the AFL—not Sen. Tobey (R-NH)—will decide what the federation should do about cleaning up waterfront racketeering.

Meany testified the AFL Executive Council has taken a step unprecenteded in 70 years by demanding that the International Longshoremen's Association get rid of the "shape-up" hiring system and union officials with criminal records.

Agree Evils Present

"Yes," Tobey yelled, "and they haven't done a damn thing."

While senator and labor leader shouted angrily at one another at times, they were in agreement that there are evils on the docks that ought to be wiped out.

They faced each other at a hearing before Tobey's Senate commerce subcommittee, which is investigating crime and racketeering on the New Jersey-New York waterfronts.

Tobey had an idea the AFL and ILA aren't moving fast enough to correct conditions he said are intolerable and un-American.

Storm At Each Other

"The American people want some decency," he stormed.

"And we want decency," Meany stormed back. "But what we do about it, senator, is something we'll decide. You won't decide."

Meany said neither he nor the Executive Council, under the AFL constitution, can do anything to enforce a clean-up in the ILA. He said all the federation itself can do is strip the ILA of the AFL label.

Sabres Damage Three Red MIGs

SEOUL, Saturday, May 9 (AP)—Communist pilots came out Friday to challenge U. S. Sabre jets for the first time in eight days and Sabre pilots said they damaged three MIGs.

On the ground, U. S. and British Commonwealth division units on the Western Front threw back light Chinese Red probing attacks, aided by artillery.

There were no fresh reports from the Navy on the intense naval bombardment and carrier plane attacks which through Thursday had hit the Reds on the East Coast for a week.

The Fifth Air Force said one Red MIG was damaged in sky fights just south of the Yalu River between 10 Sabres and 16 MIGs. The other two were damaged during action involving 20 MIGs and an undisclosed number of Sabres.

Friday before dawn, troops of the U. S. 7th Division on Pork Chop Hill clashed briefly with a Chinese company. The Reds pulled back under Allied artillery and mortar fire.

14-Year-Old Boy Drowns

BALTIMORE, May — (AP) — Coy Johnson, 14, drowned in Back River late today after he jumped or fell from a rowboat, Essex police reported.

"World Citizen" Crashes Gate At Buckingham Palace

LONDON, May 8 (AP)—Scotland Yard hustled "World Citizen" Garry Davis into a hospital for mental observation today after he crashed the gate at Buckingham Palace in an effort to ask Queen Elizabeth to let him stay in England.

A policeman caught Davis inside the Palace grounds as he sped past the red-coated Royal Scots Guards and headed for the Queen's residence. After questioning at a nearby police station, he was taken to St. Pancras Hospital to undergo observation.

Davis went broke here when a play he was in closed recently. His residence permit expired April 28 and he sent a petition to the Queen—rather than go to the Home Office, which handles such matters—asking that he be allowed to stay on to earn passage to India.

Getting no answer, Davis parked outside the Palace gate with knapsack and typewriter, wrote some more documents to the Queen and waited for his chance to slip inside.

The guardsmen never broke step or batted an eye under their big bearskin caps when he streaked by. They left it to a polite London bobbie to catch him and lead him away.

The 31-year-old former U. S. Air Force bomber pilot gave up his American citizenship in 1948 to start a "world unity" movement. He traveled about as a stateless person, calling himself "World Citizen No. 1." He has since tried fruitlessly to regain American citizenship.

Ask Why Fate Should Be Left To Conference

Talks Are Recessed After U. N. Reaction Given By Harrison

PANMUNJOM, Saturday, May 9 (AP)—The Allies, answering a Communist compromise proposal for an armistice in Korea, today asked why it was necessary to hand over to a higher level political conference the disposition of prisoners refusing to go home.

Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, Jr., senior Allied delegate, gave the U.N. Command reaction to a sweeping Red proposal of last Thursday for exchanging prisoners, last crucial issue barring an armistice.

Immediately after Harrison finished speaking, the meeting was adjourned until 11 a.m. Sunday (9 p.m., EST, Saturday)

The session opened today after a one-day recess to permit Washington consultations on the Communist proposal.

Washington sources suggested that some parts of the Red offer appeared objectionable and that counter-proposals might be made later.

"All-Or-Nothing" Plan

Thursday the Reds had offered an eight-point plan for settling the thorny prisoner exchange issue. It contained one major concession but the Communists declared the Allies would have to take it in total or not at all.

The major concession was that 48,000 Red prisoners refusing to return to Communist rule need not be sent out of Korea to a neutral nation as the Reds previously had insisted.

Instead, the Reds proposed that they be kept in Korea, as the Allies have insisted all along, and placed in custody of a five-nation repatriation commission—Poland, Czechoslovakia, Sweden, Switzerland and India.

Guarded by troops of these nations, these balky prisoners then would be interviewed by Red representatives during a four-month period in efforts to "persuade" them to go home. If they still balked after that, their fate would be decided in a post-armistice political conference.

Washington Objections

Washington reports said strong objection was apparent to introducing in Korea the troops of the two Communist countries of Czechoslovakia and Poland. Washington officials also apparently opposed letting the political conference decide the fate of balky prisoners believing it would doom the prisoners to a long period of detention.

Allied truce delegates spent Friday carefully going over the Communist proposal. The delegates maintained close contact with Gen. Mark Clark's Far East Command headquarters in Tokyo. Clark's office in turn kept in contact with Washington.

Reds Clinging To Laos Base

HANOI, Indochina, May 8 (AP)—One Vietminh garrison clung mysteriously to a strategic base in the heart of Laos today while the rest of the Communist-led invasion force pushed northward in a general withdrawal.

The rebel command appeared to be pulling back the bulk of its troops through pelting summer monsoon rains after they had managed to sweep over a third of the little Indochinese kingdom in less than a month without a major clash.

But one powerful detachment still held its grip on the important town of Xiengkhouang, seized when the French-Laotian defense garrison gave it up without a fight in the initial Vietminh invasion.

From there, troops of the Vietminh's crack 304th Division have stabbed southward to within 35 miles of Pak Sane on the Mekong River, which forms part of the frontier between Indochina and Thailand.

Assaults from Xiengkhouang still could be launched against the Laotian royal seat at Luang Prabang, 90 miles to the northwest, and the administrative capital of Vientiane, 80 miles to the southwest. Both of these towns also are on the Mekong.

U. S. Aid For French

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—The United States has given France 60 million dollars in "special aid" to bolster French and native forces opposing the Communists in Indochina.

...e Of American Freedom At End For Ex-Nazi POW

NEW YORK, May 8 (AP)—A blessed, new life of American freedom ended abruptly today for a tall, blond former Nazi prisoner of war. A nightmare of seven years standing replaced his bliss.

It was love that put 27-year-old Harry Girth on Ellis Island, beneath the dark shadow of deportation.

But that same love may yet prove his redemption.

Girth surrendered voluntarily to New York police last night, seven years after he fled a New Jersey prisoner of war camp and fashioned for himself a modest American success story.

Girth fled Ft. Dix, N. J., two days before he was to have been repatriated to Germany in 1946.

He made his way to Philadelphia where he worked as a dishwasher. Later, he went to Atlantic City, N. J., where he started in the interior decorating field. He changed his name to Henry Kolmar.

This new land, which Girth adopted so avidly, proved kind to the former German soldier. He built up his own business and began buying a $5,900 shore home. He had a New York apartment.

And Judy Florentine came into his life, an attractive divorcee with a 10-year-old son. Their love blossomed. They became engaged.

But the nightmare of recapture was never absent from Girth's dreams for long.

Yesterday his picture appeared in Collier's magazine as one of five Nazi POWs still remaining at large in this country.

Judy's family recognized it and urged him to surrender.

Grand Jury Endorses Capital Punishment

BALTIMORE, May 8 (AP) — The retiring Baltimore grand jury declared today hanging is a proper penalty for murderers and rapists.

The jurymen said in their final report:

"The vicious crimes of murder and rape continue unabated and are a serious menace to society.

"The heaviest penalties consistently carried into effect would seem to be necessary so that those so inclined shall readily understand that upon conviction the offender has only to expect the supreme penalty.

"It is believed . . . the courts impose sentences which have as their objective proper punishment . . . and, not of least importance, have a deterrent effect upon those who are tempted to engage in similar offenses.

"It is the strong belief of this grand jury that extreme sentences are fully justified."

The question of capital punishment has come up for lively public discussion in recent months because Gov. McKeldin has commuted all of the five death sentences to come before him since he became governor in January of 1951.

Five Scared

N. Y. His father, a New York City policeman, accompanied him to the vice president's office.

"Are you a Yankee fan?" asked baseball rooter Nixon.

"Nope," said Paul.

"Giant fan?"

"Yes, sir!" Paul boomed out the words. His voice fell a bit, though as he added: "They aren't doing too well right now...er...uh...sir!"

James Robert Hunt, 13, of Stanley, Wis., stared blankly ahead as the camera shutters clicked.

"There's the vice president," prodded his sponsor, Emmett Bennett of Eau Claire, Wis. "Aren't you going to shake hands?"

Jimmy did a bit of a double take and squared his shoulders and shook hands with Nixon.

Population Of U. S. Nears 160,000,000

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—The Bureau of the Census estimated today the population of the United States had crossed the 159 million mark by April 1.

The bureau said its estimates indicated that the population of the nation, including armed forces overseas, stood at 159,068,000 on that date.

This represented an increase of 220,000 during March and was 2,697,000 more than the population on April 1 last year.

Grammer Appeal Documents Filed

ANNAPOLIS, May 8 (AP) — G. Edward Grammer's appeal from a murder conviction and death sentence has been docketed as Case No. 18 for the October term at Maryland's Court of Appeals.

The development means it will be at least Oct. 11, a little more than five months from now, before Baltimore's sensational murder case comes into the limelight again.

Grammer was sentenced to hang for slaying his 33-year-old wife last August so he would be free to marry a younger United Nations stenographer in New York.

His wife's death looked at first like it was the result of a traffic accident. The state charged Grammer bludgeoned her with a piece of pipe and then pointed their expensive sedan down a dead-end hill at the northeast edge of Baltimore.

Big bundles of newspapers, magazines, radio transcripts, and the two-volume typed record of Grammer's trial were rushed here suddenly yesterday and docketed with the state's highest court.

Hagerstown Mayor Appoints His Father

HAGERSTOWN, Md., May 8 (AP)—Mayor Winslow F. Burhans has named his father, William H. Burhans, about 70, as Hagerstown's new city treasurer and tax collector.

The new mayor, a former Washington county commissioner who beat out the Republican City administration in the March municipal elections, made his first appointments last night.

Clarksburg Fight Heads For Court

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., May 8 (AP)—The rivalry between Clarksburg's two city governments is due to come into court Saturday.

This city of 32,000 has had two city managers, two city clerks, two city attorneys, and two chiefs of police since Monday night.

That was when the new 5-4 Republican majority in the city council replaced office holders under the old Democratic administration but ran afoul of a city charter provision that it takes six votes to oust the officials.

A hearing is scheduled for 10 a.m. Saturday in Harrison County Circuit Court on the Republicans' request for an injunction.

A. Page Lockard, new city manager appointed by the Republicans, seeks a court writ which would depose J. Frank Wiseman, city manager for two years under the Democrats.

The Democrats indicated they will fight back with a contention two of the Republican city councilmen are not eligible for office.

The charter provides a council member must own property in Clarksburg and be a resident of the district from which he is elected.

A deed filed Wednesday conveyed a lot from Nathan Goff, Clarksburg attorney, to the two councilmen. It was dated last Dec. 21. Goff is the leader of one of the two Republican factions here.

Publication Of Book About Hiss Postponed

NEW YORK, May 8 (AP)—The New York publisher of a new book about Alger Hiss, which appeared last week in England, said today that he was postponing publication in this country.

"The Strange Case of Alger Hiss," written by the Earl Jowitt, Britain's lord chancellor from 1945 to 1951, was to have been released May 21 by Doubleday & Company.

The publisher declined to give any explanation but said the decision had been voluntary. He declared the book would definitely be published at a later date.

Chipper Truman Reminisces On His Sixty-Ninth Birthday

KANSAS CITY, May 8 (AP)—Sixty nine years ago today a Missouri mule trader became a father.

He was so happy over the arrival of a son that he nailed a mule shoe over the front door of the house in Lamar, Mo., and predicted great things for the boy.

Today, that son, former President Harry S. Truman looked back over 30 years of public life with no regrets.

He was suntanned from his recent Hawaiian vacation, was feeling chipper and still carrying the 176 pounds with which he left the White House January 20.

From across a desk piled with birthday cards, telegrams and gifts, he reminisced, saying he had had a happy life and "my best to make some contrib to public service."

He went back into his White House years.

The high point there he said, was his contribution to the end of the isolationist era.

Among the messages he had received on his 69th birthday were those from children as well as grownups.

One 11-year-old Washington boy wrote "we miss you."

Among the grown-ups who sent messages was Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain. He declined to disclose the contents of the message, but said "it was a beautiful letter."

Jury To Get Bleacher Collapse Case Monday

BALTIMORE, May 8 (AP)—Taking of testimony ended today after two weeks in the first of the damage suits growing out of the collapse of bleachers at a Sonja Henie ice show here in March of 1952.

Attorneys conferred with Circuit Judge John T. Tucker all afternoon on legal instructions for the jury. Final arguments will be presented and the jury will begin its deliberations on Monday.

The jury will decide who, if anyone, was at fault when the stands came tumbling down.

Between 250 and 300 spectators were injured. About 400 damage suits, asking more than five million dollars, are on file against the ice skating star and her associates.

Love Or Money? Girl Must Choose

NEW YORK, May 8 (AP)—A court told pretty, young Jean Tanburn today that she can marry if she wishes—

But, she was warned, if her bridegroom is not of the Jewish faith she must forfeit a $10,000 legacy and the $6,500 yearly income of a trust fund.

The opinion was handed down by Surrogate William T. Collins, who was asked for a legal construction of the will of Miss Tanburn's great-grandfather, Abraham S. Rosenthal.

"The petitioner's situation commands the court's sympathy," Collins wrote.

"It is unfortunate that she cannot have both a marriage with the man of her choice and the inheritance.

"Present considerations which tug at her heart do not resolve the legal queries propounded."

The man of Miss Tanburn's choice was identified in the papers only as Don H. Kelly Jr., "who is not a person born in the Jewish faith and not of Jewish blood."

Remaining Member Quits Medical Board

BALTIMORE, May 8 (AP)—Dr. T. Conrad Wolff, remaining member of the State Medical Board for Occupational Diseases under the old regime of Dr. Nathan Herman, resigned today in "bewilderment and dismay."

Dr. Wolff, bewildered and dismayed that Dr. Herman was not reappointed, said he was asking the governor, "If the qualities of experience, integrity and industry are not sufficient" for reappointment to the job, "then what is?"

Dr. John W. Pierson, other member of the board with Dr. Herman, announced his resignation Wednesday, intimating that Gov. McKeldin's removal of Dr. Herman was a political move.

Dr. Wolff added that the change in the chairmanship and circumstances surrounding the appointment of a new chairman had brought about his decision to resign.

Bureau Cuts Staff

Girth fled Ft. Dix, N. J., two days before he was to have been repatriated to Germany in 1946.

He made his way to Philadelphia where he worked as a dishwasher. Later, he went to Atlantic City, N. J., where he started in the interior decorating field. He changed his name to Henry Kolmar.

This new land, which Girth adopted so avidly, proved kind to the former German soldier. He built up his own business and began buying a $5,900 shore home. He had a New York apartment.

And Judy Florentine came into his life, an attractive divorcee with a 10-year-old son. Their love blossomed. They became engaged.

But the nightmare of recapture was never absent from Girth's dreams for long.

Yesterday his picture appeared in Collier's magazine as one of five Nazi POWs still remaining at large in this country.

Judy's family recognized it and urged him to surrender.

Grand Jury Endorses Capital Punishment

BALTIMORE, May 8 (AP) — The retiring Baltimore grand jury declared today hanging is a proper penalty for murderers and rapists.

The jurymen said in their final report:

"The vicious crimes of murder and rape continue unabated and are a serious menace to society.

"The heaviest penalties consistently carried into effect would seem to be necessary so that those so inclined shall readily understand that upon conviction the offender has only to expect the supreme penalty.

"It is believed . . . the courts impose sentences which have as their objective proper punishment . . . and, not of least importance, have a deterrent effect upon those who are tempted to engage in similar offenses.

"It is the strong belief of this grand jury that extreme sentences are fully justified."

The question of capital punishment has come up for lively public discussion in recent months because Gov. McKeldin has commuted all of the five death sentences to come before him since he became governor in January of 1951.

Five Scared

N. Y. His father, a New York City policeman, accompanied him to the vice president's office.

"Are you a Yankee fan?" asked baseball rooter Nixon.

"Nope," said Paul.

"Giant fan?"

"Yes, sir!" Paul boomed out the words. His voice fell a bit, though as he added: "They aren't doing too well right now...er...uh...sir!"

James Robert Hunt, 13, of Stanley, Wis., stared blankly ahead as the camera shutters clicked.

"There's the vice president," prodded his sponsor, Emmett Bennett of Eau Claire, Wis. "Aren't you going to shake hands?"

Jimmy did a bit of a double take and squared his shoulders and shook hands with Nixon.

Population Of U. S. Nears 160,000,000

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—The Bureau of the Census estimated today the population of the United States had crossed the 159 million mark by April 1.

The bureau said its estimates indicated that the population of the nation, including armed forces overseas, stood at 159,068,000 on that date.

This represented an increase of 220,000 during March and was 2,697,000 more than the population on April 1 last year.

Grammer Appeal Documents Filed

ANNAPOLIS, May 8 (AP) — G. Edward Grammer's appeal from a murder conviction and death sentence has been docketed as Case No. 18 for the October term at Maryland's Court of Appeals.

The development means it will be at least Oct. 11, a little more than five months from now, before Baltimore's sensational murder case comes into the limelight again.

Grammer was sentenced to hang for slaying his 33-year-old wife last August so he would be free to marry a younger United Nations stenographer in New York.

His wife's death looked at first like it was the result of a traffic accident. The state charged Grammer bludgeoned her with a piece of pipe and then pointed their expensive sedan down a dead-end hill at the northeast edge of Baltimore.

Big bundles of newspapers, magazines, radio transcripts, and the two-volume typed record of Grammer's trial were rushed here suddenly yesterday and docketed with the state's highest court.

Hagerstown Mayor Appoints His Father

HAGERSTOWN, Md., May 8 (AP)—Mayor Winslow F. Burhans has named his father, William H. Burhans, about 70, as Hagerstown's new city treasurer and tax collector.

The new mayor, a former Washington county commissioner who beat out the Republican City administration in the March municipal elections, made his first appointments last night.

Clarksburg Fight Heads For Court

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., May 8 (AP)—The rivalry between Clarksburg's two city governments is due to come into court Saturday.

This city of 32,000 has had two city managers, two city clerks, two city attorneys, and two chiefs of police since Monday night.

That was when the new 5-4 Republican majority in the city council replaced office holders under the old Democratic administration but ran afoul of a city charter provision that it takes six votes to oust the officials.

A hearing is scheduled for 10 a.m. Saturday in Harrison County Circuit Court on the Republicans' request for an injunction.

A. Page Lockard, new city manager appointed by the Republicans, seeks a court writ which would depose J. Frank Wiseman, city manager for two years under the Democrats.

The Democrats indicated they will fight back with a contention two of the Republican city councilmen are not eligible for office.

The charter provides a council member must own property in Clarksburg and be a resident of the district from which he is elected.

A deed filed Wednesday conveyed a lot from Nathan Goff, Clarksburg attorney, to the two councilmen. It was dated last Dec. 21. Goff is the leader of one of the two Republican factions here.

Publication Of Book About Hiss Postponed

NEW YORK, May 8 (AP)—The New York publisher of a new book about Alger Hiss, which appeared last week in England, said today that he was postponing publication in this country.

"The Strange Case of Alger Hiss," written by the Earl Jowitt, Britain's lord chancellor from 1945 to 1951, was to have been released May 21 by Doubleday & Company.

The publisher declined to give any explanation but said the decision had been voluntary. He declared the book would definitely be published at a later date.

Chipper Truman Reminisces On His Sixty-Ninth Birthday

KANSAS CITY, May 8 (AP)—Sixty nine years ago today a Missouri mule trader became a father.

He was so happy over the arrival of a son that he nailed a mule shoe over the front door of the house in Lamar, Mo., and predicted great things for the boy.

Today, that son, former President Harry S. Truman looked back over 30 years of public life with no regrets.

He was suntanned from his recent Hawaiian vacation, was feeling chipper and still carrying the 176 pounds with which he left the White House January 20.

From across a desk piled with birthday cards, telegrams and gifts, he reminisced, saying he had had a happy life and "my best to make some contrib to public service."

He went back into his White House years.

The high point there he said, was his contribution to the end of the isolationist era.

Among the messages he had received on his 69th birthday were those from children as well as well as grownups.

One 11-year-old Washington boy wrote "we miss you."

Among the grown-ups who sent messages was Prime Minister Winston Churchill of Great Britain. He declined to disclose the contents of the message, but said "it was a beautiful letter."

Jury To Get Bleacher Collapse Case Monday

BALTIMORE, May 8 (AP)—Taking of testimony ended today after two weeks in the first of the damage suits growing out of the collapse of bleachers at a Sonja Henie ice show here in March of 1952.

Attorneys conferred with Circuit Judge John T. Tucker all afternoon on legal instructions for the jury. Final arguments will be presented and the jury will begin its deliberations on Monday.

The jury will decide who, if anyone, was at fault when the stands came tumbling down.

Between 250 and 300 spectators were injured. About 400 damage suits, asking more than five million dollars, are on file against the ice skating star and her associates.

Love Or Money? Girl Must Choose

NEW YORK, May 8 (AP)—A court told pretty, young Jean Tanburn today that she can marry if she wishes—

But, she was warned, if her bridegroom is not of the Jewish faith she must forfeit a $10,000 legacy and the $6,500 yearly income of a trust fund.

The opinion was handed down by Surrogate William T. Collins, who was asked for a legal construction of the will of Miss Tanburn's great-grandfather, Abraham S. Rosenthal.

"The petitioner's situation commands the court's sympathy," Collins wrote.

"It is unfortunate that she cannot have both a marriage with the man of her choice and the inheritance.

"Present considerations which tug at her heart do not resolve the legal queries propounded."

The man of Miss Tanburn's choice was identified in the papers only as Don H. Kelly Jr., "who is not a person born in the Jewish faith and not of Jewish blood."

Remaining Member Quits Medical Board

BALTIMORE, May 8 (AP)—Dr. T. Conrad Wolff, remaining member of the State Medical Board for Occupational Diseases under the old regime of Dr. Nathan Herman, resigned today in "bewilderment and dismay."

Dr. Wolff, bewildered and dismayed that Dr. Herman was not reappointed, said he was asking the governor, "If the qualities of experience, integrity and industry are not sufficient" for reappointment to the job, "then what is?"

Dr. John W. Pierson, other member of the board with Dr. Herman, announced his resignation Wednesday, intimating that Gov. McKeldin's removal of Dr. Herman was a political move.

Dr. Wolff added that the change in the chairmanship and circumstances surrounding the appointment of a new chairman had brought about his decision to resign.

Bureau Cuts Staff

Pakistan, India As Neutrals

The presence of the U. S. secretary of State in the Middle East could have some influence on the negotiations at Panmunjom over the choice of a neutral nation to act as custodian for the prisoners of war of both sides in Korea who are unwilling to be repatriated.

Both Pakistan and India expressed willingness, at least unofficially, to serve as custodian. Both states are recipients of U. S. economic aid; both nations trade with the Soviet bloc. Both have submitted Korean truce plans to the United Nations.

The Indian plan of November last, as altered to meet American objections, provided that any prisoner not otherwise disposed of 150 days after an armistice could be freed by the United Nations. The plan was rejected by the Communists. The Pakistan plan, also proposed in November, suggested sending all prisoners to a neutral area from which those wishing to go home could do so. Machinery to accommodate the "residue" of POW's unwilling to be repatriated could be established after a cease-fire.

The new government of Mohammed Ali in Pakistan appears to be friendly to the United States. The new prime minister was until recently the Pakistani ambassador in Washington. He has been an opponent of communism in Pakistan.

India has dealt harshly with its native Communists. The Communist vote in the general election in 1952 was about five per cent, but Communists were barred from the ticket in some states, did not put up candidates in other areas. The Communist party has since been sanctioned as a national political organization in India.

On January 1, 1950—less than three months after the inauguration of the Chinese People's Republic, India extended recognition to Red China. An Indian warning that movement of UN forces into North Korea would bring the Red Chinese into the war was ignored in October 1950, and at the same time an Indian resolution calling for retention of UN forces in South Korea was voted down in the General Assembly's Political and Security Committee.

On February 1, 1951, India was one of the two states outside the Soviet bloc that voted against the UN General Assembly resolution branding Red China an aggressor in Korea. Pakistan abstained.

Pakistan and India are both members of the British Commonwealth of nations, but they have had bitter differences, particularly over the disputed state of Kashmir. Secretary Dulles is reported as seeking a first-hand understanding of the Kashmir problem. It could be that in this area the United States could play the role of mediator, just as India and to a lesser extent Pakistan have attempted to mediate in Korea. On April 18, his first day as prime minister, Ali said he would "welcome opportunities to discuss with the Western powers the immediate restoration of peace in this part of the world."

Very Warm For May?

Can man predict weather for an ensuing month? Fortune magazine asks this provocative question and has included a means of wholly, or partially answering it one way or the other.

In its May issue Fortune includes a detailed day-by-day forecast of the weather over the whole country. Temperature and precipitation forecasts are given for three reference points, San Francisco, Chicago and New York. By means of two charts even the most casual and inexpert "forecaster" can make predictions for his home town. How good the predictions will be remains to be seen. Anyone can check them by scribbling down a daily weather log.

The man who has gone so far out on the limb is Irving P. Krick, of Denver, Colo. Krick heads the largest of four major cloud seeding firms. He formerly headed the department of meteorology at Cal Tech and was one of the team of six forecasters which made the crucial decision for the date of the Normandy landings. His method of forecasting is based on known weather patterns and the behavior of certain high pressure patterns. In forecasting weather for this country he uses as a guide the movements of a high pressure system which is located in the Pacific. He is convinced that the weather follows predictable cycles.

An opposing school of thought governs the forecasts of the U. S. Weather Bureau, which are based on the behavior of planetary waves, or upper atmosphere air currents. This method—which is called the Namias method—doesn't pretend to forecast day-by-day weather on an extended basis. But it does attempt to predict deviations from normal in both temperature and precipitation.

While the majority of meteorologists stick with the Namias process, there appears to be little difference between the two, over the long haul, as far as accuracy is concerned. New instruments, however, are constantly expanding the fund of knowledge available to all forecasters. While the whole problem appears confusing to the layman who wants to know whether to wear a raincoat or not, there are indications that much more is known about the weather than most persons realize.

The Test Is Security

Outstanding feature of President Eisenhower's new security program for the federal establishment is its reliance upon a single criterion for determining whether an otherwise qualified government employe should keep his job—or a new applicant get one.

Under this executive order one question must be answered: Does this individual represent a security risk?

It is because the principle is clear that the new program should operate effectively to keep undesirables off the government payroll. The executive branch of the government will not find it necessary to prove that an employe is a traitor before he can be axed. If he is a security risk, that will be enough to warrant his discharge.

An employe may be a security risk for a number of reasons. The order requires investigations, to determine that employment of those who have or want federal jobs is in the public interest. Not only subversive activities but immoral conduct, drug addiction, and doubtful associations may be enough to warrant an adverse decision.

Canned Soft Drinks

Inventive genius continues to run riot, and technological progress is not to be stayed. What's next? It may be soft drinks in tin cans. That's what the news story in the financial section of a metropolitan newspaper says. A well-financed corporation is about to launch the experiment in New York City and adjacent areas. If it proves popular, the remainder of the country will be blanketed with outlets.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Paleness Is Passe

Pale children are not necessarily anemic or sickly and do just as well as their playmates who are robust and the picture of health. These conclusions were reached by an English physician who studied 1,200 school children between the ages of 4 and 11. These boys and girls were judged to be pale by a group of school authorities and were lighter in weight, shorter, and had a weaker grip than the other pupils. But despite a tendency to an inferior physique and poor physical development, this group of pale children were healthy generally. They also had normal physical and mental endurance and intelligence. Some had good teeth and some bad. But they had no more colds or attacks of tonsilitis than others, the blood pressure was not up nor the pulse rapid. The hemoglobin level varied but was not considered a factor in pallor. Lack of anemia in these children reemphasizes what many physicians have always known: that appearance is not always a reliable guide as to the state of the blood.

In grandfather's time the family doctor routinely passed out pink pills to pale people. Nowadays, a blood count is taken first, for several reasons. Healthy persons of certain races always look pale and the same can be said of those who spend most of their time indoors. On the other hand, when pallor is the result of anemia the physician wants to know what kind of anemia exists because improper treatment might lead to serious consequences. Pernicious anemia, for example, responds to liver or vitamin B12, whereas iron is of no value.

A generation or two ago many adolescent girls were bothered with a peculiar type of anemia dubbed "love sickness" or "green sickness." The technical name for the condition is chlorosis because the pale skin has a greenish hue. Victims were portrayed as gazing dreamily at a portrait of an idolized male. They complained of excessive fatigue, palpitation, dizziness, headache, constipation, and lack of appetite and fainting was common. Some old timers blamed the abnormality on the wearing of a tight girdle; others were of the opinion that these young women ate too many sweets and starchy foods rather than beefsteak, dairy products, and fresh fruits and vegetables.

We now know that diet played a role but this was only part of the story. Most of these young women were too closely confined to the house and received too little sunshine and virtually no exercise. Since our customs have changed the disorder has disappeared. Women get more out of door activity, eat better food, and wear looser clothing. Most textbooks on medicine no longer include chlorosis except to mention it as a passing disease. But anemia from iron deficiency continues to be prevalent among young and middle aged women. Menstruation and faulty diet are part of the picture in many instances.

SCHOOL BOY INSOMNIAC

Mrs. G. writes: Since my 6-year-old son started going to school he has trouble getting to sleep at night. Is it posible for so young a child to build up enough tension to cause sleeplessness?

REPLY

Yes, and may I suggest that every attempt be made to make the afternoon, dinner time, and evening as quiet as possible. Do not let the boy know that you are aware of his insomnia lest it become accentuated.

MANANA MIGHT HELP

L. D. writes: Would old Mexico be a good place to live for a man with rheumatism and high blood pressure who expects to retire soon.

REPLY

Yes, because in many parts of Mexico the tempo of living and the climate are ideal for retired persons. On the other hand the success of any retirement plan depends more upon congenial companions and hobbies than upon the weather.

WHAT IS IT?

D. F. writes: Are viruses bacteria?

REPLY

No. Scientists are not certain of the exact nature of viruses but they probably are forms of living matter. They vary greatly in size and chemical composition and some of the larger viruses can be seen under the electron microscope. The medical profession can control bacteria fairly well but viruses are prone to resist treatment.

SCALY LESIONS

G. S. writes: Can seborrheic dermatitis of the face and scalp ever be cured? I have been treated for a long time but still have it.

REPLY

Yes, but meticulous care is required. When seborrhea of the scalp (greasy dandruff) co-exists the face may not improve until the scalp condition is remedied.

TUBERCULAR BONE

J. S. writes: If a girl marries a fellow who for many years has suffered from a tubercular bone, are the children likely to inherit or contract tuberculosis?

REPLY

No. The tendency exists but this type of tuberculosis is not contagious. Therefore, there is no need to worry.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Sen. Robert H. Wagner Was Pioneer Social Reformer; Coalition Ticket Of Roosevelt And Willkie Was Backed By Wagner In 1944

WASHINGTON—An old man who came to this country from Germany at the age of eight died in New York the other day. He was almost 76, and during those years he had written more laws to help the common man than any other person in the history of this nation.

Most people will remember Bob Wagner for those laws—old-age pensions, unemployment insurance, the Wagner Labor Relations Act—and rightly so. But I shall always remember him because of a role he played in trying to get Wendell Willkie to run with Franklin Roosevelt on a coalition Democratic-Republican ticket in the closing years of the war.

Had those efforts been successful in 1944 the postwar history of the United States might have been entirely different.

I have never written this story in full, partly because I played a personal and confidential role in it. However, most of the people involved are dead now, and there is no reason why it cannot be told.

In the early summer of 1944 when it was apparent Franklin Roosevelt planned to run for a fourth term, the jockeying for No. 2 spot on the Democratic ticket became intense. The friends of Henry Wallace demanded that he be renominated as vice president. Friends of Justice William O. Douglas, led by Secretary of the Interior Ickes, were less vocal but more persuasive.

Many Southern Democrats still urged Jimmie Byrnes; while the big city bosses—Ed Flynn of the Bronx, Ed Kelly of Chicago, Frank Hague of Jersey City and Bob Hannegan of St. Louis—were bent on nominating Harry Truman.

All knew that the life expectancy of the President was such that the man who became vice president was likely to end up in the White House.

Willkie Gets FDR's O. K.

During the period between his defeat in 1940 and 1944 I had come to know Wendell Willkie well. One day in New York some weeks before the Democratic convention I sounded him out on the idea of being the vice presidential candidate on a coalition ticket.

At first he pooh-poohed the idea, said the Democrats would never go for it. But the more we talked about it, the more he warmed up. Finally he agreed to stand still until Roosevelt himself could be sounded out.

The man who did the sounding was Leo Crowley, then head of the Federal Economic Administration. He came out of the White House with the confidential information that the President would welcome the idea of Wendell Willkie as his running mate, provided there was a spontaneous move from the Democratic convention to nominate him. He added that he didn't want anything that smacked of a political deal.

Simultaneously he scribbled a note to Willkie in longhand, and it was later typed by his secretary, Grace Tully. The President left for the West Coast and Alaska almost immediately, so he never actually signed the note, but it was mailed to Willkie.

Wagner Sparks Move

The Chicago convention began at once. The problem there was to arrange the spontaneous move for Willkie that FDR wanted, and to this end I told Senator Wagner, the grand old man of the Democratic party, about our conversations.

He reacted with enthusiasm.

His plan was to make the Willkie nominating speech himself, and he delegated Leon Keyserling, his former secretary, later head of the Council of Economic Advisers, to start writing the speech. Wagner called in various members of the New York delegation in my presence to unfold the Willkie idea, and they too were enthusiastic. I was a little surprised that Edward Loughlin, then head of Tammany, volunteered to second Willkie's nomination.

Wagner talked to other key Democrats at Chicago while I talked to several newspapermen, among them David Stern, then publisher of the Philadelphia Record. They agreed that, faced with the deadlock between Wallace and Truman, the Willkie nomination should be a natural. They also felt that Willkie's name on the ticket would be a great thing for the unity of the nation.

Most of this took place during the preliminary days of the convention, actually before the convention got down to business.

Senator Wagner felt that the psychological moment to make the nominating speech was after the expected deadlock between Truman and Wallace had developed. But he made one mistake, and there was also one factor that he could not get around. This was the fact that Roosevelt was on his train crossing the continent and either could not or did not want to take telephone calls.

Big City Bosses Win

Therefore Wagner relied on the President's supposedly closest political advisers—Ed Flynn, Bob Hannegan and the big city bosses. This was his great mistake.

For at about 3 a. m. on the day before the balloting on the vice presidency got down to grips, Wagner got word from the bosses that Roosevelt wanted Truman, not Willkie.

The senator was a man of party discipline. During his long career in the Senate he had almost never bucked the President. He had been brought up that way — from the days he and Al Smith had served together in the New York legislature. So he did not argue. He did not question the word of the party bosses. Nor would he make the Willkie nominating speech in view of their veto.

Personally I always doubted that Hannegan et al had ever really reached the President. For there was no step they would not have taken at that time to put across their man.

Thus a great chance to unify the nation failed.

Wendell Willkie died shortly after this, and I have always been convinced that as much as anything he died of a broken heart—not so much over this, but because this came on top of other disappointments. For him the excitement of living was no more.

And not long afterward, the other great man, Robert Hans Wagner, who came to this country as an immigrant boy from Germany, who had pioneered a new social program for his fellow men—unemployment insurance, old-age insurance, a standard work week, the curtailment of child labor, a nation-wide system of employment bureaus, workmen's compensation, sick.

The other day he died. But the help he gave millions of other people will continue through the decades long after his name, his courage and his compassion for mankind have been forgotten.

Here And Now

A Toast To Mother

One drowsy afternoon while seated on the veranda of my country home browsing through some magazines, my attention was attracted by the loud squawking of a bird and the fluttering of its wings. For a few minutes I sat on the ringside and watched an encounter between a wren and a ground squirrel, the latter being the challenger and the bird the defender.

The wren and her mate had built a nest in the forks of a cherry tree in the yard where she might lay her young. Now she had gone foraging for a choice morsel for her babies who awaited her return with wide-mouthed expectancy.

The marauder was lurking nearby, biding his time to raid the nest and break up the home. But Mother wren kept her weather eye on his movements, and just as he scooted up the tree for the kill she swooped down upon him, and with loud screeching and buffeting of wings she bashed him away. In a few moments he renewed the attack but was repulsed by the same tactics. In the third round the challenger went down for the count and the bird won the featherweight championship.

Mother Instinct Strong

Moralizing on this little drama, it would seem that the mother instinct is strong in nature and deeply implanted. It is not confined to birds but is found in all species of animal life including genus homo. When God created Man he gave special consideration to motherhood, endowing mothers with the capacity to take over for Him in situations having to do with the upbringing of children, and one can freely subscribe to the idea of the poet that "God couldn't be always everywhere, and so invented mothers."

Tomorrow, if we don't forget, we will wear a carnation in honor of Mother — a white one if she is dead, a red one if she is living. Since 1914 each second Sunday in May is by established custom observed as the day for honoring mothers.

Mothers will be feted and motherhood glorified in pulpits and by choirs all over the land. Kipling's tender lyric will be sung:

If I were hanged on the highest hill,
Mother o'mine, O Mother o' mine!
I know whose love would follow me still,
Mother o' mine, O Mother o' mine!

Coming home from church, our appetites whetted by the prolonged session, we will look forward to a sumptuous dinner prepared ostensibly in Mother's behalf, but incidentally for our own gustatory delight.

In the changing modes of our times Whistler's "Mother," once generally acclaimed the ideal of true motherhood, has been relegated to the attic in many homes and some risque picture substituted.

Mother's Task Formidable

Mothers used to sit up nights waiting for the children to come home from the party; now the adolescents see that their mothers have gone to bed before they leave for the party, which may last till the wee sma' hours of morning.

Various influences, the cinema, the radio, the comic supplements, salacious pulp magazines and pocket editions, have combined to make mother's task as formidable as was Dame Partington's in her attempt to mop up a tidal wave of the ocean.

However, with the assistance of our schools and churches, our Scout units, our parent-teacher organizations and other welfare agencies, mothers are powerfully reinforced.

I have a feeling that the sanctity of the home, on which the perpetuity of our civilization must rest, cannot be permanently impaired by the zeitgeist of any passing age, and that true motherhood is due for a revival.

A true mother is best honored not by wearing a flower on the lapel of one's coat, but by wearing the white flower of a stainless life in one's heart.

Yours for more and better mothers,

BROTHER BARNABAS.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The proposed plan to reorganize the Department of Defense and increase substantially the power and authority of the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff is causing considerable concern in Congress, particularly among those members who previously have been deeply interested in the advance of air power in the military services.

Criticism of the proposal is coming, however, from men in all three armed services who regard it as a step backward in military organization and as a move toward what has been called "the Prussian general staff plan."

But, aside from the merits of the scheme, the submission of the reorganization plan has awakened in both houses of Congress a resentment over the method being used to amend the National Security Act. Instead of submitting legislative proposals to amend existing laws in the regular course, the technique of wrapping up the changes under the procedures of the reorganization act is being attacked.

No Chance For Expression

Thus, the executive branch of the government now writes a proposed law and sends it to both houses and, unless one house or the other vetoes the proposal, it becomes law. This means that neither house can amend the proposal and must take it or leave it. As one member of the House said: "This gives Congress only the power of veto but gives the executive the right to make the laws. There are grave doubts as to whether this is constitutional."

A fundamental defect in this procedure, too, is that, before the plan is submitted to Congress, the members do not have a chance to express themselves. So far as is known, none of the members of the Armed Services committees of the Senate or the House saw the text of the plan before it was submitted by the President. Also, it is known that the text was not even submitted in advance for criticism to the heads of the three armed scvices in the Department of Defense—namely, the members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff—who are to be affected fundaemntally by the reorganization. Now, if these chiefs are called to testify in Congress, they will feel muzzled because to oppose the measure in any way will subject them to the charge of "insurbordination." Already mischief makers are trying to make it appear that these Joint Chiefs are fighting the proposed reorganization plan, when, as a matter of fact, it is doubtful whether they have made their viewpoint known to anybody for the reason that until this week they never had a chance to examine it.

The plan has developed support and opposition among high officers in each of the three armed services, and it is a misrepresentation of the truth to say that any department is either for or against it. Opinion is divided.

Embarrassment would never have been created if the plan had been submitted to each of the members of the Joint Chiefs for study and criticism before it was embodied in a report by a commission of civilians plus General Bradley, who is chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff but does not reflect the views of all its members.

Representative Dewey Short, Republican, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, told this correspondent today that he plans to hold hearings soon on the proposed reorganization plan.

"Even though the plan," he said, "has been referred to the Committee on Government Operations, I have spoken to Chairman Hoffman and to Speaker Martin, and they both are agreeable for hearings to be held by our committee. The subject touches vitally the whole Department of Defense and all the armed services, and this is, of course, the primary job of the House Armed Services Committee. We intend to call witnesses to explain fully their views on the measure before any vote is taken in the House."

Raises A Question

In the Senate, by agreement with Senator McCarthy, chairman of the Committee on Government Operations, the proposal had been referred to the Senate Armed Services Committee, but now there is some question as to whether this violates the reorganization law, which specifies that all proposals must be referred to the committees on government operations in both houses.

The whole episode and its collateral controversies may bring a test of the wisdom of the reorganization law itself. For here is a basic statute, known as the National Security Act, which it took many months in 1947 and 1949 to write and get through both houses. Now, by a few provisions called "Reorganization Plan No. 6," the law is to be emasculated in many of its principal features. All this was to be done without giving a legal opportunity to the Armed Services committees of both houses to consider and formally report upon legislation that amends the laws they are supposed to write.

The new plan might be made workable by amendments, but first it would have to be voted down as an entity by either house and then new legislation written. It is regrettable that the President's commission didn't sit down with all the members of the House and Senate Armed Services committees before recommending the plan to someone as busy as the President for his approval of a highly technical matter and then submitting it to Congress on a take-it-or-leave-it basis.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Kaghan V. Cohn

When Roy Cohn and David Schine were in Europe on an investigation job for the McCarthy Committee, an astonishing furor developed in the European press and many stories were printed in American newspapers about these two men, ridiculing them, particularly for their youth. Knowing them both well, I recognized that they were being given the business by adroit public relations not of their making.

The hearing was into the activities of Theodore Kaghan, acting deputy director, Office of Public Affairs of the U. S. high commissioners in Germany. This office spend $61,000,000 a year of our money and employs about 2,800 persons. Kaghan was brought back from Germany to explain some curiosities in the operations of his office.

Senator Joseph McCarthy, speaking of Cohn and Schine, asked Kaghan:

". . . is it true that Hi-Cog had a man follow my investigators at all times in Europe and report by phone to your office? . . .

"Mr. Kaghan: They had an escort officer provided all VIP's. I don't think he followed them except respectfully.

"The Chairman: You say you call him an escort officer?

"Mr. Kaghan: An escort officer, yes, sir."

It appears, from what Kaghan said, that an "escort officer" was provided for Roy Cohn, although Cohn had informed Kaghan's office that he wanted no such person, as he was on a confidential investigation. In spite of Cohn's request, someone by the name of Monteconi tailed Cohn and Schine throughout their visit to Germany and Austria.

Senator McCarthy asked:

"Did you think that was a proper expenditure of public funds to hire someone to tail two committee investigators, pay for his expenses while he was following them, pay for his long distance phone calls for reporting in? Do you think that was a proper expenditure of public funds?"

Kaghan ducked these questions with long and meaningless explanations. Cohn described what happened, in a reply to a question from Senator Mundt:

"We requested it so much, Senator Mundt, that after this escort officer would keep walking in and discovering the identity of every confidential informant we were talking to, we made a formal protest to the acting high commissioner of Germany, and asked that this man be taken away immediately, because it was impossible to continue our work as a result of the exposure of the names of witnesses we were seeing, the printing of questions we asked them in the newspapers the next day, and various things along those lines. So I think it could hardly be said that he was of assitance to us."

Finally, Kaghan explained what happened:

". . . Mr. Slocum's (an American official) business is to assist the American and the German and foreign press in Austria—or in Germany—to get information about the U. S. operation in Germany. And when two investigators come over, the American press is interested in who they are, what they are, where they are going, and so on. Mr. Slocum does his best to protect the interests of the United States and serve the interests of the American press. And his interest was to be able to answer questions about Mr. Cohn and Mr. Schine in so far as possible.

"The Chairman: In other words, it is true that Mr. Slocum wanted this information as to where they were going and what they were doing so that he could keep the press informed. Is that correct?

"Mr. Kaghan: He would want to know their schedule, so that he could keep the press informed."

In other words, here is an agency of government that is being investigated by a congressional committee which puts, at the expense of the taxpayers, a tail on the investigators and feeds the press details of their operations. Cohn and Schine were made to appear to be silly children, which they are not. Cohn, although only 26 years old, has had a vast experience and Schine has proved to be a valuable investigator. Incidentally, Schine, who puts in full time, works without pay.

Pakistan, India As Neutrals

The presence of the U. S. secretary of State in the Middle East could have some influence on the negotiations at Panmunjom over the choice of a neutral nation to act as custodian for the prisoners of war of both sides in Korea who are unwilling to be repatriated.

Both Pakistan and India expressed willingness, at least unofficially, to serve as custodian. Both states are recipients of U. S. economic aid; both nations trade with the Soviet bloc. Both have submitted Korean truce plans to the United Nations.

The Indian plan of November last, as altered to meet American objections, provided that any prisoner not otherwise disposed of 150 days after an armistice could be freed by the United Nations. The plan was rejected by the Communists. The Pakistan plan, also proposed in November, suggested sending all prisoners to a neutral area from which those wishing to go home could do so. Machinery to accommodate the "residue" of POW's unwilling to be repatriated could be established after a cease-fire.

The new government of Mohammed Ali in Pakistan appears to be friendly to the United States. The new prime minister was until recently the Pakistani ambassador in Washington. He has been an opponent of communism in Pakistan.

India has dealt harshly with its native Communists. The Communist vote in the general election in 1952 was about five per cent, but Communists were barred from the ticket in some states, did not put up candidates in other areas. The Communist party has since been sanctioned as a national political organization in India.

On January 1, 1950—less than three months after the inauguration of the Chinese People's Republic, India extended recognition to Red China. An Indian warning that movement of UN forces into North Korea would bring the Red Chinese into the war was ignored in October 1950, and at the same time an Indian resolution calling for retention of UN forces in South Korea was voted down in the General Assembly's Political and Security Committee.

On February 1, 1951, India was one of the two states outside the Soviet bloc that voted against the UN General Assembly resolution branding Red China an aggressor in Korea. Pakistan abstained.

Pakistan and India are both members of the British Commonwealth of nations, but they have had bitter differences, particularly over the disputed state of Kashmir. Secretary Dulles is reported as seeking a first-hand understanding of the Kashmir problem. It could be that in this area the United States could play the role of mediator, just as India and to a lesser extent Pakistan have attempted to mediate in Korea. On April 18, his first day as prime minister, Ali said he would "welcome opportunities to discuss with the Western powers the immediate restoration of peace in this part of the world."

Very Warm For May?

Can man predict weather for an ensuing month? Fortune magazine asks this provocative question and has included a means of wholly, or partially answering it one way or the other.

In its May issue Fortune includes a detailed day-by-day forecast of the weather over the whole country. Temperature and precipitation forecasts are given for three reference points, San Francisco, Chicago and New York. By means of two charts even the most casual and inexpert "forecaster" can make predictions for his home town. How good the predictions will be remains to be seen. Anyone can check them by scribbling down a daily weather log.

The man who has gone so far out on the limb is Irving P. Krick, of Denver, Colo. Krick heads the largest of four major cloud seeding firms. He formerly headed the department of meteorology at Cal Tech and was one of the team of six forecasters which made the crucial decision for the date of the Normandy landings. His method of forecasting is based on known weather patterns and the behavior of certain high pressure patterns. In forecasting weather for this country he uses as a guide the movements of a high pressure system which is located in the Pacific. He is convinced that the weather follows predictable cycles.

An opposing school of thought governs the forecasts of the U. S. Weather Bureau, which are based on the behavior of planetary waves, or upper atmosphere air currents. This method—which is called the Namias method—doesn't pretend to forecast day-by-day weather on an extended basis. But it does attempt to predict deviations from normal in both temperature and precipitation.

While the majority of meteorologists stick with the Namias process, there appears to be little difference between the two, over the long haul, as far as accuracy is concerned. New instruments, however, are constantly expanding the fund of knowledge available to all forecasters. While the whole problem appears confusing to the layman who wants to know whether to wear a raincoat or not, there are indications that much more is known about the weather than most persons realize.

The Test Is Security

Outstanding feature of President Eisenhower's new security program for the federal establishment is its reliance upon a single criterion for determining whether an otherwise qualified government employe should keep his job—or a new applicant get one.

Under this executive order one question must be answered: Does this individual represent a security risk?

It is because the principle is clear that the new program should operate effectively to keep undesirables off the government payroll. The executive branch of the government will not find it necessary to prove that an employe is a traitor before he can be axed. If he is a security risk, that will be enough to warrant his discharge.

An employe may be a security risk for a number of reasons. The order requires investigations, to determine that employment of those who have or want federal jobs is in the public interest. Not only subversive activities but immoral conduct, drug addiction, and doubtful associations may be enough to warrant an adverse decision.

Canned Soft Drinks

Inventive genius continues to run riot, and technological progress is not to be stayed. What's next? It may be soft drinks in tin cans. That's what the news story in the financial section of a metropolitan newspaper says. A well-financed corporation is about to launch the experiment in New York City and adjacent areas. If it proves popular, the remainder of the country will be blanketed with outlets.

How To Keep Well

Paleness Is Passe

Pale children are not necessarily anemic or sickly and do just as well as their playmates who are robust and the picture of health. These conclusions were reached by an English physician who studied 1,200 school children between the ages of 4 and 11. These boys and girls were judged to be pale by a group of school authorities and were lighter in weight, shorter, and had a weaker grip than the other pupils. But despite a tendency to an inferior physique and poor physical development, this group of pale children were healthy generally. They also had normal physical and mental endurance and intelligence. Some had good teeth and some bad. But they had no more colds or attacks of tonsilitis than others, the blood pressure was not up nor the pulse rapid. The hemoglobin level varied but was not considered a factor in pallor. Lack of anemia in these children reemphasizes what many physicians have always known: that appearance is not always a reliable guide as to the state of the blood.

In grandfather's time the family doctor routinely passed out pink pills to pale people. Nowadays, a blood count is taken first, for several reasons. Healthy persons of certain races always look pale and the same can be said of those who spend most of their time indoors. On the other hand, when pallor is the result of anemia the physician wants to know what kind of anemia exists because improper treatment might lead to serious consequences. Pernicious anemia, for example, responds to liver or vitamin B12, whereas iron is of no value.

A generation or two ago many adolescent girls were bothered with a peculiar type of anemia dubbed "love sickness" or "green sickness." The technical name for the condition is chlorosis because the pale skin has a greenish hue. Victims were portrayed as gazing dreamily at a portrait of an idolized male. They complained of excessive fatigue, palpitation, dizziness, headache, constipation, and lack of appetite and fainting was common. Some old timers blamed the abnormality on the wearing of a tight girdle; others were of the opinion that these young women ate too many sweets and starchy foods rather than beefsteak, dairy products, and fresh fruits and vegetables.

We now know that diet played a role but this was only part of the story. Most of these young women were too closely confined to the house and received too little sunshine and virtually no exercise. Since our customs have changed the disorder has disappeared. Women get more out of door activity, eat better food, and wear looser clothing. Most textbooks on medicine no longer include chlorosis except to mention it as a passing disease. But anemia from iron deficiency continues to be prevalent among young and middle aged women. Menstruation and faulty diet are part of the picture in many instances.

SCHOOL BOY INSOMNIAC

Mrs. G. writes: Since my 6-year-old son started going to school he has trouble getting to sleep at night. Is it posible for so young a child to build up enough tension to cause sleeplessness?

REPLY

Yes, and may I suggest that every attempt be made to make the afternoon, dinner time, and evening as quiet as possible. Do not let the boy know that you are aware of his insomnia lest it become accentuated.

MANANA MIGHT HELP

L. D. writes: Would old Mexico be a good place to live for a man with rheumatism and high blood pressure who expects to retire soon.

REPLY

Yes, because in many parts of Mexico the tempo of living and the climate are ideal for retired persons. On the other hand the success of any retirement plan depends more upon congenial companions and hobbies than upon the weather.

WHAT IS IT?

D. F. writes: Are viruses bacteria?

REPLY

No. Scientists are not certain of the exact nature of viruses but they probably are forms of living matter. They vary greatly in size and chemical composition and some of the larger viruses can be seen under the electron microscope. The medical profession can control bacteria fairly well but viruses are prone to resist treatment.

SCALY LESIONS

G. S. writes: Can seborrheic dermatitis of the face and scalp ever be cured? I have been treated for a long time but still have it.

REPLY

Yes, but meticulous care is required. When seborrhea of the scalp (greasy dandruff) co-exists the face may not improve until the scalp condition is remedied.

TUBERCULAR BONE

J. S. writes: If a girl marries a fellow who for many years has suffered from a tubercular bone, are the children likely to inherit or contract tuberculosis?

REPLY

No. The tendency exists but this type of tuberculosis is not contagious. Therefore, there is no need to worry.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Sen. Robert H. Wagner Was Pioneer Social Reformer; Coalition Ticket Of Roosevelt And Willkie Was Backed By Wagner In 1944

WASHINGTON—An old man who came to this country from Germany at the age of eight died in New York the other day. He was almost 76, and during those years he had written more laws to help the common man than any other person in the history of this nation.

Most people will remember Bob Wagner for those laws—old-age pensions, unemployment insurance, the Wagner Labor Relations Act—and rightly so. But I shall always remember him because of a role he played in trying to get Wendell Willkie to run with Franklin Roosevelt on a coalition Democratic-Republican ticket in the closing years of the war.

Had those efforts been successful in 1944 the postwar history of the United States might have been entirely different.

I have never written this story in full, partly because I played a personal and confidential role in it. However, most of the people involved are dead now, and there is no reason why it cannot be told.

In the early summer of 1944 when it was apparent Franklin Roosevelt planned to run for a fourth term, the jockeying for No. 2 spot on the Democratic ticket became intense. The friends of Henry Wallace demanded that he be renominated as vice president. Friends of Justice William O. Douglas, led by Secretary of the Interior Ickes, were less vocal but more persuasive.

Many Southern Democrats still urged Jimmie Byrnes; while the big city bosses—Ed Flynn of the Bronx, Ed Kelly of Chicago, Frank Hague of Jersey City and Bob Hannegan of St. Louis—were bent on nominating Harry Truman.

All knew that the life expectancy of the President was such that the man who became vice president was likely to end up in the White House.

Willkie Gets FDR's O. K.

During the period between his defeat in 1940 and 1944 I had come to know Wendell Willkie well. One day in New York some weeks before the Democratic convention I sounded him out on the idea of being the vice presidential candidate on a coalition ticket.

At first he pooh-poohed the idea, said the Democrats would never go for it. But the more we talked about it, the more he warmed up. Finally he agreed to stand still until Roosevelt himself could be sounded out.

The man who did the sounding was Leo Crowley, then head of the Federal Economic Administration. He came out of the White House with the confidential information that the President would welcome the idea of Wendell Willkie as his running mate, provided there was a spontaneous move from the Democratic convention to nominate him. He added that he didn't want anything that smacked of a political deal.

Simultaneously he scribbled a note to Willkie in longhand, and it was later typed by his secretary, Grace Tully. The President left for the West Coast and Alaska almost immediately, so he never actually signed the note, but it was mailed to Willkie.

Wagner Sparks Move

The Chicago convention began at once. The problem there was to arrange the spontaneous move for Willkie that FDR wanted, and to this end I told Senator Wagner, the grand old man of the Democratic party, about our conversations.

He reacted with enthusiasm.

His plan was to make the Willkie nominating speech himself, and he delegated Leon Keyserling, his former secretary, later head of the Council of Economic Advisers, to start writing the speech. Wagner called in various members of the New York delegation in my presence to unfold the Willkie idea, and they too were enthusiastic. I was a little surprised that Edward Loughlin, then head of Tammany, volunteered to second Willkie's nomination.

Wagner talked to other key Democrats at Chicago while I talked to several newspapermen, among them David Stern, then publisher of the Philadelphia Record. They agreed that, faced with the deadlock between Wallace and Truman, the Willkie nomination should be a natural. They also felt that Willkie's name on the ticket would be a great thing for the unity of the nation.

Most of this took place during the preliminary days of the convention, actually before the convention got down to business.

Senator Wagner felt that the psychological moment to make the nominating speech was after the expected deadlock between Truman and Wallace had developed. But he made one mistake, and there was also one factor that he could not get around. This was the fact that Roosevelt was on his train crossing the continent and either could not or did not want to take telephone calls.

Big City Bosses Win

Therefore Wagner relied on the President's supposedly closest political advisers—Ed Flynn, Bob Hannegan and the big city bosses. This was his great mistake.

For at about 3 a. m. on the day before the balloting on the vice presidency got down to grips, Wagner got word from the bosses that Roosevelt wanted Truman, not Willkie.

The senator was a man of party discipline. During his long career in the Senate he had almost never bucked the President. He had been brought up that way — from the days he and Al Smith had served together in the New York legislature. So he did not argue. He did not question the word of the party bosses. Nor would he make the Willkie nominating speech in view of their veto.

Personally I always doubted that Hannegan et al had ever really reached the President. For there was no step they would not have taken at that time to put across their man.

Thus a great chance to unify the nation failed.

Wendell Willkie died shortly after this, and I have always been convinced that as much as anything he died of a broken heart—not so much over this, but because this came on top of other disappointments. For him the excitement of living was no more.

And not long afterward, the other great man, Robert Hans Wagner, who came to this country as an immigrant boy from Germany, who had pioneered a new social program for his fellow men—unemployment insurance, old-age insurance, a standard work week, the curtailment of child labor, a nation-wide system of employment bureaus, workmen's compensation, sick.

The other day he died. But the help he gave millions of other people will continue through the decades long after his name, his courage and his compassion for mankind have been forgotten.

Here And Now

A Toast To Mother

One drowsy afternoon while seated on the veranda of my country home browsing through some magazines, my attention was attracted by the loud squawking of a bird and the fluttering of its wings. For a few minutes I sat on the ringside and watched an encounter between a wren and a ground squirrel, the latter being the challenger and the bird the defender.

The wren and her mate had built a nest in the forks of a cherry tree in the yard where she might lay her young. Now she had gone foraging for a choice morsel for her babies who awaited her return with wide-mouthed expectancy.

The marauder was lurking nearby, biding his time to raid the nest and break up the home. But Mother wren kept her weather eye on his movements, and just as he scooted up the tree for the kill she swooped down upon him, and with loud screeching and buffeting of wings she bashed him away. In a few moments he renewed the attack but was repulsed by the same tactics. In the third round the challenger went down for the count and the bird won the featherweight championship.

Mother Instinct Strong

Moralizing on this little drama, it would seem that the mother instinct is strong in nature and deeply implanted. It is not confined to birds but is found in all species of animal life including genus homo. When God created Man he gave special consideration to motherhood, endowing mothers with the capacity to take over for Him in situations having to do with the upbringing of children, and one can freely subscribe to the idea of the poet that "God couldn't be always everywhere, and so invented mothers."

Tomorrow, if we don't forget, we will wear a carnation in honor of Mother — a white one if she is dead, a red one if she is living. Since 1914 each second Sunday in May is by established custom observed as the day for honoring mothers.

Mothers will be feted and motherhood glorified in pulpits and by choirs all over the land. Kipling's tender lyric will be sung:

If I were hanged on the highest hill,
Mother o'mine, O Mother o' mine!
I know whose love would follow me still,
Mother o' mine, O Mother o' mine!

Coming home from church, our appetites whetted by the prolonged session, we will look forward to a sumptuous dinner prepared ostensibly in Mother's behalf, but incidentally for our own gustatory delight.

In the changing modes of our times Whistler's "Mother," once generally acclaimed the ideal of true motherhood, has been relegated to the attic in many homes and some risque picture substituted.

Mother's Task Formidable

Mothers used to sit up nights waiting for the children to come home from the party; now the adolescents see that their mothers have gone to bed before they leave for the party, which may last till the wee sma' hours of morning.

Various influences, the cinema, the radio, the comic supplements, salacious pulp magazines and pocket editions, have combined to make mother's task as formidable as was Dame Partington's in her attempt to mop up a tidal wave of the ocean.

However, with the assistance of our schools and churches, our Scout units, our parent-teacher organizations and other welfare agencies, mothers are powerfully reinforced.

I have a feeling that the sanctity of the home, on which the perpetuity of our civilization must rest, cannot be permanently impaired by the zeitgeist of any passing age, and that true motherhood is due for a revival.

A true mother is best honored not by wearing a flower on the lapel of one's coat, but by wearing the white flower of a stainless life in one's heart.

Yours for more and better mothers,

BROTHER BARNABAS.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The proposed plan to reorganize the Department of Defense and increase substantially the power and authority of the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff is causing considerable concern in Congress, particularly among those members who previously have been deeply interested in the advance of air power in the military services.

Criticism of the proposal is coming, however, from men in all three armed services who regard it as a step backward in military organization and as a move toward what has been called "the Prussian general staff plan."

But, aside from the merits of the scheme, the submission of the reorganization plan has awakened in both houses of Congress a resentment over the method being used to amend the National Security Act. Instead of submitting legislative proposals to amend existing laws in the regular course, the technique of wrapping up the changes under the procedures of the reorganization act is being attacked.

No Chance For Expression

Thus, the executive branch of the government now writes a proposed law and sends it to both houses and, unless one house or the other vetoes the proposal, it becomes law. This means that neither house can amend the proposal and must take it or leave it As one member of the House said: "This gives Congress only the power of veto but gives the executive the right to make the laws. There are grave doubts as to whether this is constitutional."

A fundamental defect in this procedure, too, is that, before the plan is submitted to Congress, the members do not have a chance to express themselves. So far as is known, none of the members of the Armed Services committees of the Senate or the House saw the text of the plan before it was submitted by the President. Also, it is known that the text was not even submitted in advance for criticism to the heads of the three armed sevices in the Department of Defense—namely, the members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff—who are to be affected fundaemntally by the reorganization. Now, if these chiefs are called to testify in Congress, they will feel muzzled because to oppose the measure in any way will subject them to the charge of "insurbordination." Already mischief makers are trying to make it appear that these Joint Chiefs are fighting the proposed reorganization plan, when, as a matter of fact, it is doubtful whether they have made their viewpoint known to anybody for the reason that until this week they never had a chance to examine it.

The plan has developed support and opposition among high officers in each of the three armed services, and it is a misrepresentation of the truth to say that any department is either for or against it. Opinion is divided.

Embarrassment would never have been created if the plan had been submitted to each of the members of the Joint Chiefs for study and criticism before it was embodied in a report by a commission of civilians plus General Bradley, who is chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff but does not reflect the views of all its members.

Representative Dewey Short, Republican, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, told this correspondent today that he plans to hold hearings soon on the proposed reorganization plan.

"Even though the plan," he said, "has been referred to the Committee on Government Operations, I have spoken to Chairman Hoffman and to Speaker Martin, and they both are agreeable for hearings to be held by our committee. The subject touches vitally the whole Department of Defense and all the armed services, and this is, of course, the primary job of the House Armed Services Committee. We intend to call witnesses to explain fully their views on the measure before any vote is taken in the House."

Raises A Question

In the Senate, by agreement with Senator McCarthy, chairman of the Committee on Government Operations, the proposal had been referred to the Senate Armed Services Committee, but now there is some question as to whether this violates the reorganization law, which specifies that all proposals must be referred to the committees on government operations in both houses.

The whole episode and its collateral controversies may bring a test of the wisdom of the reorganization law itself. For here is a basic statute, known as the National Security Act, which it took many months in 1947 and 1949 to write and get through both houses. Now, by a few provisions called "Reorganization Plan No. 6," the law is to be emasculated in many of its principal features. All this was to be done without giving a legal opportunity to the Armed Services committees of both houses to consider and formally report upon legislation that amends the laws they are supposed to write.

The new plan might be made workable by amendments, but first it would have to be voted down as an entity by either house and then new legislation written. It is regrettable that the President's commission didn't sit down with all the members of the House and Senate Armed Services committees before recommending the plan to someone as busy as the President for his approval of a highly technical matter and then submitting it to Congress on a take-it-or-leave-it basis.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Kaghan V. Cohn

When Roy Cohn and David Schine were in Europe on an investigation job for the McCarthy Committee, an astonishing furor developed in the European press and many stories were printed in American newspapers about these two men, ridiculing them, particularly for their youth. Knowing them both well, I recognized that they were being given the business by adroit public relations not of their making.

The hearing was into the activities of Theodore Kaghan, acting deputy director, Office of Public Affairs of the U. S. high commissioners in Germany. This office spend $61,000,000 a year of our money and employs about 2,800 persons. Kaghan was brought back from Germany to explain some curiosities in the operations of his office.

Senator Joseph McCarthy, speaking of Cohn and Schine, asked Kaghan:

". . . is it true that Hi-Cog had a man follow my investigators at all times in Europe and report by phone to your office? . . .

"Mr. Kaghan: They had an escort officer provided all VIP's. I don't think he followed them except respectfully.

"The Chairman: You say you call him an escort officer?

"Mr. Kaghan: An escort officer, yes, sir."

It appears, from what Kaghan said, that an "escort officer" was provided for Roy Cohn, although Cohn had informed Kaghan's office that he wanted no such person, as he was on a confidential investigation. In spite of Cohn's request, someone by the name of Monteconi tailed Cohn and Schine throughout their visit to Germany and Austria.

Senator McCarthy asked:

"Did you think that was a proper expenditure of public funds to hire someone to tail two committee investigators, pay for his expenses while he was following them, pay for his long distance phone calls for reporting in? Do you think that was a proper expenditure of public funds?"

Kaghan ducked these questions with long and meaningless explanations. Cohn described what happened, in a reply to a question from Senator Mundt:

"We requested it so much, Senator Mundt, that after this escort officer would keep walking in and discovering the identity of every confidential informant we were talking to, we made a formal protest to the acting high commissioner of Germany, and asked that this man be taken away immediately, because it was impossible to continue our work as a result of the exposure of the names of witnesses we were seeing, the printing of questions we asked them in the newspapers the next day, and various things along those lines. So I think it could hardly be said that he was of assitance to us."

Finally, Kaghan explained what happened:

". . . Mr. Slocum's (an American official) business is to assist the American and the German and foreign press in Austria—or in Germany—to get information about the U. S. operation in Germany. And when two investigators come over, the American press is interested in who they are, what they are, where they are going, and so on. Mr. Slocum does his best to protect the interests of the United States and serve the interests of the American press. And his interest was to be able to answer questions about Mr. Cohn and Mr. Schine in so far as possible.

"The Chairman: In other words, it is true that Mr. Slocum wanted this information as to where they were going and what they were doing so that he could keep the press informed. Is that correct?

"Mr. Kaghan: He would want to know their schedule, so that he could keep the press informed."

In other words, here is an agency of government that is being investigated by a congressional committee which puts, at the expense of the taxpayers, a tail on the investigators and feeds the press details of their operations. Cohn and Schine were made to appear to be silly children, which they are not. Cohn, although only 26 years old, has had a vast experience and Schine has proved to be a valuable investigator. Incidentally, Schine, who puts in full time, works without pay.

Dempsey Blasts 'Waste' By Navy

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—Rep. Dempsey (D-NM) said yesterday the Navy had contracted for millions of dollars worth of shells for for fast-firing guns which he said had never been fired as far as he knows.

Dempsey told newsmen the contract has since been cancelled, and indicated the shells would never be used. He said some of them were actually made but did not know how many.

Dempsey was especially critical of what he said was Navy insistence on a 200 per cent surplus of machine tools to make the shells at a time when machine tools were scarce.

Furthermore, he stated, "the tool surplus applied to six contractors, when two or three suppliers could have done the job."

Dempsey said the venture was started jointly by the Army and Navy, but the Army pulled out. He said he did not know how much money was involved but that it ran into the millions.

Reed Elected Alumni Head

Lawrence G. Reed, 812 Greene Street, research chemist at the Amcelle Plant of the Celanese Corporation, was elected president of Potomac Chapter, West Virginia University Alumni Association, at a meeting last night at Shaw's Restaurant.

Reed succeeds William P. Criswell, Station WCUM news director, who assisted in organizing the chapter a year ago and served as its first president.

Paula A. Williams, Valley Road, a member of the faculty at Beall High School, Frostburg, was re-elected secretary treasurer.

Other new officers chosen last night are E. T. Gunning, managing editor of The Cumberland Evening Times, first vice president, and Florence Quinn, Ridgeley High School faculty member, second vice president.

The chapter's spring program will be concluded next Friday night with an informal party at Keech's cottage, located near Fort Ashby on Pattersons Creek.

Mary K. Nierman To Be Bride Of Donald L. Smith

Miss Mary Kathryn Nierman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. Nierman, 14 South Chase Street, is to become the bride of Donald Leo Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Smith, 3522 Forest Hill Road, Baltimore, Monday.

The wedding ceremony is being solemnized at a nuptial mass at 10:30 o'clock, in SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church, with Rev. Louis Glantz, O.F.M. Cap., officiating. Bouquets of white flowers and candelabra of lighted tapers are being used on the altar.

Mrs. Paul Reissig, Winchester, Va., is to be her sister's matron of honor. The bridemaids are Miss Jean Smith, Baltimore, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Anna Marie Kelly, city; and Miss Angela Condon, Washington. Gregory Beyer, Baltimore, will serve as Mr. Smith's best man, while Paul Ressig, Winchester; and Robert Nierman, Pittsburgh, brother of the bride, are the ushers.

The bride, who is being given in marriage by her father, is wearing a gown of Chantilly lace over white nylon. It is fashioned with a high neckline, long sleeves tapering to a lily point on the hand, and full skirt ending in a sweeping train. Her fingertip length veil is held by a tiara of pearls. Completing her costume, she is carrying a white prayer with an orchid marker and satin streamers.

Her attendants are all wearing orchid colored silk sleeveless gowns with matching stole, floral headdress matching their bouquets of French lilacs.

Mrs. Nierman has selected an aqua blue lace and crepe gown for her daughter's wedding. With it she is wearing a natural colored hat and accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Smith's gown is champagne colored. She also has a natural colored hat and accessories and orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Ursuline Academy and St. Joseph's Hospital School of Nursing, Baltimore, class of 1951. She is a member of the nursing staff of Memorial Hospital.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Loyola High School and Loyola College, class of 1951. Prior to entering the service he was employed as a chemist at the Edgewood Army Chemical Center, Edgewood. Yesterday he was graduated from Naval Officers Candidate School, Newport, R. I., and will be stationed in Virginia, prior to reporting at Great Lakes.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Nierman are entertaining with a wedding reception for their daughter and her bridal party at Minke's Cottage Inn. The bridal motif is being carried out in the decorations and tiered wedding cake adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Mr. Smith and his bride will motor to Florida for their wedding trip. For traveling she has chosen a Navy blue suit, with Navy and white accessories and will wear her orchid corsage.

CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING—Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Cook, Hyndman, are shown cutting their 50th wedding anniversary cake, at the open house given for the celebration. Mr. and Mrs. Cook were married April 26th, 1903 and are the parents of eight children. They are Arthur R. Cook, Highland Park, Ill., Mrs. Hazel Miller, Pittsburgh; William Cook, Hyndman; James Cook, Corriganville; H. Robert Cook, and Bruce C. Cook, Hyndman; Nial Cook, Ellerslie, Mrs. Marian Kinton, Hyndman; and one deceased. They have 11 grand children and two great grandchildren. The children gave their parents a television set. Mr. and Mrs. Cook are members of the Hyndman Methodist Church, the former is a retired farmer. There were 150 guests at the open house. The couple also was honored at a surprise dinner at the home of William Cook. Besides all the family, Mrs. Cook's sisters, Mrs. Beuna Ruse, Hyndman; Mrs. L. S. Davis, Lancaster, Pa., and two brothers of Mr. Cook, J. E. Cook, Bedford and George C. Cook, Cumberland, attended. A golden color scheme was carried out in the decorations.

Olive Grace Duckworth Is Bride Of Dale Richard Beam

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ernest Duckworth, Greenspring, W. Va., announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Olive Grace Duckworth, to Dale Richard Beam, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Beam, Springfield, W. Va.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized April 11, at 8 p. m., in the Forest Glen Methodist Church, near Green Spring, with Rev. Lantz Amderson officiating.

White and silver candelabra with tall tapers, Easter flowers and magnolia blossoms against a background of ferns were used in the decorations. White satin bows marked the family pews.

Mrs. Helen Seeders was her sister's matron of honor; Miss Betty Duckworth and Mrs. Alma Messick were the bridesmaids and Sharon Puffinburger, a niece of the bride, was flower girl. Ernest Light served as Mr. Beam's best man, while Carl Landis and Dare Hinkle, cousins of the bride, were the ushers.

Jack Wagoner played a program of nuptial music and the traditional wedding marches. He also accompanied Miss Betty Ansel, who sang, "Oh Promise Me," and "The Sweetest Story Ever Told."

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a waltz length gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle, fashioned with a fitted bodice, tapering waist and long pointed sleeves. Her fingertip length veil of bridal illusion was attached to a lace tiara, studded with pearls. She carried a white Bible, topped with a white orchid and a shower of ivy and satin streamers.

Her matron of honor wore a gown of blue nylon lace, styled with a lace jacket and full skirt of net over taffeta. She wore a small headdress with matching mits and carried a cascade bouquet.

The bridesmaids gowns were of orchid and green and the flower girl's, green nylon lace over taffeta. They all had small headdress and matching mits, and carried cascade bouquets.

Mrs. Duckworth was attired in black and wore a corsage of red rosebuds.

The bride is a graduate of Romney High School and has been employed by the G .C. Murphy Company until her recent resignation.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Fort Ashby High School and is engaged in farming.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride. The bridal motif was carried out in the decorations and a four tiered wedding cake adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Miss Virginia Duckworth, Arlington, Va., sister of the bride, presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. Mildred Light, Pinto, also a sister of the bride, served the cake, to 125 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Beam have returned from a wedding trip touring the southern states. For the present they are residing with the bridegroom's parents.

The luncheon meeting is being held at the home of Mrs. Charles Nuzum, 782 MacDonald Terrace. Mrs. Robert Gerson, Mrs. Norman Taylor and Mrs. Bernard Renz are cohostesses.

Mrs. Edward Solomon will preside at the business session, which will be the final one of the group until fall. The annual summer outing and picnic will be held at the home of Mrs. Edgar Vandegrift as usual.

Reservations for the luncheon are to be made with any of the hostesses, by Monday.

Virchie McFarland Heads Purple Heart Auxiliary

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Purple Heart re-elected Mrs. Virchie McFarland, president and Mrs. Edith Reichert, secretary-treasurer, at the meeting earlier in the week at the home.

Other officers elected are Mrs. Virginia Murphy, senior vice president; Mrs. Roseland Lowery, junior vice president; Mrs. Anna McCarty, chaplain; Mrs. Jeneva Jones, historian; Mrs. Mary Whetzel, sergeant at arms; Mrs. Betty Nazelrod, parlementarian; Mrs. Johanna Weimer, marshal; and Mrs. Mary Roberts, aide de camp.

Installation was conducted by Mrs. Emma Hudson, Baltimore, department president, who is the house guest of Mrs. Reichert, 410 Holland Street.

An executive meeting will be held May 17 in Baltimore. Mrs. McFarland and Mrs. Reichert will attend from here. They will be accompanied by Mr. McFarland.

Girls Group To Help Church Bazaar

The Catherine Eye Girls of Melvin Methodist Church collected one package of articles for the church bazaar at the meeting Thursday evening in the church recreation room.

For next month's project the group will work on the bazaar, which will be held the second week in June. Linda Craze and Patricia Northcraft were hostesses. Sharon Day led the devotionals. Her theme was, "We Cannot Love Without Sharing." Prayer was offered by Donna Northcraft, after which the group recited the Lord's Prayer. "Brighten the Corner where You Are," and "Are You Able?" were sung.

A gift was presented to Edith Streett and letters of appreciation were read. One from the George Robinson Home for the box of school supplies and one from Louise Perdew, for a gift.

Literature Group Hears Book Review

Miss Mary G. Walsh of the Cumberland Free Public Library, speaking to the Literature Group of the Woman's Civic Club Thursday afternoon, reviewed Charles P. Everitt's "Adventures of a Treasure Hunter"—a rare bookman in search of American history.

Miss Walsh, who was presented by Mrs. Robert Bruce, characterized Adventures of a Treasure Hunter which contains the reminiscences of the famous dealer in Americana, as "rambling, discursive, and not particularly well-written; yet also absorbing, amusing, enlivened by the peppery personality of its author, and packed with solid information for the book-lover, as well as many alluring and humorous anecdotes of the booksellers and collectors' trade; a book for enjoyment even more than for instruction."

The reviewer pointed out that the volume contains anecdotes of the author's more than fifty years in the book business and is highlighted by "reminiscences of Mr. Everett's successful ventures, and like other similar volumes, may make many readers feel an urge to start a similar venture." Miss Walsh indicated that Mr. Everett is frankly discouraging to such ambitions—that the chances of success are limited, although the work is sweetened by the adventures of the chase. The successes a rare bookman has are not because of luck; they are the result of years of study, a photographic memory and perserverng patience.

Commenting upon Everitt's conviction that every public library should have as its policy of collection a specialization on at least one item, Miss Walsh explained that the Cumberland Free Public Library is particularly concerned with collecting material dealing with local history. The speaker expressed appreciation to the Civic Club for the books given to the Library.

Jr. Extension Plans Camp July 18, 19

Plans for summer activities were discussed at the meeting of the Junior Extension 4-H Club and it was decided not to send a delegate to Short Course.

The meeting was held Wednesday evening at the home of Frank Morgan, Frostburg. Shirley Miller, who will be at College Park, will report on the course at the fall meeting of the club.

A joint camp is being held for older youth of Allegany and Garrett counties, July 18-19 at Pleasant Valley Recreation Area. The square dance, Saturday evening is to be under the direction of the Garrett County group and Allegany County club is planning the Sunday program, with Miss Miller in charge.

Joseph Steger was asked to arrange a tour for June instead of the regular business meeting. An outing will be held in August also. Fifteen members attended.

W. Md.-Memorial Alumnae Entertain Graduates June 13

Members of the Western Maryland-Memorial Hospital Alumnae formulated plans for entertaining the graduates of this year, at the meeting Wednesday at the nurses home. Miss Mae Matlick presided.

They will be honored at a dinner, June 13. It is being held at the Cumberland Country Club, beginning at 6:30 o'clock. Miss Ruth Cornwell is chairman of arrangements.

A donation of $10 was made to the Allegany County Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation.

Announcement was made of the meeting of the National League of Nursing being held in Cleveland, Ohio, June 22-26.

The next meeting of the alumnae will be June 3.

Group Plans Party

The Second Year Group of the Rural Women's Short Course formulated plans for a party for the first year group at the meeting yesterday afternoon at the public library. Mrs. Edgar Davis presided.

It is to be given Monday at College Park. Various chairmen will be in charge of the activities.

TNT Club Initiates Member

A new member, Mrs. Eleanor Mullen, was initiated at the meeting of the TNT Club, earlier in the week at the home of Mrs. Harriett Cooper, Patterson Avenue.

Routine reports were made and plans for the June meeting at the home of Mrs. Beatrice Bloss.

A former member, Mrs. Ethel Boyer, Meyersdale, was a guest. Mrs. Phyllis Fradiska received the hostess prize, and a birthday and anniversary gift from her secret sister. Mrs. Cooper received a birthday gift.

Others present were Mrs. Charlotte Adams, Mrs. Betty Rider, Mrs. June Johnson, Mrs. Jane Adams, Mrs. Esther Arbogast and Mrs. Bloss.

Mary K. Nierman To Be Bride Of Donald L. Smith

Miss Mary Kathryn Nierman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. Nierman, 14 South Chase Street, is to become the bride of Donald Leo Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Smith, 3522 Forest Hill Road, Baltimore, Monday.

The wedding ceremony is being solemnized at a nuptial mass at 10:30 o'clock, in SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church, with Rev. Louis Glantz, O.F.M. Cap., officiating. Bouquets of white flowers and candelabra of lighted tapers are being used on the altar.

Mrs. Paul Reissig, Winchester, Va., is to be her sister's matron of honor. The bridemaids are Miss Jean Smith, Baltimore, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Anna Marie Kelly, city; and Miss Angela Condon, Washington. Gregory Beyer, Baltimore, will serve as Mr. Smith's best man, while Paul Ressig, Winchester; and Robert Nierman, Pittsburgh, brother of the bride, are the ushers.

The bride, who is being given in marriage by her father, is wearing a gown of Chantilly lace over white nylon. It is fashioned with a high neckline, long sleeves tapering to a lily point on the hand, and full skirt ending in a sweeping train. Her fingertip length veil is held by a tiara of pearls. Completing her costume, she is carrying a white prayer with an orchid marker and satin streamers.

Her attendants are all wearing orchid colored silk sleeveless gowns with matching stole, floral headdress matching their bouquets of French lilacs.

Mrs. Nierman has selected an aqua blue lace and crepe gown for her daughter's wedding. With it she is wearing a natural colored hat and accessories and an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Smith's gown is champagne colored. She also has a natural colored hat and accessories and orchid corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Ursuline Academy and St. Joseph's Hospital School of Nursing, Baltimore, class of 1951. She is a member of the nursing staff of Memorial Hospital.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Loyola High School and Loyola College, class of 1951. Prior to entering the service he was employed as a chemist at the Edgewood Army Chemical Center, Edgewood. Yesterday he was graduated from Naval Officers Candidate School, Newport, R. I., and will be stationed in Virginia, prior to reporting at Great Lakes.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Nierman are entertaining with a wedding reception for their daughter and her bridal party at Minke's Cottage Inn. The bridal motif is being carried out in the decorations and tiered wedding cake adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Mr. Smith and his bride will motor to Florida for their wedding trip. For traveling she has chosen a Navy blue suit, with Navy and white accessories and will wear her orchid corsage.

CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING—Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Cook, Hyndman, are shown cutting their 50th wedding anniversary cake, at the open house given for the celebration. Mr. and Mrs. Cook were married April 26th, 1903 and are the parents of eight children. They are Arthur R. Cook, Highland Park, Ill., Mrs. Hazel Miller, Pittsburgh; William Cook, Hyndman; James Cook, Corriganville; H. Robert Cook, and Bruce C. Cook, Hyndman; Nial Cook, Ellerslie, Mrs. Marian Kinton, Hyndman; and one deceased. They have 11 grand children and two great grandchildren. The children gave their parents a television set. Mr. and Mrs. Cook are members of the Hyndman Methodist Church, the former is a retired farmer. There were 150 guests at the open house. The couple also was honored at a surprise dinner at the home of William Cook. Besides all the family, Mrs. Cook's sisters, Mrs. Beuna Ruse, Hyndman; Mrs. L. S. Davis, Lancaster, Pa., and two brothers of Mr. Cook, J. E. Cook, Bedford and George C. Cook, Cumberland, attended. A golden color scheme was carried out in the decorations.

Olive Grace Duckworth Is Bride Of Dale Richard Beam

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ernest Duckworth, Greenspring, W. Va., announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Olive Grace Duckworth, to Dale Richard Beam, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Beam, Springfield, W. Va.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized April 11, at 8 p. m., in the Forest Glen Methodist Church, near Green Spring, with Rev. Lantz Amderson officiating.

White and silver candelabra with tall tapers, Easter flowers and magnolia blossoms against a background of ferns were used in the decorations. White satin bows marked the family pews.

Mrs. Helen Seeders was her sister's matron of honor; Miss Betty Duckworth and Mrs. Alma Messick were the bridesmaids and Sharon Puffinburger, a niece of the bride, was flower girl. Ernest Light served as Mr. Beam's best man, while Carl Landis and Dare Hinkle, cousins of the bride, were the ushers.

Jack Wagoner played a program of nuptial music and the traditional wedding marches. He also accompanied Miss Betty Ansel, who sang, "Oh Promise Me," and "The Sweetest Story Ever Told."

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a waltz length gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle, fashioned with a fitted bodice, tapering waist and long pointed sleeves. Her fingertip length veil of bridal illusion was attached to a lace tiara, studded with pearls. She carried a white Bible, topped with a white orchid and a shower of ivy and satin streamers.

Her matron of honor wore a gown of blue nylon lace, styled with a lace jacket and full skirt of net over taffeta. She wore a small headdress with matching mits and carried a cascade bouquet.

The bridesmaids gowns were of orchid and green and the flower girl's, green nylon lace over taffeta. They all had small headdress and matching mits, and carried cascade bouquets.

Mrs. Duckworth was attired in black and wore a corsage of red rosebuds.

The bride is a graduate of Romney High School and has been employed by the G .C. Murphy Company until her recent resignation.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Fort Ashby High School and is engaged in farming.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride. The bridal motif was carried out in the decorations and a four tiered wedding cake adorned with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Miss Virginia Duckworth, Arlington, Va., sister of the bride, presided at the punch bowl. Mrs. Mildred Light, Pinto, also a sister of the bride, served the cake, to 125 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Beam have returned from a wedding trip touring the southern states. For the present they are residing with the bridegroom's parents.

Literature Group Hears Book Review

Miss Mary G. Walsh of the Cumberland Free Public Library, speaking to the Literature Group of the Woman's Civic Club Thursday afternoon, reviewed Charles P. Everitt's "Adventures of a Treasure Hunter"—a rare bookman in search of American history.

Miss Walsh, who was presented by Mrs. Robert Bruce, characterized Adventures of a Treasure Hunter which contains the reminiscences of the famous dealer in Americana, as "rambling, discursive, and not particularly well-written; yet also absorbing, amusing, enlivened by the peppery personality of its author, and packed with solid information for the book-lover, as well as many alluring and humorous anecdotes of the booksellers and collectors' trade; a book for enjoyment even more than for instruction."

The reviewer pointed out that the volume contains anecdotes of the author's more than fifty years in the book business and is highlighted by "reminiscences of Mr. Everett's successful ventures, and like other similar volumes, may make many readers feel an urge to start a similar venture." Miss Walsh indicated that Mr. Everett is frankly discouraging to such ambitions—that the chances of success are limited, although the work is sweetened by the adventures of the chase. The successes a rare bookman has are not because of luck; they are the result of years of study, a photographic memory and perservering patience.

Commenting upon Everitt's conviction that every public library should have as its policy of collection a specialization on at least one item, Miss Walsh explained that the Cumberland Free Public Library is particularly concerned with collecting material dealing with local history. The speaker expressed appreciation to the Civic Club for the books given to the Library.

Adopt New Rule

AUGUSTA, Me., May 8 (AP)—From now on a Maine boxing bout will be stopped if a fighter is knocked down three times in the same round.

The Boxing Commission announced the new rule today, specifying that if a man slips or falls down from being off balance, that time on the canvas will not be counted.

An assessment of $140,000,000.00 at $1.87 on each One Hundred Dollars of Assessable Property equals $2,618,000.00, which with the tax from Bank Stock $25,000.00; Corporation Franchise Tax $2,100.00; the amount due from the State for the maintenance of Insane $35,000.00; estimated amount of interest on taxes $6,750.00; estimated from Liquor Licenses $28,000.00; from the State Roads Commission for Lateral Roads $325,000.00; estimated from State Comptroller, County's allocation of Income Tax $85,000.00; anticipated receipts from Jail $4,000.00; Magistrates $5,000.00; Peoples' Court $4,000.00; from paid patients in State Hospitals $6,000.00; from paid patients in Allegany County Infirmary $28,000.00; Sylvan Retreat $7,500.00; Allegany County Home $4,500.00; from estimate on Automobile Tax $55,000.00; from estimate on State of Maryland Horse Racing Fee $45,000.00; the amount due from County Horse Racing License $500.00; from estimate on Pinball Machines and Music Box License $5,500.00; from estimate on Recordation Tax $11,000.00; from estimate on Traders' License $12,000.00; from estimate on Admission Tax $2,500.00; from estimate on Rents and Concessions $4,000.00; and an aggregate of unexpended balances $481,339.01 from previous Levy, less estimated Discount Allowances on County Taxes to June 30, 1954, in the amount of $125,000.00; less Insolvencies and Erroneous Assessments $10,000.00; making a total of $3,665,689.01.

The State Tax Rate is fixed by statute at 6.04 cents on each one hundred dollars of assessable property, which added to One Dollar and Eighty-seven Cents ($1.87) for County purposes makes a total of One Dollar Ninety Three and Four Tenths Cents ($1.9304) on each one hundred dollars of assessable property in Allegany County as the tax rate for the year of 1953.

By an Act of the General Assembly of Maryland, at its 1931 Session, a discount of five per cent (5%) will be allowed on County Taxes if paid on or before the last day of June; of four per cent (4%) if paid on or before the last day of July; of three per cent (3%) if paid on or before the last day of August. No discount will be allowed on taxes after the latter date. Interest at the rate of one-half of one per centum per month, or fractional part thereof shall be charged from the 31st of August.

Chapter 261 of the Acts of 1918 of the Public General Laws of Maryland, provides that no discount will be allowed on State Taxes. Interest at the rate of one-half of one per cent per month will be collected from October 1st.

Number of Cents or Fractions Thereof In the Amounts Levied

Adopt New Rule

AUGUSTA, Me., May 8 (AP)—From now on a Maine boxing bout will be stopped if a fighter is knocked down three times in the same round.

The Boxing Commission announced the new rule today, specifying that if a man slips or falls down from being off balance, that time on the canvas will not be counted.

An assessment of $140,000,000.00 at $1.87 on each One Hundred Dollars of Assessable Property equals $2,618,000.00, which with the tax from Bank Stock $25,000.00; Corporation Franchise Tax $2,100.00; the amount due from the State for the maintenance of Insane $35,000.00; estimated amount of interest on taxes $6,750.00; estimated from Liquor Licenses $28,000.00; from the State Roads Commission for Lateral Roads $325,000.00; estimated from State Comptroller, County's allocation of Income Tax $85,000.00; anticipated receipts from Jail $4,000.00; Magistrates $5,000.00; Peoples' Court $4,000.00; from paid patients in State Hospitals $6,000.00; from paid patients in Allegany County Infirmary $28,000.00; Sylvan Retreat $7,500.00; Allegany County Home $4,500.00; from estimate on Automobile Tax $55,000.00; from estimate on State of Maryland Horse Racing Fee $45,000.00; the amount due from County Horse Racing License $500.00; from estimate on Pinball Machines and Music Box License $5,500.00; from estimate on Recordation Tax $11,000.00; from estimate on Traders' License $12,000.00; from estimate on Admission Tax $2,500.00; from estimate on Rents and Concessions $4,000.00; and an aggregate of unexpended balances $481,339.01 from previous Levy, less estimated Discount Allowances on County Taxes to June 30, 1954, in the amount of $125,000.00; less Insolvencies and Erroneous Assessments $10,000.00; making a total of $3,665,689.01.

The State Tax Rate is fixed by statute at 6.04 cents on each one hundred dollars of assessable property, which added to One Dollar and Eighty-seven Cents ($1.87) for County purposes makes a total of One Dollar Ninety Three and Four Tenths Cents ($1.9304) on each one hundred dollars of assessable property in Allegany County as the tax rate for the year of 1953.

By an Act of the General Assembly of Maryland, at its 1931 Session, a discount of five per cent (5%) will be allowed on County Taxes if paid on or before the last day of June; of four per cent (4%) if paid on or before the last day of July; of three per cent (3%) if paid on or before the last day of August. No discount will be allowed on taxes after the latter date. Interest at the rate of one-half of one per centum per month, or fractional part thereof shall be charged from the 31st of August.

Chapter 261 of the Acts of 1918 of the Public General Laws of Maryland, provides that no discount will be allowed on State Taxes. Interest at the rate of one-half of one per cent per month will be collected from October 1st.

114 Get Jobs During April

There were 114 persons placed in jobs during April by the Cumberland office of the Maryland Department of Employment Security according to Francis A. Kenney, manager.

Of this total, four persons were placed in agricultural employment and four persons were physically handicapped.

During April, 7,929 visits were made to local agency by Cumberland area residents. Kenny said 2,090 persons are registered on the active unemployment list, of which 576 are women and 657 are veterans.

This total is an increase on the office's books compared to March's registration of 1,679 persons. Kenney pointed out that the increase is due to the fact that April is when Maryland begins to pay unemployment benefits on 1952 earnings.

At the beginning of the new benefit year, many of the applicants who were "paid out" last year, resumed contact with the agency.

During last month, 66 employers in the area were visited by the agency's representatives to secure job openings for registered applicants.

Kenney said that at the end of the month there were 67 jobs that remained unfilled. The majority of the unfilled jobs consisted of openings for cooks, waitresses, domestic help, dishwashers, etc.

Also during April, the local office gave 17 persons the aptitude test battery to determine the fields of work they were best suited for, and eight applicants were given clerical proficiency tests to determine qualifications for job openings.

Pair Sentenced After Street Fight

A midnight street brawl and a tussle with an officer brought a jail sentence for a South End man and a $25 fine for another in Police Court yesterday.

Harold Layman, 600-block Virginia Avenue, was sentenced to 30 days in the County Jail or $30 fine by Magistrate J. Milton Dick, and Louis Pifer, 500-block Springdale Street, paid a $25 fine as an alternative to going to jail for 25 days. Layman remained in City Jail last night.

Officer John Chaney said he arrested the two men after he broke up a fight between them shortly after midnight Thursday, then put in a call for the police patrol wagon.

Pifer, he said, broke away and ran, but Chaney held Layman until Officer C. W. Thompson arrived with the wagon. Then the officers picked up Pifer near his home. Both men were found guilty of drunk and disorderly conduct and resisting arrest.

Knocked Down By Car, Man Wants His Watch Back

It wasn't so bad, being thrown ten feet when the car hit him, said John M. Whetzel, 46, but he would like to get his wrist watch back.

Whetzel, who lives at 300 North Waverly Terrace, said he was crossing Decatur Street at the Baltimore Avenue intersection during Thursday night's rain when a car hit him so hard it knocked him right out of his shoes.

The impact also separated him from his watch, but he didn't miss the timepiece until yesterday morning.

The driver, Thomas Anderson, 44, of LaVale, said he didn't see Whetzel because he was confused by lights put up by workmen who had been tearing up the street at the intersection.

After the accident, Whetzel found his shoes just in front of the car's front bumper. Anderson drove him to Sacred Heart Hospital, where X-rays were to be taken later.

Whetzel reported the loss of his watch to City Police yesterday afternoon.

Church League Cage Team Is Honored

114 Get Jobs During April

There were 114 persons placed in jobs during April by the Cumberland office of the Maryland Department of Employment Security according to Francis A. Kenney, manager.

Of this total, four persons were placed in agricultural employment and four persons were physically handicapped.

During April, 7,929 visits were made to local agency by Cumberland area residents. Kenny said 2,090 persons are registered on the active unemployment list, of which 576 are women and 657 are veterans.

This total is an increase on the office's books compared to March's registration of 1,679 persons. Kenney pointed out that the increase is due to the fact that April is when Maryland begins to pay unemployment benefits on 1952 earnings.

At the beginning of the new benefit year, many of the applicants who were "paid out" last year, resumed contact with the agency.

During last month, 66 employers in the area were visited by the agency's representatives to secure job openings for registered applicants.

Kenney said that at the end of the month there were 67 jobs that remained unfilled. The majority of the unfilled jobs consisted of openings for cooks, waitresses, domestic help, dishwashers, etc.

Also during April, the local office gave 17 persons the aptitude test battery to determine the fields of work they were best suited for, and eight applicants were given clerical proficiency tests to determine qualifications for job openings.

Pair Sentenced After Street Fight

A midnight street brawl and a fussle with an officer brought a jail sentence for a South End man and a $25 fine for another in Police Court yesterday.

Harold Layman, 600-block Virginia Avenue, was sentenced to 30 days in the County Jail or $30 fine by Magistrate J. Milton Dick, and Louis Pifer, 500-block Springdale Street, paid a $25 fine as an alternative to going to jail for 25 days. Layman remained in City Jail last night.

Officer John Chaney said he arrested the two men after he broke up a fight between them shortly after midnight Thursday, then put in a call for the police patrol wagon.

Pifer, he said, broke away and ran, but Chaney held Layman until Officer C. W. Thompson arrived with the wagon. Then the officers picked up Pifer near his home. Both men were found guilty of drunk and disorderly conduct and resisting arrest.

Knocked Down By Car, Man Wants His Watch Back

It wasn't so bad, being thrown ten feet when the car hit him, said John M. Whetzel, 46, but he would like to get his wrist watch back.

Whetzel, who lives at 300 North Waverly Terrace, said he was crossing Decatur Street at the Baltimore Avenue intersection during Thursday night's rain when a car hit him so hard it knocked him right out of his shoes.

The impact also separated him from his watch, but he didn't miss the timepiece until yesterday morning.

The driver, Thomas Anderson, 44, of LaVale, said he didn't see Whetzel because he was confused by lights put up by workmen who had been tearing up the street at the intersection.

After the accident, Whetzel found his shoes just in front of the car's front bumper. Anderson drove him to Sacred Heart Hospital, where X-rays were to be taken later.

Whetzel reported the loss of his watch to City Police yesterday afternoon.

County Offers Old Mt. Savage School For Sale

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners has decided to advertise for bids for the sale of the old Mt. Savage School building.

Action was taken following a report by J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor on the condition of the two-story brick structure. He estimated it would take at least $10,000 to repair the building.

The building had been boarded up since being abandoned after the new million-dollar high school was opened last September.

Since that time vandals and thieves have broken into the building and created much damage, Chapman told the commissioners. The damage included broken windows, stairways, plaster, lighting fixtures and window sash.

Stolen from the building were four inside doors, window sash, transoms, light fixtures, toilet equipment and rails from the stairs.

The cost of repairs, insurance and upkeep of the structure was determined to be too much and the county board decided to get rid of the property.

A group representing about 140 residents along Lower Town Creek in the section near the McLaughlin farm appeared to ask the county's help in erection of a bridge across the stream.

Earl E. Manges, attorney, appeared with the representatives and Floyd Buser, president of the Allegany County Farm Bureau, also spoke in behalf of the group.

Members of the board said they had furnished a number of steel rails for the bridge but the entire project must be done by the affected residents of that area. The county could not assume the responsibility for the bridge the group was told.

Court Warns Against Gangs

Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick yesterday issued a warning to Allegany County teenagers that the court would not tolerate the youth of the county engaging in "gang wars."

The outgrowth of an assault case against Dale Campbell, 18, of Mt. Savage, and James R. Skelly and William J. Barton, both also 18 and residents of Cresaptown, Magistrate Dick told Campbell and Barton they could anticipate jail terms in the case. The two youths had entered guilty pleas to the charge while Skelly pleaded not guilty. Sentence will be pronounced following Skelly's hearing today at 10 a. m.

The teenage trio was arrested Sunday night by State Troopers L. C. Clark and Jack F. Browning after Roy Martz, 18, of Hyndman, Pa., had filed a complaint against them.

LaVale School Plans Festival

A spring festival will be held May 15 starting at 6:30 p. m. at the LaVale School. The event is being sponsored by the Parent Teacher Association.

Refreshments will be sold and a number of games and shows have been scheduled. A pet show will be among the features with Mrs. Thomas Blash as chairman of the program. Pony rides will also be available.

Chairmen of the various other sections of the festival include Mrs. Robert Horn, Mrs. W. L. Ridenour, Mrs. B. J. Paladino, Mrs. N. O. Bramble, Mrs. L. I. Horner, Mrs. I. M. Zimmerman, Mrs. R. A. Schumoun, Mrs. Janet Heacox, Mrs. Paul Steinla, Mrs. William Claus, Mrs. Henry K. Duke, Mrs. Edgar T. Duke, and Samuel Cozad.

838 Seniors To Graduate This June

A total of 838 seniors in Allegany County public schools are eligible for graduation, the Board of Education statistics show.

This is an increase over the number who received diplomas last June, 768 students, Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools reported yesterday.

As usual Fort Hill High School has the most seniors. The total there this year is 223, which is higher than the 215 last June.

Allegany High School is second, dropping from its 193 last year to 186 this June.

Beall High School has 141 on the eligible list. The 1952 graduating class was comprised of 167 seniors.

Bruce High School in Westernport has 84 diploma candidates as compared to the 58 last year.

Other totals are Central High School of Lonaconing, 74, with 54 last year; Mt. Savage, 39; Flintstone, 34 with 29 last year; Barton, 24, with 23 last year; Oldtown, 20, with 17 last year, and Carver, 13, with 12 last year.

This June will see the last graduating class of one high school and the first of another.

After June Barton High School will become a thing of the past. Next fall Barton students will be transferred to the new school at Lonaconing.

This June will see the first graduating class of the new Mt. Savage High School. The number of seniors at the new school is reflected in the decrease in the number of graduates at Beall High School where they attended last year.

Fifty two per cent of this year's seniors are girls. They number 440 as compared to the 398 boys.

Last year there were 406 girls, or 53 per cent, of the total 798, with 362 boys.

Local Guardsmen To Attend Meeting

Five ranking National Guard officers here will attend a weekend conference of the 29th Division at A. P. Hill Military Reservation, Va., today through Sunday.

They are: Col. Randolph Millholland, commanding officer of the 115th Infantry Regiment; Lt. Col. Robert R. Matlick, commanding officer; Major John M. McAlpine, executive officer; Major Herbert N. Smiley, plans and training officer of the First Battalion of the 115th Regiment.

Also accompanying this group will be Capt. James C. Welch Jr., Regular Army instructor for the battalion.

Potomac State Tops West Liberty; Moorefield Wins Seventh

Lyons Tosses Three-Hitter For 2nd Win

Maiden's Club Gets 14 Hits In 12-1 Win, Windup Series Today

KEYSER, May 8 — Dick Lyons of Fort Ashby turned in a three-hit pitching performance today as Coach John Maiden's Potomac State College tossers defeated West Liberty College in the opening game of a series at Stayman Field by the score of 12-1.

Lyons, who recently won over Davis and Elkins College, let the Hilltoppers down with three singles and whiffed nine batsmen in today's tilt. West Liberty scored its lone run in the third inning.

The Catamounts knocked Henthorn out of the box in the opening frame by belting him for four successive hits then solved Miller, his successor, for 10 hits in 7 2-3 innings. Miller fanned 10 batsmen. The visitors were charged with 10 fielding miscues.

Egan and Lee paced the Potomac State hitters with three blows each. Egan's collection included a pair of two-baggers. Winners pilfered seven bases.

The win was Potomac State's third against eight losses.

West Liberty concludes its series here Saturday morning at 9:30 instead of 10:30 as previously announced.

The Catamounts play at Wesleyan Monday and meet Shepherd and Alderson-Broaddus here Tuesday and Saturday. Box:

Rocky, Joe Pass Tests

Marciano, Walcott To Clash Friday

CHICAGO, May 8 (INS)—Heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano and challenger Jersey Joe Walcott were pronounced in excellent condition today for their title bout next Friday night at the Chicago Stadium.

Both men were examined at the Illinois Athletic Commission office by Dr. John Pribble, commission physician.

Dr. Pribble said that Marciano's nose was completely cured of an injury which forced postponement of the fight from April 10 — the original date—to next Friday.

Following the examination, Commission Chairman Livingston Osborne outlined the boxing rules to both men.

Marciano plans to return to Holland, Mich., to complete his training for the bout. Walcott will continue his workouts at Chicago's Midwest Athletic Club.

Allegany County Senior High Meet Set At Frostburg

Weather permitting, the seventh annual track and field meet for senior high schools of Allegany County will be held today at 1 p. m., at Beall High School Field, Frostburg.

Fort Hill is the defending champion, having won the six meets held since 1947.

Beall, Allegany and Mt. Savage will battle it out with Fort Hill for the honors today.

The program will comprise the following events: 100 and 220 yard dashes, 440 and 880 yard runs, mile run, 440 yard, 880 yard and mile relays, shot put, high jump, discus throw, vault and broad jump.

As You Were

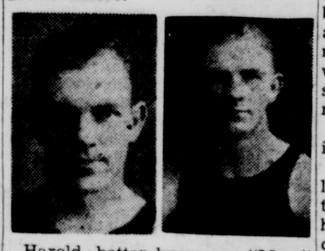
From 1910 through 1927 six boys from a Frostburg family played a prominent part in athletics at Beall High School.

Outstanding among the sextet were the two good looking fellows pictured here.



Harold, better known as "Mac," shown on the left, captained Beall's first championship cage team in the W.M.I. League in 1921. Richard, on the right, captained Beall's second and last championship quint in that circuit in 1924.

"Mac" holds the distinction of having captained Beall football teams in 1919, 1920 and 1921 that won four out of seven games from Allegany. The 1919 eleven, coached by Henry Woods, beat Allegany 6-0, lost 13-0 and the third game ended in a scoreless tie. Page Young was the ACHS coach. In 1920 he was at fullback again when the Mountaineers, coached by Prof. J. Stanley Hunter, took Allegany twice, 6-0 and 21-0. Dean Hook tutored the Blue and White. Beall took the opener in 1921, 7 to 0, and the second game on Armistice Day was called in the middle of the final period on account of darkness with the score 0-0. That game, incidentally, was the last one played by Beall until football was restored at the Frostburg school in 1946.

In 1921 "Mac" was a guard on the Beall High quint that won county honors in a series of playoff contests at the N.&G. Taylor Tinplate Company gym here after the race ended in a triple tie. First, Beall eliminated an Allegany team composed of Flake, Bruce, Sperry, Everstine and Rice by the score of 29-15, and then took Barton's quint of Longridge, Waring, Jim and Kinsley McDonald and McCormick, by the score of 26-20. Other members of the Beall squad were Lee "Shoes" Williams, Arthur Hendley, Bill Shields, Martin Hartig, Gordon Taylor, Homer Noel and "Mac's younger brother Richard. Both games, incidentally, were refereed by F. Morris Touchstone, now coach of Army's undefeated lacrosse team. Beall won 13 out of 20 games that season.

Richard, who played an end position for Beall's grid team in 1921, popped up in the championship picture as captain and center of the cage team at the Frostburg school in 1924. This Mountaineer quint lost its first league game, then copped nine in a row to bag the title. Beall clinched it in the final game by beating Allegany on the Greene Street court, 25-22. Other members of that "Mighty Beall High" team were Joe LaPorta, Aden Hanna, Billy Meyers and Brydon "Boots" Wiebrecht with Charles "Shrimp" Bond, Joe Reese and Noah Close as reserves.

Beall made 1924 a "grand slam" year in basketball as its girls team dethroned Central of Lonaconing after a three-year reign.

Can you name the brothers pictured here?

They are, left to right, Harold "Mac" MacMannis, now Vice President of the Schmidt Baking Company, Baltimore, (he was manager of the local plant about 15 years) and C. Richard "Dick" MacMannis, 110 Washington Street, Cumberland, representative of an interland supply firm of Pittsburgh. The four other MacMannis Brothers who played on Beall teams were Robert (1913), of New York, vice president of the Flagler System; Thomas, (1914) chief engineer, maintenance of way, Reading Railroad; Boyns, (1920) Petersburg, Va., with the Veterans Administration, and J. Edgar (1927) of 845 Gephart Drive, sales manager for the Schmidt Baking Company, Cumberland.

And the story would not be complete without mentioning their mother, Mrs. Andrew MacMannis, an independent basketball team.

The photos of "Mac" and "Dick" were taken in 1926 when they played with the Frostburg Ramblers, 66 Broadway, Frostburg.

Rickey Disagrees With Statement By Broadcaster

Declares Radio-TV By-Products Of Game

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—The National Association of Broadcasters asked for unrestricted baseball broadcasting today, and stirred up some sharp criticism from Sen. Ed Johnson (D-Colo.) and Branch Rickey, general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

President Harold Fellows of the association wrote Johnson that anything which would "lessen broadcasters' ability to bring major league baseball to the American people would be contrary to the public interest."

Fellows said radio and TV broadcasting of games has "been a major factor in establishing baseball as America's national sport."

Snapped Rickey: "Broadcasting is a by-product of the game itself." He said Fellows didn't have baseball's best interests at heart and that if a "Western melodrama will pay a little more money" a radio or TV station would drop a baseball game immediately and schedule the melodrama.

Johnson is chairman of a Senate Commerce Subcommittee looking into the question of major league baseball broadcasting, which he and organized baseball contend is ruining the minor leagues. Rickey was today's witness and took the stand as soon as Johnson finished reading Fellows' letter.

Johnson, besides being a senator, is president of the Western League.

He has introduced a bill to allow leagues to ban broadcasting of televising of their games into the home territory of a minor league club without its consent.

Romney Halts Capon Bridge

Joe Ely Is Victor Over Saville, 4-3

ROMNEY, W. Va., May 8—Romney High School's Pioneers cracked the five-game winning streak of Capon Bridge High School and handed the visitors their first defeat of the season today by the score of 4-3.

Capon Bridge defeated Romney in the series opener by the score of 12-8.

Moorefield's win over Circleville coupled with the Capon Bridge defeat gave the Yellow Jackets undisputed leadership in the Potomac Valley Conference. The win was Romney's 7th against three losses in the conference.

Keith Wolford's single to rightcenter in the sixth inning broke up the pitching duel in which Joe Ely was returned the victor over Larry Saville. Roger Parker walked to open the inning, moved to second on Ray Haines' base hit but was forced at third base on Lyons' grounder to Larry Saville. Then Wolford delivered the hit that scored Haines with the run that broke the 3-3 deadlock.

Each team collected nine hits. Ely issued one pass and struck out nine while Saville walked two and fanned three.

Ely struck out five of the first six batsmen he faced. Errors produced two of Capon Bridge's three tallies in the third inning.

C. Saville, Wilson and L. Saville of Capon Bridge, and Hartman, Parker and Haines of Romney collected two hits each. Box:

Snead Takes Stroke Lead Over Hogan

Cooper And Barbaro Tied For 3rd Place

By GEORGE BOWEN

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., May 8 (AP)—Sam Snead went ahead of the pack trying to dethrone him as champion on his own course by shooting his second straight 67 today to lead Ben Hogan by one stroke at the halfway stage of the 72-hole Greenbrier Open.

Snead's 134 for the first 36 holes was six strokes better than par for that distance on the Old White Course.

Snead and Hogan went off even along with Pete Cooper on the second round played in windy and drizzling weather. The three had been a stroke behind Shelley Mayfield of Cedarhurst, L. I., the first round leader with a 66.

Mayfield blew as high as the surrounding mountains, taking six more than par 70 to plummet to a 10th place tie.

Cooper, a tourney veteran from White Plains, N. Y., and Lou Barbaro of Deal, N. J., wound up tied for third, two strokes behind the pacesetting Snead.

Seven Colleges Will Drop From Southern Conference

Maryland Is Among Group; West Virginia, Virginia Uncertain

GREENSBORO, N. C., May 8 (AP)—Seven large colleges, serving officials notice that they intend to pull out of the Southern Conference, touched off daylong secret talks here today on the future of the 17-member athletic circuit.

As the conference went into its spring session, conference President Max Farrington of George Washington University closed the meeting to newsmen and the representatives immediately started talks aimed at splitting up the college circuit which stretches from West Virginia through South Carolina.

Maryland Among Group

The seven schools that said they intend to leave to form another conference were North Carolina, Duke, Wake Forest, North Carolina State, Maryland, Clemson and South Carolina. There was talk, all of it unofficial, that they might be joined in the new conference by the University of Virginia, a school that once belonged to the Southern, or possibly by West Virginia, a member of the Southern for only three years.

There was no official word on when the conference split-up would be effective if the seven schools go through with their plans. The rearrangement of schedules, particularly football, and the division of the conference treasury, which totals about $150,000, were two of the matters being discussed behind closed doors.

Name Representatives

The seven schools named Duke's Athletic Director Eddie Cameron, Dr. J. T. Penney of the University of South Carolina and Dr. H. A. Fisher of North Carolina State to represent them in the dissolution talks.

The new group hopes to operate with eight teams. Although it gave no indication as to what school might be invited as the eighth member, there were indications that Virginia, a former member of the conference, would be considered.

At Charlottesville, Va., Athletic Director Gus Tebell of Virginia said he believes Virginia would "consider seriously" joining the new conference. However, he said the ultimate decision would have to be made by President Colgate Darden Jr., and the Board of Visitors.

Rained Out Games Are Rescheduled

Jupiter Pluvius reigned yesterday and caused all Bi-State Conference games to be postponed on account of wet grounds.

The Fort Hill at Allegany game has been rescheduled for Campobello, Tuesday, May 19 at 4 p. m. The Beall at LaSalle (Stitcher Field) game is reset for the same date.

Other games rained out yesterday were Central at Bruce and Mt. Savage at Hyndman.

Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh announced that the Hyndman at Fort Hill game Monday will start at 3 p. m., instead of 4 o'clock. The Mt. Savage at Allegany game on Monday also will get under way at 3. Allegany also plays Central at Barton, Wednesday, and meets Beall in Frostburg, Thursday, at 3:30.

Dobson Tames Tigers

CHICAGO, May 8 (AP)—Joe Dobson posted his seventh straight victory over the Detroit Tigers tonight as the Chicago White Sox hammered out a 7 to 2 victory before 25,491 fans at Comiskey Park.

Dobson checked the Tigers with five hits, one of them Walt Dropo's two-run homer in the fourth inning, his second of the season.

Robert Sullivan, Kenny Klosterman Join Mibs Champs

Robert Sullivan, last year's champion at St. Patrick's school, repeated in yesterday's marble tournament by defeating Frank Carney in the finals.

Carney had to win over Jerry McGreevy to enter the finals against Sullivan. McGreevy and Joe Cioni had toppled all contenders to reach the semi-finals.

Vincent Lepore, St. Patrick's 1951 champion, only got as far as the quarter-finals yesterday. Bill Brode and George Haller were the other quarter-finalists.

Kenny Klosterman will represent LaSalle in the June 2 area finals at Gephart Playground. He defeated William Schute in yesterday's championship match at LaSalle. Other LaSalle contenders were Mike Lyons, Charles Martin, James Yantz and Frank Snyder.

Nine school champions already have qualified for the area championships.

Trout Streams "Good"

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 8 (AP)—Widespread rains have brought a generally poor week-end fishing outlook for all West Virginia but Hampshire and Morgan Counties in the Eastern Panhandle, the Conservation Commission said.

Trout streams in those two counties were described today as in "good condition."

MOOREFIELD, May 8 — Moorefield High School's unbeaten Yellow Jackets extended their winning streak to seven games in the Potomac Valley Conference by knocking off Circleville High School here today by the score of 6-0 behind the two-hit pitching of Bobby Wilson.

Today's triumph gave the Hardy countians sole possession of first place in the 11-team circuit as Capon Bridge suffered its first defeat in six starts at the hands of Romney High School.

The win was the third for Wilson, who turned back the Indians in the series opener, 4-2. Bobby whiffed eight batsmen in today's contest.

Paul Teter hooked up in a nice mound duel with Wilson until the fifth inning when his mates blew up and the Jackets scored four runs by coupling singles by Randall Raines and Casey Barr with a hit batsman and three fielding misplays. Teter, who was replaced by Ron Lambert, struck out 10 batsmen. Vernon Webster, Moorefield first sacker, got a "home run" on a bunt during the wild fifth frame. An overthrow of first base and another wild heave enabled him to complete the circuit.

Moorefield plays three games next week, Petersburg is here Monday while on Tuesday and Friday Coach Johnny Paugh's tossers play at Petersburg and Franklin. Box:

Notice to Car Owners

The following is a paragraph from Owners Manuel 1953 issued by Nash Motors Corp.—

"Avoid cut rate gasoline as in many cases these tend to form troublesome gum deposits. Gum tends to impair carburetor operation and may even build up heavy deposits in the intake manifold and on valve stems. Sulphur compounds also found in many cut rate gasolines in excessive quantities tend toward accelerated corrosion"

It is known that inferior properties found in some cut rate gasoline lowers the octane rating of the gasoline.

For your protection it pays to deal at those service stations displaying the placard of the . . .

Maiden's Club Gets 14 Hits In 12-1 Win, Windup Series Today

KEYSER, May 8 — Dick Lyons of Fort Ashby turned in a three-hit pitching performance today as Coach John Maiden's Potomac State College tossers defeated West Liberty College in the opening game of a series at Stayman Field by the score of 12-1.

Lyons, who recently won over Davis and Elkins College, let the Hilltoppers down with three singles and whiffed nine batsmen in today's tilt. West Liberty scored its lone run in the third inning.

The Catamounts knocked Henthorn out of the box in the opening frame by belting him for four successive hits then solved Miller, his successor, for 10 hits in 7 2-3 innings. Miller fanned 10 batsmen. The visitors were charged with 10 fielding miscues.

Egan and Lee paced the Potomac State hitters with three blows each. Egan's collection included a pair of two-baggers. Winners pilfered seven bases.

The win was Potomac State's third against eight losses.

West Liberty concludes its series here Saturday morning at 9:30 instead of 10:30 as previously announced.

The Catamounts play at Wesleyan Monday and meet Shepherd and Alderson-Broaddus here Tuesday and Saturday. Box:

Rocky, Joe Pass Tests

Marciano, Walcott To Clash Friday

CHICAGO, May 8 (INS)—Heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano and challenger Jersey Joe Walcott were pronounced in excellent condition today for their title bout next Friday night at the Chicago Stadium.

Both men were examined at the Illinois Athletic Commission office by Dr. John Pribble, commission physician.

Dr. Pribble said that Marciano's nose was completely cured of an injury which forced postponement of the fight from April 10 — the original date—to next Friday.

Following the examination, Commission Chairman Livingston Osborne outlined the boxing rules to both men.

Marciano plans to return to Holland, Mich., to complete his training for the bout. Walcott will continue his workouts at Chicago's Midwest Athletic Club.

Allegany County Senior High Meet Set At Frostburg

Weather permitting, the seventh annual track and field meet for senior high schools of Allegany County will be held today at 1 p. m., at Beall High School Field, Frostburg.

Fort Hill is the defending champion, having won the six meets held since 1947.

Beall, Allegany and Mt. Savage will battle it out with Fort Hill for the honors today.

The program will comprise the following events: 100 and 220 yard dashes, 440 and 880 yard runs, mile run, 440 yard, 880 yard and mile relays, shot put, high jump, discus throw, vault and broad jump.

As You Were

From 1910 through 1927 six boys from a Frostburg family played a prominent part in athletics at Beall High School.

Outstanding among the sextet were the two good looking fellows pictured here.

Harold, better known as "Mac," shown on the left, captained Beall's first championship cage team in the W.M.I. League in 1921. Richard, on the right, captained Beall's second and last championship quint in that circuit in 1924.

"Mac" holds the distinction of having captained Beall football teams in 1919, 1920 and 1921 that won four out of seven games from Allegany. The 1919 eleven, coached by Henry Woods, beat Allegany 6-0, lost 13-0 and the third game ended in a scoreless tie. Page Young was the ACHS coach. In 1920 he was at fullback again when the Mountaineers, coached by Prof. J. Stanley Hunter, took Allegany twice, 6-0 and 21-0. Dean Hook tutored the Blue and White. Beall took the opener in 1921, 7 to 0, and the second game on Armistice Day was called in the middle of the final period on account of darkness with the score 0-0. That game, incidentally, was the last one played by Beall until football was restored at the Frostburg school in 1946.

In 1921 "Mac" was a guard on the Beall High quint that won county honors in a series of play-off contests at the N.&G. Taylor Tinplate Company gym here after the race ended in a triple tie. First, Beall eliminated an Allegany team composed of Flake, Bruce, Sperry, Everstine and Rice by the score of 29-15, and then took Barton's quint of Longridge, Waring, Jim and Kinsley McDonald and McCormick, by the score of 26-20. Other members of the Beall squad were Lee "Shoes" Williams, Arthur Hendley, Bill Shields, Martin Hartig, Gordon Taylor, Homer Noel and "Mac's younger brother Richard. Both games, incidentally, were refereed by F. Morris Touchstone, now coach of Army's undefeated lacrosse team. Beall won 13 out of 20 games that season.

Richard, who played an end position for Beall's grid team in 1921, popped up in the championship picture as captain and center of the cage team at the Frostburg school in 1924. This Mountaineer quint lost its first league game, then copped nine in a row to bag the title. Beall clinched it in the final game by beating Allegany on the Greene Street court, 25-22. Other members of that "Mighty Beall High" team were Joe LaPorta, Aden Hanna, Billy Meyers and Brydon "Boots" Wiebrecht with Charles "Shrimp" Bond, Joe Reese and Noah Close as reserves.

Beall made 1924 a "grand slam" year in basketball as its girls team dethroned Central of Lonaconing after a three-year reign.

Can you name the brothers pictured here?

They are, left to right, Harold "Mac" MacMannis, now vice president of the Schmidt Baking Company, Baltimore, (he was manager of the local plant about 15 years) and C. Richard "Dick" MacMannis, 110 Washington Street, Cumberland supply firm of Pittsburgh industrial representative of an interland representative of an industrial supply firm of Pittsburgh. The four other MacMannis Brothers who played on Beall teams were Robert (1913), of New York, vice president of the Flagler System; Thomas, (1914) chief engineer, maintenance of way, Reading Railroad; Boyns, (1920) Petersburg, Va., with the Veterans Administration, and J. Edgar (1927) of 845 Gephart Drive, sales manager for the Schmidt Baking Company, Cumberland.

And the story would not be complete without mentioning their mother, Mrs. Andrew MacMannis, 66 Broadway, Frostburg.

The photos of "Mac" and "Dick" were taken in 1926 when they played with the Frostburg Ramblers, an independent basketball team.

Rickey Disagrees With Statement By Broadcaster

Declares Radio-TV By-Products Of Game

WASHINGTON, May 8 (AP)—The National Association of Broadcasters asked for unrestricted baseball broadcasting today, and stirred up some sharp criticism from Sen. Ed Johnson (D-Colo.) and Branch Rickey, general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

President Harold Fellows of the association wrote Johnson that anything which would "lessen broadcasters' ability to bring major league baseball to the American people would be contrary to the public interest."

Fellows said radio and TV broadcasting of games has "been a major factor in establishing baseball as America's national sport."

Snapped Rickey: "Broadcasting is a by-product of the game itself." He said Fellows didn't have baseball's best interests at heart and that if a "Western melodrama will pay a little more money" a radio or TV station would drop a baseball game immediately and schedule the melodrama.

Johnson is chairman of a Senate Commerce Subcommittee looking into the question of major league baseball broadcasting, which he and organized baseball contend is ruining the minor leagues. Rickey was today's witness and took the stand as soon as Johnson finished reading Fellows' letter.

Johnson, besides being a senator, is president of the Western League.

He has introduced a bill to allow leagues to ban broadcasting of televising of their games into the home territory of a minor league club without its consent.

Romney Halts Capon Bridge

Joe Ely Is Victor Over Saville, 4-3

ROMNEY, W. Va., May 8—Romney High School's Pioneers cracked the five-game winning streak of Capon Bridge High School and handed the visitors their first defeat of the season today by the score of 4-3.

Capon Bridge defeated Romney in the series opener by the score of 12-8.

Moorefield's win over Circleville coupled with the Capon Bridge defeat gave the Yellow Jackets undisputed leadership in the Potomac Valley Conference. The win was Romney's 7th against three losses in the conference.

Keith Wolford's single to right-center in the sixth inning broke up the pitching duel in which Joe Ely was returned the victor over Larry Saville. Roger Parker walked to open the inning, moved to second on Ray Haines' base hit but was forced at third base on Lyons' grounder to Larry Saville. Then Wolford delivered the hit that scored Haines with the run that broke the 3-3 deadlock.

Each team collected nine hits. Ely issued one pass and struck out nine while Saville walked two and fanned three.

Ely struck out five of the first six batsmen he faced. Errors produced two of Capon Bridge's three tallies in the third inning.

C. Saville, Wilson and L. Saville of Capon Bridge, and Hartman, Parker and Haines of Romney collected two hits each. Box:

Snead Takes Stroke Lead Over Hogan

Cooper And Barbaro Tied For 3rd Place

By GEORGE BOWEN

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., May 8 (AP)—Sam Snead went ahead of the pack trying to dethrone him as champion on his own course by shooting his second straight 67 today to lead Ben Hogan by one stroke at the halfway stage of the 72-hole Greenbrier Open.

Snead's 134 for the first 36 holes was six strokes better than par for that distance on the Old White Course.

Snead and Hogan went off even along with Pete Cooper on the second round played in windy and drizzling weather. The three had been a stroke behind Shelley Mayfield of Cedarhurst, L. I., the first round leader with a 66.

Mayfield blew as high as the surrounding mountains, taking six more than par 70 to plummet to a 10th place tie.

Cooper, a tourney veteran from White Plains, N. Y., and Lou Barbaro of Deal, N. J., wound up tied for third, two strokes behind the pacesetting Snead.

Seven Colleges Will Drop From Southern Conference

Maryland Is Among Group; West Virginia, Virginia Uncertain

GREENSBORO, N. C., May 8 (AP)—Seven large colleges, serving officials notice that they intend to pull out of the Southern Conference, touched off daylong secret talks here today on the future of the 17-member athletic circuit.

As the conference went into its spring session, conference President Max Farrington of George Washington University closed the meeting to newsmen and the representatives immediately started talks aimed at splitting up the college circuit which stretches from West Virginia through South Carolina.

Maryland Among Group

The seven schools that said they intend to leave to form another conference were North Carolina, Duke, Wake Forest, North Carolina State, Maryland, Clemson and South Carolina. There was talk, all of it unofficial, that they might be joined in the new conference by the University of Virginia, a school that once belonged to the Southern, or possibly by West Virginia, a member of the Southern for only three years.

There was no official word on when the conference split-up would be effective if the seven schools go through with their plans. The rearrangement of schedules, particularly football, and the division of the conference treasury, which totals about $150,000, were two of the matters being discussed behind closed doors.

Name Representatives

The seven schools named Duke's Athletic Director Eddie Cameron, Dr. J. T. Penney of the University of South Carolina and Dr. H. A. Fisher of North Carolina State to represent them in the dissolution talks.

The new group hopes to operate with eight teams. Although it gave no indication as to what school might be invited as the eighth member, there were indications that Virginia, a former member of the conference, would be considered.

At Charlottesville, Va., Athletic Director Gus Tebell of Virginia said he believes Virginia would "consider seriously" joining the new conference. However, he said the ultimate decision would have to be made by President Colgate Darden Jr., and the Board of Visitors.

Rained Out Games Are Rescheduled

Jupiter Pluvius reigned yesterday and caused all Bi-State Conference games to be postponed on account of wet grounds.

The Fort Hill at Allegany game has been rescheduled for Campobello, Tuesday, May 19 at 4 p. m. The Beall at LaSalle (Stitcher Field) game is reset for the same date.

Other games rained out yesterday were Central at Bruce and Mt. Savage at Hyndman.

Coach "Bobby" Cavanaugh announced that the Hyndman at Fort Hill game Monday will start at 3 p. m., instead of 4 o'clock. The Mt. Savage at Allegany game on Monday also will get under way at 3. Allegany also plays Central at Barton, Wednesday, and meets Beall in Frostburg, Thursday, at 3:30.

Dobson Tames Tigers

CHICAGO, May 8 (AP)—Joe Dobson posted his seventh straight victory over the Detroit Tigers tonight as the Chicago White Sox hammered out a 7 to 2 victory before 25,491 fans at Comiskey Park.

Dobson checked the Tigers with five hits, one of them Walt Dropo's two-run homer in the fourth inning, his second of the season.

Robert Sullivan, Kenny Klosterman Join Mibs Champs

Robert Sullivan, last year's champion at St. Patrick's school, repeated in yesterday's marble tournament by defeating Frank Carney in the finals.

Carney had to win over Jerry McGreevy to enter the finals against Sullivan. McGreevy and Joe Cioni had toppled all contenders to reach the semi-finals.

Vincent Lepore, St. Patrick's 1951 champion, only got as far as the quarter-finals yesterday. Bill Brode and George Haller were the other quarter-finalists.

Kenny Klosterman will represent LaSalle in the June 2 area finals at Gephart Playground. He defeated William Schute in yesterday's championship match at LaSalle. Other LaSalle contenders were Mike Lyons, Charles Martin, James Yantz and Frank Snyder.

Nine school champions already have qualified for the area championships.

Trout Streams "Good"

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 8 (AP)—Widespread rains have brought a generally poor week-end fishing outlook for all West Virginia but Hampshire and Morgan Counties in the Eastern Panhandle, the Conservation Commission said.

Trout streams in those two counties were described today as in "good condition."

MOOREFIELD, May 8 — Moorefield High School's unbeaten Yellow Jackets extended their winning streak to seven games in the Potomac Valley Conference by knocking off Circleville High School here today by the score of 6-0 behind the two-hit pitching of Bobby Wilson.

Today's triumph gave the Hardy countians sole possession of first place in the 11-team circuit as Capon Bridge suffered its first defeat in six starts at the hands of Romney High School.

The win was the third for Wilson, who turned back the Indians in the series opener, 4-2. Bobby whiffed eight batsmen in today's contest.

Paul Teter hooked up in a nice mound duel with Wilson until the fifth inning when his mates blew up and the Jackets scored four runs by coupling singles by Randall Raines and Casey Barr with a hit batsman and three fielding misplays. Teter, who was replaced by Ron Lambert, struck out 10 batsmen. Vernon Webster, Moorefield first sacker, got a "home run" on a bunt during the wild fifth frame. An overthrow of first base and another wild heave enabled him to complete the circuit.

Moorefield plays three games next week, Petersburg is here Monday while on Tuesday and Friday Coach Johnny Paugh's tossers play at Petersburg and Franklin. Box:

Notice to Car Owners

The following is a paragraph from Owners Manuel 1953 issued by Nash Motors Corp.—

"Avoid cut rate gasoline as in many cases these tend to form troublesome gum deposits. Gum tends to impair carburetor operation and may even build up heavy deposits in the intake manifold and on valve stems. Sulphur compounds also found in many cut rate gasolines in excessive quantities tend toward accelerated corrosion"

It is known that inferior properties found in some cut rate gasoline lowers the octane rating of the gasoline.

For your protection it pays to deal at those service stations displaying the placard of the . . .

BABY-COACH

Customs may differ among the races and may change with the times, but certain institutions in human life have remained constant through the centuries. One of these is Motherhood.

Progress has given Mother new methods and new equipment for her age-old responsibilities. But the love and understanding which are the heart of Motherhood have never depended on science for their expression.

One unchanging sphere of material responsibility has been the religious development of children. From primitive tribal religions up to Christianity, mothers have guided and encouraged the growth of each successive generation in spiritual faith.

The Christian Church salutes all faithful mothers. They have led their families to an ever deepening realization of the sacred bond which unites the Church and the Home in a common devotion to Jesus Christ.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

BABY-COACH

Customs may differ among the races and may change with the times, but certain institutions in human life have remained constant through the centuries. One of these is Motherhood.

Progress has given Mother new methods and new equipment for her age-old responsibilities. But the love and understanding which are the heart of Motherhood have never depended on science for their expression.

One unchanging sphere of material responsibility has been the religious development of children. From primitive tribal religions up to Christianity, mothers have guided and encouraged the growth of each successive generation in spiritual faith.

The Christian Church salutes all faithful mothers. They have led their families to an ever deepening realization of the sacred bond which unites the Church and the Home in a common devotion to Jesus Christ.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Tri-Towns Scout District Tours Washington

256 Boys, Girls, Leaders On Trip

WESTERNPORT—Boy and Girl Scouts of Tri-Towns District returned from their seventh spring annual tour at Washington, D. C.

There were 256 scouts and leaders from eight boy's troops and 11 girl's troops who attended.

Alton R. Fortney and Carl McMillen were co-directors of the tour. Mrs. Fortney was in charge of the women assisted by Mrs. June Hopkins. Dr. Donald P. Whitworth, chairman of the Tri-Towns District Scouters, was the treasurer on the trip.

Two members of the Metropolitan Police Force at Washington, led the party to the various places they visited in the city.

The group visited the White House, the Zoo and the Lincoln Memorial. Meals was served at Bolling Air Force Base, where the boys were housed. The girls and their leaders stayed at the Potomac Motor Court. The party also visited the Washington Monument which was opened for them at night.

Protestant scouts attended a special service in the Great Choir of the National Cathedral at Mt. Alban, with the Rev. G. Stanley Schwin, rector of St. George's Episcopal Church of Mt. Savage, officiating. The Catholic members attended mass at Franciscan Monastery.

The entire group toured the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception.

Down in the Valley...

Frankly speakin, we're feelin' miserable. And, trouble is, it's a malady the M.D.'s haven't been able to do much with. Complaints and symptoms? Man, we got 'em all. Diagnosis: severe spring fever in an advanced stage. Would we could sneak away to some shady place and collapse lazily under a handy tree. But, can't be. Just isn't possible to get away from this old world's trials and tribulations. How about you? You have the fever, too? Well, if you do, tell you what to do. If you're like us you want to reeelax, but good. Down here in the Valley you'll find the most relaxed atmosphere in town. You'll find, too, sumptuous vitals and scrumptuous drinks. All that plus Taylorvision makes for a lot of lazy-livin' and enjoyment. Come on down. You'll be delighted . . . especially when you see the tab. Reasonable? You bet!

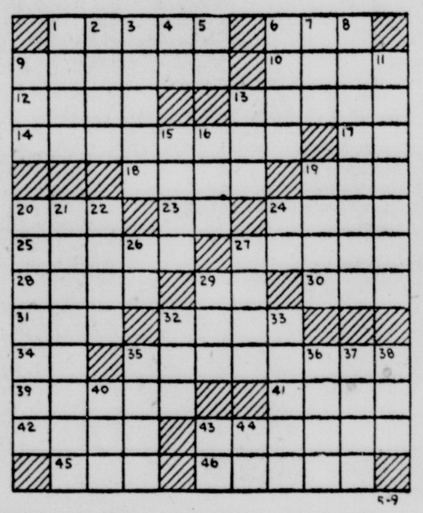
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

S A L G K W L B P, S A L G W L J U L S C U W S,
Q N E M A ' K T A U M B K M P A X S X F U B P U
E L A W I A U I U U G K X B K U W S — I M J X I K L R.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: IN GALLANT TRIM THE GILDED VESSEL GOES; YOUTH ON THE PROW, AND PLEASURE AT THE HELM—GRAY.

Down in the Valley...

Frankly speakin, we're feelin' miserable. And, trouble is, it's a malady the M.D.'s haven't been able to do much with. Complaints and symptoms? Man, we got 'em all. Diagnosis: severe spring fever in an advanced stage. Would we could sneak away to some shady place and collapse lazily under a handy tree. But, can't be. Just isn't possible to get away from this old world's trials and tribulations. How about you? You have the fever, too? Well, if you do, tell you what to do. If you're like us you want to reeelax, but good. Down here in the Valley you'll find the most relaxed atmosphere in town. You'll find, too, sumptuous vitals and scrumptuous drinks. All that plus Taylorvision makes for a lot of lazy-livin' and enjoyment. Come on down. You'll be delighted . . . especially when you see the tab. Reasonable? You bet!

Water is not fattening, but it can affect your weight! Schedule your daily quota between meals!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

"Why," asks a reader, "do nutrition experts advise against drinking water with meals? Could it be that water is fattening?"

Although water is not fattening, it can effect your weight. As much of an anomoly as that sounds, it is the fact of the matter. And water is most likely to add to the weight of those who are overweight when it is sipped along with a meal.

There are a number of contributing factors. In the first place, water erases from the mouth the enjoyable taste of the just-swallowed food; then the taste buds clamor for more of the same food. Without this erasing action of the water, your senses would be more quickly satisfied — and you would have consumed fewer calories.

Another reason why water taken with the meal can abet your avoirdupois is that its fluid bulk tends to stretch the normal capacity of the stomach, making it possible for you to consume a greater quantity of food without any sensation of discomfort. When reducing is your goal, that can amount to a minor tragedy!

It may seem illogical to say that the string-bean gal should also forgo liquids at meals, but this is so. However, the reasons are quite different. Most underweight people have a finicky appetite and a dangerously small capacity. Because they do not get the same enjoyment from tastes and flavors, they are not led on to taking another bite and then another after each sip of water. Furthermore, in their smaller-than-average stomachs, the fluid can actually act as filler, stealing the space needed for fattening, high-calorie foods. In advising underweight persons, one doctor I know cautions that the glass of milk which should be taken with each meal to gain weight should be downed only after the solid foods have been consumed.

But no matter how you weigh in, never neglect getting your six glasses of water each day. Your body loses about two pints of water in every twenty-four hours and unless you replace it, your health and loveliness will suffer deleterious consequences. Skin denied the proper amount of moisture dries up like a raisin!

If you do not have the six-glass habit, you can acquire it easily. Just add a few ounces to your intake each day until you reach the proper level. But distribute your quota among drinks taken on arising and between meals. As a reward, your health, skin, hair and eyes will take on new sparkle!

Monday: Gaining weight with years.

When reducing is your goal, that can amount to a minor tragedy!

It may seem illogical to say that the string-bean gal should also forgo liquids at meals, but this is so. However, the reasons are quite different. Most underweight people have a finicky appetite and a dangerously small capacity. Because they do not get the same enjoyment from tastes and flavors, they are not led on to taking another bite and then another after each sip of water. Furthermore, in their smaller-than-average stomachs, the fluid can actually act as filler, stealing the space needed for fattening, high-calorie foods. In advising underweight persons, one doctor I know cautions that the glass of milk which should be taken with each meal to gain weight should be downed only after the solid foods have been consumed.

But no matter how you weigh in, never neglect getting your six glasses of water each day. Your body loses about two pints of water in every twenty-four hours and unless you replace it, your health and loveliness will suffer deleterious consequences. Skin denied the proper amount of moisture dries up like a raisin!

If you do not have the six-glass habit, you can acquire it easily. Just add a few ounces to your intake each day until you reach the proper level. But distribute your quota among drinks taken on arising and between meals. As a reward, your health, skin, hair and eyes will take on new sparkle!

Monday: Gaining weight with years.

In Memoriam

In memory of my darling mother who died on May 8th, 1952.
One year since you left me, Mother dear,
Leaves a sad Mothers Day for me.
I'll never forget that day you left me,
Oh, Mother dear, how I miss you.
Sadly missed by daughter, Ethel Short and grandchildren.

In Memoriam

In memory of my darling mother who died on May 8th, 1952.
One year since you left me, Mother dear,
Leaves a sad Mothers Day for me.
I'll never forget that day you left me,
Oh, Mother dear, how I miss you.
Sadly missed by daughter, Ethel Short and grandchildren.

PSC Is Studying Gas Rate Raise

The Public Service Commission has taken under consideration an application by the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. to put current temporary rates on a permanent basis.

The firm asked the PSC last September for new rates that would increase charges to customers in Garrett and Allegany counties by about 38 per cent, or about $700,000 a year.

A temporary increase of about 22 per cent, calculated to produce about $400,000, became effective Feb. 1. It is this rate that the company wants made permanent.

Young Escapees To Be Tried In Fairmont

Two 17-year-old boys who were arrested in Keyser, W. Va., May 1 after they escaped from Beaumont (Va.) Training School for Boys were taken to Fairmont, W. Va., for trial yesterday by a U .S. marshal.

The boys, James Nester and John Leighton, had refused to return to the Virginia institution when a Virginia officer came to Keyser to pick them up. A third boy, Henry Beasley, also 17, returned voluntarily.

Federal officers said they wanted the boys on charges of transporting a stolen car across state lines. The boys allegedly told officers they had stolen four different cars in making good their escape.

Oil Company Seeks Permit For Station

The Sun Oil Company is seeking a permit from the office of the City Engineer to build a one-story structure at 642 Greene Street for use as a service station.

Estimated cost of the new building is $15,000. Application was made by J. Fred Hopkins, of Johnstown, Pa., land representative of the oil company. The building, according to the application, will be constructed with a foundation of concrete, walls of concrete blocks and a composition roof. The planned building, 28 by 44 feet would be done by a private contractor with plans and specifications etc., by the oil company.

Daily Bridge Lesson

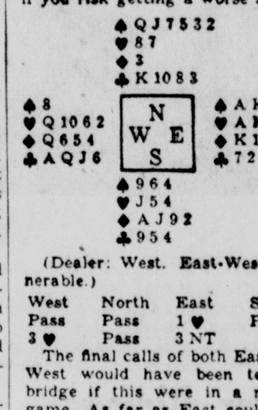
UNSOUNDNESS CAN PAY

THERE are times when the deliberate choice of unsound measures can pay profits. If you are in a match-point tournament, and your pair is a good many points behind the leader when the final session begins, you have no chance at all to regain ground on any deal that produces the same score for you as for the pair you are pursuing. If you expect the leaders to play soundly and conservatively, getting approximately the natural result on each hand, you obviously must find some way to seek better than that on some of the deals, even if you risk getting a worse score.



(Dealer: West. East-West vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
3 ♥	Pass	3 NT

The final calls of both East and West would have been terrible bridge if this were in a rubber game. As far as East could tell, the clubs might be run against him at No Trumps if West's strength were bunched in the other suits. West's singleton spade, when holding four hearts, made the suit an overwhelmingly safer contract. But both partners were shooting for unusual scores, in an effort to come from behind, in a big tournament. Since they succeeded in getting away with several such gambles, they won the tournament by the barest of margins.

Difference in contract influenced the opening lead. At No Trumps, South saw fit to open his longest suit, diamonds. That enabled East to get a cheap first trick. After losing a club finesse, he won the spade return, led toward the diamond Q, and thus had no problem to take ten tricks with two in spades, four in hearts and two each in the minors.

Where the contract was 4-Hearts, South in every case shunned a diamond lead, in most cases opening a spade. Consequently the heart declarers lost two tricks in diamonds and one in clubs to make the game right on the head. The difference between 120 for four tricks in hearts and 130 for the same number at No Trumps enabled the No Trumper to score a top over the entire field, instead of an average score.

Such an extreme gamble as this seldom pays. But if ordinary scores can't win for you, there is nothing to do except either strive for the extraordinary or concede defeat.

Your Weekend Question

What kind of signal from your partner might tell you to discard the ace of a particular suit in order to protect yourself from being the victim of a throw-in play?

Late Moderate Rally Pulls Stock Market Out Of Slump

NEW YORK, May 8 (AP)—A rally of moderate proportions was enough to pull the Stock Market out of a slump today and send it ahead at the finish.

Volume built up on the rise, and prices were right around their best at the close.

Railroads, steels, and motors, and oils were prominent on the advance. A number of areas refused to join in the climb. Among them were rubbers, radio - televisions, and some air lines and utilities.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks today closed up 40 cents at $109.80. Volume came to 1,220,000 shares.

Higher stocks included Seaboard Railroad up 1¼ at 111¾. PSC Is Studying Gas Rate Raise

The Public Service Commission has taken under consideration an application by the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co. to put current temporary rates on a permanent basis.

The firm asked the PSC last September for new rates that would increase charges to customers in Garrett and Allegany counties by about 38 per cent, or about $700,000 a year.

A temporary increase of about 22 per cent, calculated to produce about $400,000, became effective Feb. 1. It is this rate that the company wants made permanent.

Young Escapees To Be Tried In Fairmont

Two 17-year-old boys who were arrested in Keyser, W. Va., May 1 after they escaped from Beaumont (Va.) Training School for Boys were taken to Fairmont, W. Va., for trial yesterday by a U. S. marshal.

The boys, James Nester and John Leighton, had refused to return to the Virginia institution when a Virginia officer came to Keyser to pick them up. A third boy, Henry Beasley, also 17, returned voluntarily.

Federal officers said they wanted the boys on charges of transporting a stolen car across state lines. The boys allegedly told officers they had stolen four different cars in making good their escape.

Oil Company Seeks Permit For Station

The Sun Oil Company is seeking a permit from the office of the City Engineer to build a one-story structure at 642 Greene Street for use as a service station.

Estimated cost of the new building is $15,000. Application was made by J. Fred Hopkins, of Johnstown, Pa., land representative of the oil company. The building, according to the application, will be constructed with a foundation of concrete, walls of concrete blocks and a composition roof. The planned building, 28 by 44 feet would be done by a private contractor with plans and specifications etc., by the oil company.

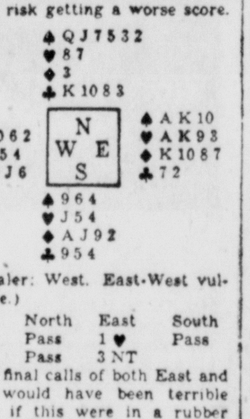
Daily Bridge Lesson

by Shepard Barclay

UNSOUNDNESS CAN PAY

THERE are times when the deliberate choice of unsound measures can pay profits. If you are in a match-point tournament, and your pair is a good many points behind the leader when the final session begins, you have no chance at all to regain ground on any deal that produces the same score for you as for the pair you are pursuing. If you expect the leaders to play soundly and conservatively, getting approximately the natural result on each hand, you obviously must find some way to seek better than that on some of the deals, even if you risk getting a worse score.



(Dealer: West. East-West vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
3 ♥	Pass	3 NT

The final calls of both East and West would have been terrible bridge if this were in a rubber game. As far as East could tell, the clubs might be run against him at No Trumps if West's strength were bunched in the other suits. West's singleton spade, when holding four hearts, made the suit an overwhelmingly safer contract. But both partners were shooting for unusual scores, in an effort to come from behind, in a big tournament. Since they succeeded in getting away with several such gambles, they won the tournament by the barest of margins.

Difference in contract influenced the opening lead. At No Trumps, South saw fit to open his longest suit, diamonds. That enabled East to get a cheap first trick. After losing a club finesse, he won the spade return, led toward the diamond Q, and thus had no problem to take ten tricks with two in spades, four in hearts and two each in the minors.

Where the contract was 4-Hearts, South in every case shunned a diamond lead, in most cases opening a spade. Consequently the heart declarers lost two tricks in diamonds and one in clubs to make the game right on the head. The difference between 120 for four tricks in hearts and 130 for the same number at No Trumps enabled the No Trumper to score a top over the entire field, instead of an average score.

Such an extreme gamble as this seldom pays. But if ordinary scores can't win for you, there is nothing to do except either strive for the extraordinary or concede defeat.

Late Moderate Rally Pulls Stock Market Out Of Slump

NEW YORK, May 8 (AP)—A rally of moderate proportions was enough to pull the Stock Market out of a slump today and send it ahead at the finish.

Volume built up on the rise, and prices were right around their best at the close.

Railroads, steels, and motors, and oils were prominent on the advance. A number of areas refused to join in the climb. Among them were rubbers, radio-televisions, and some air lines and utilities.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks today closed up 40 cents at $109.80. Volume came to 1,220,000 shares.

Tin Can Matinee Opens Clean-Up Campaign Today

Children Will Help In Week-Long Task

Cumberland's annual week - long clean-up, paint-up, fix-up campaign gets underway today with the first principal event a "tin can matinee" for children at one of the local theaters this morning.

Time for the matinee is 10 a. m. at the Garden Theater. Price of admission is one or more tin cans which will be piled in a city street department truck as they are collected.

The five youngsters turning in the most tin cans will receive certificates of merit from the Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the clean-up week program, and will be interviewed on radio station WTBO. All youngsters who attend the matinee will be given a balloon and painter's cap.

Children Will Report

Meanwhile, report sheets were distributed to all school children in the city so they can report all clean-up, paint-up, fix-up projects they accomplish by May 15.

Distribution of the blanks was completed in the school yesterday and the completed reports are to be returned next Friday. A grand total will be compiled at the Chamber of Commerce office and campaign leaders hope the total this year will exceed the 33,922 individual tasks accomplished last year.

Among other things, the blanks provide space to show just what has been cleaned, such as alley lots, back lots, basements, attics, furnaces. There also is provision to show painting and decorating projects completed, any planting that is done and such miscellaneous jobs as repairing water faucet leaks, fixing porches and steps, replacing electrical cords and the like.

As the campaign moves into high gear today, window displays either have been placed or are in the process of being installed. Kelly Troop 17, Boy Scouts, yesterday distributed several hundred posters for display in store windows in the downtown business section as well as in South Cumberland mercantile establishments.

Movies Available

Two movies also are available for showing this week, "The Tommy Tucker Story," a safety movie, and "What is Your Safety IQ." Already it is planned to show the films at meetings of the Rotary, Kiwanis and Optimist clubs, and Mrs. Lucile Roeder, street commissioner and co-chairman of the Chamber of Commerce clean-up committee with H. D. Barber, said one of the films will be shown to Street Department employes at 7 a. m. on Wednesday.

Starting Monday and continuing Tuesday and Wednesday, trash will be collected block-by-block in the city. Monday will cover the section north of Williams Street to Wills Creek to the city line. Tuesday will take in all streets from Williams Street to the C. and O Canal, and Wednesday will include the entire west side.

Trash should be bundled or placed in containers at the curb by 7:30 a. m. each day of the collection.

Wood Specialists

Stanley F. Spicer (left) and Richard E. Fahey, partners in an expanding wood products shop at 1413 Olive Avenue, are specialists in precision woodwork, doing a thriving business with Army and Navy contracts as well as private industry. The two men, who learned their trade at the defunct Kehoe Woodwork Company, are shown with a few of the articles which they make from wood, including blocks for block-and-tackle units and a variety of wooden knife handles.

Fryer, Bidinger Vie In Ridgeley Mayoral Contest

Magruder Quits After 18½ Years

Police Commissioner Charles H. Fryer and William D. Bidinger, retired grocer, were nominated for mayor of Ridgeley at a town primary meeting last night.

The nominations came after B. Frank Magruder, 62-year-old perennial mayor of the Mineral County town, announced he was stepping down to make way for younger men.

Fryer is completing his first term as police commissioner. Bidinger once served a council term, and ran unsuccessfully for mayor four years ago.

Robert F. Edenhart, incumbent recorder, was nominated without opposition for another term.

10 Council Candidates Named

Council nominees for the June 2 election are:

Woodrow Graham, Jesse Elkins Sr., former Ridgeley police chief; Harry F. Kelso, incumbent councilman; Robert L. Zimmerman, former recorder; John J. Dawson, Kelly-Springfield Tire Company worker; Floyd A. Decker, incumbent councilman; James Dittmer Sr., Celanese worker; Ralph Frantz, market owner; William Knieriem, employe at Frantz's Market, and William Preaskorn, Western Maryland Railway machinist foreman.

Mayor Magruder said he had to delay the start of the meeting half an hour because only a few people showed up. When the nominations began, only about 75 of the town's 1,100 registered voters were present.

Two or three persons placed Magruder's name in nomination for another term, but the mayor turned down each one, saying he had made up his mind to retire from politics after 18½ years in office.

His successor, a recorder and five councilmen will be elected June 2, all for two-year terms beginning July 1.

Magruder Saw Town Grow

Mayor Magruder, who will be 63 on May 22, has lived in Ridgeley ever since he was five years old.

"When I came here," he recalled last night, "there were only seven houses in Ridgeley. The town was nothing but pasture, there were no paved streets and there was no water supply."

Elected to his first term in 1923, Magruder served 12 consecutive one-year terms before retiring temporarily from politics. After a lapse of 12 years, he was re-elected in 1947, this time for two years, and has served since then.

He was in office when the town's streets were paved, when the water system was installed, and during most of the period which saw the rapid expansion of the town which has become Cumberland's friendly next-door neighbor.

"And now," said Mayor Magruder, "the town has its water bonds paid off, owns a police car, an air compressor and considerable other equipment, and has money in the bank."

Local Men Specialize In Precision Woodwork

Two local men have turned their exceptional skill in woodwork and cabinet making into a profitable business in precision woodwork as partners trading as Fahey and Spicer, Olive Avenue.

Stanley F. Spicer, 17 Lamont Street, and Richard F. Fahey, 1411 Olive Avenue, both learned the woodwork trade as employes of the Kehoe Woodwork Company when that concern was located at the Taylor Gymnasium in South Cumberland. Each worked as a foreman with the Kehoe concern.

Following the closing of the Kehoe Company the two men decided to go into a partnership for themselves and bought precision equipment used by James Nixon, who operated a woodmaking shop for making knife handles.

Fahey and Spicer worked in the Taylor Gymnasium for over a year and a half before moving into their present location at 1413 Olive Avenue.

The two men presently employ five persons in their shop where they make all types of knife handles, heavy wooden blocks for block and tackle units, special high quality walnut tables used to mount delicate instruments in precision research work, and have contracts with both the Army and Navy for certain items of wooden equipment and containers.

The company does all types of work for the armed services as well as private industry and is a rapidly expanding local plant.

Of the two longtime partners and friends, Spicer is the oldest at 44. He is married and he and his wife, Mary, have three children, a son and two daughters.

Fahey, 42, lives with his wife, Annabelle, next door to the woodwork shop on Olive Avenue. The couple have two daughters.

Pinto Guernsey Produces Most Butterfat For April

No. 19, a grade Guernsey belonging to A. E. and D. W. Light of Pinto, holder of second place in March, moved up to the top notch last month to pace the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association in butterfat production with 85 pounds.

The champion butterfat producer had 5.7 per cent butterfat in her 1,490 pounds of April milk, according to Wheeler W. Arnold and Harry E. Miller, association supervisors.

In second place last month was a cow produced by artificial insemination, Pansy, a grade Guernsey owned by Paul E. Greise, Mason Road. She had 73 pounds of butterfat in 1,370 pounds of milk.

Ranking third was Pet, a grade Holstein owned by R. E. Carskadon, Headsville, W. Va.

Eleven cows were included on the honor roll of the 10 top butterfat producers because of a three-way tie for ninth place with 63 pounds of butterfat.

Six herds were represented on the the select list. The Lights led with three cows. Three herds with two cows apiece on the roll were Carl W. Garland and Sons, Buffalo Mills, Pa.; John T. Mason, Cresaptown, and Lester Raines, Baltimore Pike. Greise and Carskadon had the others.

Average milk and butterfat production for the association showed a slight decline last month from the March figures. For the 831 cows in 28 herds tested last month, the average milk production was 671 pounds, compared with March's high for the year of 693. The butterfat average was 27.4 pounds last month compared with 28 in March. The butterfat percentage was up slightly, from March's 4.05 to 4.08.

Although the two top April butterfat producers were Guernseys, eight of the 11 were Holsteins and only three Guernseys.

Weather

Rain continued in its fourth day yesterday pushing up the total to 1.31 inches for the period. Hail fell briefly about 11 a. m., but no serious damage was reported. The Weather Bureau said showers will probably continue today in the area, but temperature will be warmer. High official temperature yesterday was 70 degrees according to Constitution Park weather station; low was 53 and at 8 p. m. mercury stood at 59 degrees. Rainfall amounted to .14 of an inch, and humidity at 6 p. m. was a damp 64 per cent.

Channel Wing Is Entered In October Race

City Still Seeking New Airplane Plant

A Maryland aircraft, the Custer Channel Wing, and a Maryland pilot, Walter J. Davidson, of Hagerstown will fly in the London-to-New Zealand international air race to be held next October by the Royal Aeronautical Club.

According to Willard R. Custer, inventor of the Channel Wing, Davidson will be one of five American pilots entered in the 12,000-mile annual event.

The aircraft to be flown in the race, the CCW-5, has been converted into Channel Wing from a Baumann Brigadier and is now nearing completion in California.

Mr. Custer also announced that his company, Custer Channel Wing Corporation has purchased land at Cedar Lawn on the outskirts of Hagerstown as a site for the new Channel Wing experimental factory.

Should the novel Channel Wing principle of aerodynamics withstand the rigid tests planned by Custer and Davidson and the aviation industry accept it for adaptation on other aircraft, the Hagerstown plant will not be very large.

In that event Custer will license the Channel Wing principle for production by other aircraft companies.

However, should the Channel Wing not be accepted by the industry, Custer plans to start his own factory to build Channel Wing aircraft in competition with other manufacturers in a location not yet decided upon, he told newsmen.

Cumberland is one of the plant sites which may be considered.

Farmers To Get Data On Wheat

Five young Allegany County farmers have been appointed by the County Production and Marketing Committee to contact some 229 known wheat farmers to obtain figures on their wheat production in 1951, 1952 and this year.

This production data is needed in order to establish acreage allotments for the crop of wheat to go in the ground this fall.

Joseph Silber will check wheat farmers in the Oldtown and Williams Road areas. D. T. Puffinberger will contact those living in the vicinity of Little Orleans. Robert E. Wilson has been assigned to consult with those in the Flintstone and Union Grove sections. Raymond R. Lepley will make the check in the vicinity of Mt. Savage and Frostburg. Charles Llewellyn will handle the job in the Potomac Valley and George's Creek sections.

Acreage planted to wheat for harvest as grain, for cover crop and for harvest as hay or pasture will be needed, according to Miss Elizabeth A. Hoover, PMA clerk. Acreage planted to wheat mixtures also will be needed.

Colorado Couple Comes To City For Wedding Bells

The office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court, added another testimonial to its claim as the "Crossroads of America" yesterday.

A couple from Pueblo, Colorado, obtained a marriage license there. The applicants were listed as Milton George Robertson and Mary Elizabeth Rutledge.

Since May 1, residents of nine different states have been issued marriage licenses in Boden's office. Besides Maryland and nearby Pennsylvania and West Virginia, other states represented included Massachusetts, Connecticut, Ohio, Virginia and New Jersey.

Civil Service Replies To Complaints Filed By Police And Firemen

The Civil Service Commission of the City of Cumberland has sent a letter answering complaints of a committee from the Police and Firemen's Welfare Association. The letter was directed to Robert C. Long, secretary of the Association, with copies to others interested.

The complaints were raised about a week ago at a special meeting of the Commission, when Patrolman Joseph Stitcher and Firemen John Carney and William Winters appeared before the board.

The letter follows:

"A committee representing the Police and Firemen's Welfare Association, composed of Mr. Stitcher, Mr. Carney and Mr. Winters, came before the Civil Service Commission at the regular meeting of the Commission Monday, April 27. They requested the Commission to clarify several situations as to their conflict or compliance with the intent of the Civil Service Law.

"The major complaint of the committee was that Patrolman See is entitled to ten dollars ($10.00) more per month than any other Patrolman, based upon an order of the Mayor and City Council of September 18, 1950, but is not receiving same. According to the minutes of the Council, these are the facts.

"By order of the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, Maryland, September 18, 1950, Detective Thomas J. See be and is hereby made head of the Detective Bureau of the City of Cumberland Police Department at a salary of two hundred thirty dollars ($230.00) per month, effective September 18, 1950."

According to the records of the Finance Office, Mr. See's pay record is as follows:

September 1950 — $220.00 — Same as all other patrolmen.

September 18, 1950—$230.00—As per order of the Mayor and City Council as head of Detective Bureau.

From October 1950 to June 1951 — $243.00 — General Increase.

From July 1951 to April 1952 —$255.00—General Increase.

From May 1952 to July 1952 —$260.00—Five dollar increase with appointment to temporary sergeant.

From July 1952 to September 1952—$275.00—Fifteen dollar increase with appointment to temporary lieutenant.

From September 1952 to November 1, 1952—$302.00—General Increase.

November 15, 1952—$269.50—Patrolman pay as of that date.

In the period from September 12, 1952, when the temporary appointment to Lieutenant expired, until November 1, 1952, Mr. See was paid $269.50 (two hundred sixty-nine dollars and fifty cents), regular patrolman wages plus ten dollars ($10.00). One month after he became patrolman again he was paid $269.50 (two hundred sixty-nine dollars and fifty cents), the salary of all other patrolmen at that time.

Officer See is now receiving two hundred sixty-nine dollars and fifty cents ($269.50).

The Civil Service Commission has no power to fix salaries. However, since this complaint came before this commission, we have established the facts herein contained.

Another complaint of the committee concerns the appointment of Mr. John Sherry to the position of temporary Lieutenant. The official record shows that Officer Sherry was appointed temporary Lieutenant December 1, 1952, by Order No. 13143 of the Mayor and City Council. According to Civil Service Regulations, such an appointment should be for a sixty day (60) term. His continuing in office in the capacity of Lieutenant was contingent upon new legislation asked by the Mayor and City Council, permitting additional supervisory personnel beyond that allowed under the law at that time. The State Legislature has seen fit to pass this legislation —scheduled to become effective on or before June 1, 1953. In the event that such additional supervisory personnel is appointed, and since the purpose for providing such additional personnel is for the welfare and protection of the community, the commission cannot see that any great harm has been done.

While according to the strictest interpretation of the law existing at that time, Mr. Sherry should have been reduced in pay to that of his permanent rank; in the light of the aforementioned situation, the Civil Sedvice Commission feels that those clothed with authority acted in the best interest of the public at large.

With reference to the complaint that Officer Law is working a daylight shift on the Police Force while there are other men in the department entitled to the daylight shift by reason of seniority, a study of the situation reveals these facts. The long range program was set up to train a number of promising patrolmen in the work of the Detective Bureau. This program was in operation, and according to our records, at least one man had finished the training. Our records indicate that Patrolman Leo Law was assigned to the Detective Bureau November 1, 1952, for training. During his period of training, the Meister case developed. Since he was on the case from the beginning, and since the State's Attorney's office was requiring constant liaison with the City Detective Bureau, it seems feasible that the man in possession of most of the known facts of the case should be the logical one to continue to work toward a solution, even though this was contrary to the announced policy of rotation at the end of a short training period. At the conclusion of the investigation of the Meister case, or at the conclusion of a reasonable length of time, the Civil Service Board assumes that the rotation of personnel will be resumed in the Detective Bureau.

The men of the Fire Department feel that, in the interest of harmony, when a vacancy occurs in the department—such as chauffeur—said vacancy should be advertised on the department bulletin board and that the eligible men be permitted to sign up for said job. The head of the department shall then choose from the list the man with the greatest seniority, provided he is otherwise qualified. The Civil Service Commission recommends this proceedure in all departments. This recommendation applies only in situations where no promotional examinations are necessary.

Representatives of both the Fire and Police Departments requested a definite scale for rating men for promotional appointment. The Civil Service Board wil continue to study such a scale to aid in the choosing of the man or men for such appointments. Section 36-H of the Civil Service Law, No. 177, provides for promotions "to be made on the basis of merit to be ascertained by competitive examination by conduct and capacity in office and by seniority in service".

Since no records of efficiency for each employee have been kept in the past, and since this board is working to set up such records, we hope, in the very near future, to be able to present a workable plan.

42,145 County Residents Now On Voting List

Election Board Revises Records

Allegany County now has 42,145 registered voters, according to William A. Wilson, chairman of the County Board of Election supervisors.

The voter list has been revised in the past several months with the elimination of those who have died and the addition of those servicemen who voted by absentee ballots without having registered previously.

Male, And Republican

Today the county's typical voter is a white male and a registered Republican.

Of the 42,145 registered to vote 41,660, or 98.8 per cent are white and only 485 on 1.2 per cent, are Negroes. There are Negroes registered in 30 of the county's 90 precincts. One each is registered in Lonaconing and Westernport, 74 in Frostburg and the other 409 in various Cumberland precincts.

There are 23,624 registered Republicans among Allegany County voters. That figures to 56 per cent. Of the rest 18,237 (43.3 per cent) are Democrats, 205 (.5 percent) declined to list any party affiliation, 31 (.07 per cent) are registered Socialists and the other 48 (.1 per cent) are members of other parties.

Carry 62 Precincts

In running up their traditional margin, the Republicans outnumber Democrats in 62 of the 90 precincts.

On the sex basis there are considerably more male voters than females. The board reports that 21,950, or 52.1 per cent, are men and 20,195, or 47.9 per cent women. This male numerical superiority over females prevails in all of the party listings.

Of the Republicans 12,243 are men and 11,381 women. In the Democrats party there are 9,494 men and 8,743 women.

Among those independents who declined to list political affiliation, 163 are men and only 42 women. Of the 31 Socialists, there are 21 men and 10 women. The 48 registered voters belonging to other parties include 29 men and 19 women.

Next to be stricken from the voting lists will be those who have not voted since the 1948 presidential election. However, Wilson explained that this will not be done until after November of this year.

Meanwhile, those who have just turned 21 and those new residents of the county who now have lived here one year may go to the Board of Election Supervisors office in the Court House basement any weekday and register so they can vote.

Troop 5 Gets New Charter

Boy Scout Troop 5, sponsored by Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, received its new charter Thursday in ceremonies at the plant's social rooms.

John M. McAlpine, guest speaker for the evening, presented the new charter to J. C. Warden, plant manager, who accepted it for the troop.

Three boys were presented perfect attendance awards by Charles Smith, head of the Ground Observers Corps. They were:

Karl F. Taschenberger, Jr., Robert Swarner and Ronnie Fisher.

Smith also presented second class advancement awards to Charles Burcaw and William Hahn. Following presentations Scouts presented demonstrations of artificial respiration, the fireman's rescue carry and morse code.

Demonstrating the fireman's carry were Roy Wrachford, James Wrachford, Robert Jefferies and Kenneth Norris.

Presenting artificial respiration were James Abe, Gary Minke, Edward Cramer, Glenn Twigg, Joel Smith and Charles Burcaw.

Robert Swarner, William Hahn and Karl F. Taschenberger, Jr., presented the Morse Code demonstration. The program concluded with benediction by Jeffery Getz followed by refreshments.

Robert E. Shelley, is Scoutmaster for the troop and Karl F. Taschenberger, Raymond M. Kelley and Dashor A. Cross, Jr., are assistants.

On the troop committee are Delphin E. Treiber, chairman; Charles G. Smith, Roy B. Wrachford, Jesse Norris and Frenis W. Hoffman.

Parade Will Feature Circus Performances Here Monday

A gala, star-spangled parade through the streets of Cumberland Monday morning will feature the opening of the King Brothers and Cristiani Combine Circus at Community Ball Park for three performances Monday afternoon.

The parade, always one of the grand spectacles of circus day for old and young alike, will get underway at 11:30 a. m., leaving the mid-city ball park, traveling to George Street, then to Baltimore, up Centre Street to Market, back down Mechanic Street to Baltimore Street once more, thence to Williams Street and return to the circus grounds.

The circus, sponsored by the Cumberland Optimists and Exchange Clubs, will arrive in Cumberland early Sunday from Martinsburg, W. Va., in two great caravans of red and yellow enameled conveyances, mobile sleepers, passenger coaches, animal dens and cages, with horses, ponies, elephants and hundreds of people.

Three performances will be held Monday, with two matinee shows at 1:15 p. m. and 3 o'clock with an evening program at 8 p. m. Sideshows at the circus grounds will open at 11 a. m. and run continously.

A special ticket sale office will be set up Sunday by the Optimists and Exchange clubs at the Texaco Service Station on Wineow Street, opening at 1 p. m. Sunday for advance sale of ducats for the three performances.

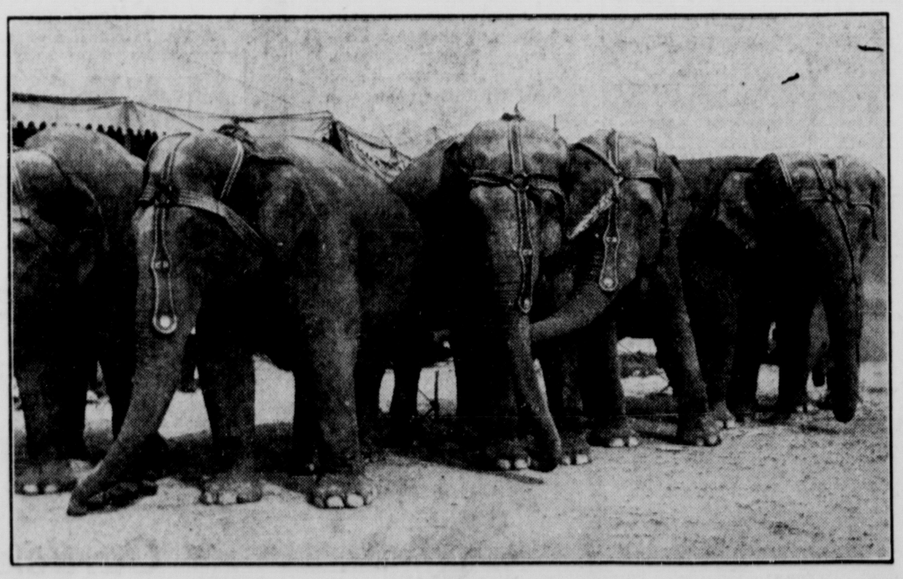
Officials of the clubs sponsoring the event have requested schools which have not reported ticket sales to do so today at Hauger's Jewelry Store on North Centre Street. Tickets are also on sale at Hauger's, they added.

Workers and members of the two sponsoring organizations will meet at 12:15 p. m. Monday at the Texaco headquarters preparatory to working at the circus during the shows.

Following its appearance here the King Brothers and Cristiani Combines Circus will depart for Somerset, Pa., where it will perform Tuesday.

Allegany County public school children will get a half holiday when the circus appears here Monday.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster said the Board of Education agreed to allow children to leave school at 12:30 p. m. Monday. However they will not be excused for the circus which will be here Tuesday, May 26. Webster stated the board decided it was unwise to excuse children for more than one circus. The request for the Monday holiday came first, he added.



Cumberland Civic Orchestra To Conclude Season May 19

Miss Regina Butta, Baltimore soprano, will be guest soloist for the final concert of the season by the Cumberland Civic Symphony Orchestra May 19.

Miss Butta, a graduate of the College of Notre Dame in Baltimore, majored in music and is a member of the Baltimore Music Club. She is a pupil of the Peabody Institute and a teacher in Baltimore City School System.

Her accompanist will be Mrs. Solange Frank, coach and staff accompanist of the Preparatory Department of the Peabody Conservatory.

Miss Butta, who won the Notre Dame voice scholarship in 1951 and has made many radio and television appearances in Baltimore will include selections from the operas, "The Marriage of Figaro;" and "Die Fledermaus." Also on her agenda will be "The Green Dog," by Kingsley and "The Watchmaker's Shop," by Morrison.

The Cumberland Civic Symphony Orchestra will feature the "Petite Suite de Consert," by Coleridge-Taylor in its program. Also included in the local group's final concert will be works by the American composers, Romberg and Harburg. The latter is noted for his popular tune, "Over the Rainbow."

The familiar "Arkansas Traveler," especially arranged and conducted by Harl McDonald, will be the concluding number for the concert orchestra.

Tin Can Matinee Opens Clean-Up Campaign Today

Children Will Help In Week-Long Task

Cumberland's annual week - long clean-up, paint-up, fix-up campaign gets underway today with the first principal event a "tin can matinee" for children at one of the local theaters this morning.

Time for the matinee is 10 a. m. at the Garden Theater. Price of admission is one or more tin cans which will be piled in a city street department truck as they are collected.

The five youngsters turning in the most tin cans will receive certificates of merit from the Chamber of Commerce, sponsor of the clean-up week program, and will be interviewed on radio station WTBO. All youngsters who attend the matinee will be given a balloon and painter's cap.

Children Will Report

Meanwhile, report sheets were distributed to all school children in the city so they can report all clean-up, paint-up, fix-up projects they accomplish by May 15.

Distribution of the blanks was completed in the school yesterday and the completed reports are to be returned next Friday. A grand total will be compiled at the Chamber of Commerce office and campaign leaders hope the total this year will exceed the 33,922 individual tasks accomplished last year.

Among other things, the blanks provide space to show just what has been cleaned, such as alley lots, back lots, basements, attics, furnaces. There also is provision to show painting and decorating projects completed, any planting that is done and such miscellaneous jobs as repairing water faucet leaks, fixing porches and steps, replacing electrical cords and the like.

As the campaign moves into high gear today, window displays either have been placed or are in the process of being installed. Kelly Troop 17, Boy Scouts, yesterday distributed several hundred posters for display in store windows in the downtown business section as well as in South Cumberland mercantile establishments.

Movies Available

Two movies also are available for showing this week, "The Tommy Tucker Story," a safety movie, and "What is Your Safety IQ." Already it is planned to show the films at meetings of the Rotary, Kiwanis and Optimist clubs, and Mrs. Lucile Roeder, street commissioner and co-chairman of the Chamber of Commerce clean-up committee with H. D. Barber, said one of the films will be shown to Street Department employes at 7 a. m. on Wednesday.

Starting Monday and continuing Tuesday and Wednesday, trash will be collected block-by-block in the city. Monday will cover the section north of Williams Street to Wills Creek to the city line. Tuesday will take in all streets from Williams Street to the C. and O Canal, and Wednesday will include the entire west side.

Trash should be bundled or placed in containers at the curb by 7:30 a. m. each day of the collection.

Wood Specialists

Stanley F. Spicer (left) and Richard E. Fahey, partners in an expanding wood products shop at 1413 Olive Avenue, are specialists in precision woodwork, doing a thriving business with Army and Navy contracts as well as private industry. The two men, who learned their trade at the defunct Kehoe Woodwork Company, are shown with a few of the articles which they make from wood, including blocks for block-and-tackle units and a variety of wooden knife handles.

Fryer, Bidinger Vie In Ridgeley Mayoral Contest

Magruder Quits After 18½ Years

Police Commissioner Charles H. Fryer and William D. Bidinger, retired grocer, were nominated for mayor of Ridgeley at a town primary meeting last night.

The nominations came after B. Frank Magruder, 62-year-old perennial mayor of the Mineral County town, announced he was stepping down to make way for younger men.

Fryer is completing his first term as police commissioner. Bidinger once served a council term, and ran unsuccessfully for mayor four years ago.

Robert F. Edenhart, incumbent recorder, was nominated without opposition for another term.

10 Council Candidates Named

Council nominees for the June 2 election are:

Woodrow Graham, Jesse Elkins Sr., former Ridgeley police chief; Harry F. Kelso, incumbent councilman; Robert L. Zimmerman, former recorder; John J. Dawson, Kelly-Springfield Tire Company worker; Floyd A. Decker, incumbent councilman; James Dittmer Sr., Celanese worker; Ralph Frantz, market owner; William Knieriem, employe at Frantz's Market, and William Preaskorn, Western Maryland Railway machinist foreman.

Mayor Magruder said he had to delay the start of the meeting half an hour because only a few people showed up. When the nominations began, only about 75 of the town's 1,100 registered voters were present.

Two or three persons placed Magruder's name in nomination for another term, but the mayor turned down each one, saying he had made up his mind to retire from politics after 18½ years in office.

His successor, a recorder and five councilmen will be elected June 2, all for two-year terms beginning July 1.

Magruder Saw Town Grow

Mayor Magruder, who will be 63 on May 22, has lived in Ridgeley ever since he was five years old.

"When I came here," he recalled last night, "there were only seven houses in Ridgeley. The town was nothing but pasture, there were no paved streets and there was no water supply."

Elected to his first term in 1923, Magruder served 12 consecutive one-year terms before retiring temporarily from politics. After a lapse of 12 years, he was re-elected in 1947, this time for two years, and has served since then.

He was in office when the town's streets were paved, when the water system was installed, and during most of the period which saw the rapid expansion of the town which has become Cumberland's friendly next-door neighbor.

"And now," said Mayor Magruder, "the town has its water bonds paid off, owns a police car, an air compressor and considerable other equipment, and has money in the bank."

Local Men Specialize In Precision Woodwork

Two local men have turned their exceptional skill in woodwork and cabinet making into a profitable business in precision woodwork as partners trading as Fahey and Spicer, Olive Avenue.

Stanley F. Spicer, 17 Lamont Street, and Richard F. Fahey, 1411 Olive Avenue, both learned the woodwork trade as employes of the Kehoe Woodwork Company when that concern was located at the Taylor Gymnasium in South Cumberland. Each worked as a foreman with the Kehoe concern.

Following the closing of the Kehoe Company the two men decided to go into a partnership for themselves and bought precision equipment used by James Nixon, who operated a woodmaking shop for making knife handles.

Fahey and Spicer worked in the Taylor Gymnasium for over a year and a half before moving into their present location at 1413 Olive Avenue.

The two men presently employ five persons in their shop where they make all types of knife handles, heavy wooden blocks for block and tackle units, special high quality walnut tables used to mount delicate instruments in precision research work, and have contracts with both the Army and Navy for certain items of wooden equipment and containers.

The company does all types of work for the armed services as well as private industry and is a rapidly expanding local plant.

Of the two longtime partners and friends, Spicer is the oldest at 44. He is married and he and his wife, Mary, have three children, a son and two daughters.

Fahey, 42, lives with his wife, Annabelle, next door to the woodwork shop on Olive Avenue. The couple have two daughters.

Pinto Guernsey Produces Most Butterfat For April

No. 19, a grade Guernsey belonging to A. E. and D. W. Light of Pinto, holder of second place in March, moved up to the top notch last month to pace the Potomac Valley Dairy Herd Improvement Association in butterfat production with 85 pounds.

The champion butterfat producer had 5.7 per cent butterfat in her 1,490 pounds of April milk, according to Wheeler W. Arnold and Harry E. Miller, association supervisors.

In second place last month was a cow produced by artificial insemination, Pansy, a grade Guernsey owned by Paul E. Greise, Mason Road. She had 73 pounds of butterfat in 1,370 pounds of milk.

Ranking third was Pet, a grade Holstein owned by R. E. Carskadon, Headsville, W. Va.

Eleven cows were included on the honor roll of the 10 top butterfat producers because of a three-way tie for ninth place with 63 pounds of butterfat.

Six herds were represented on the the select list. The Lights led with three cows. Three herds with two cows apiece on the roll were Carl W. Garland and Sons, Buffalo Mills, Pa.; John T. Mason, Cresaptown, and Lester Raines, Baltimore Pike. Greise and Carskadon had the others.

Average milk and butterfat production for the association showed a slight decline last month from the March figures. For the 831 cows in 28 herds tested last month, the average milk production was 671 pounds, compared with March's high for the year of 693. The butterfat average was 27.4 pounds last month compared with 28 in March. The butterfat percentage was up slightly, from March's 4 05 to 4.08.

Although the two top April butterfat producers were Guernseys, eight of the 11 were Holsteins and only three Guernseys.

Weather

Rain continued in its fourth day yesterday pushing up the total to 1.31 inches for the period. Hail fell briefly about 11 a. m., but no serious damage was reported. The Weather Bureau said showers will probably continue today in the area, but temperature will be warmer. High official temperature yesterday was 70 degrees according to Constitution Park weather station; low was 53 and at 8 p. m. mercury stood at 59 degrees. Rainfall amounted to .14 of an inch, and humidity at 6 p. m. was a damp 64 per cent.

Channel Wing Is Entered In October Race

City Still Seeking New Airplane Plant

A Maryland aircraft, the Custer Channel Wing, and a Maryland pilot, Walter J. Davidson, of Hagerstown will fly in the London-to-New Zealand international air race to be held next October by the Royal Aeronautical Club.

According to Willard R. Custer, inventor of the Channel Wing, Davidson will be one of five American pilots entered in the 12,000-mile annual event.

The aircraft to be flown in the race, the CCW-5, has been converted into Channel Wing from a Baumann Brigadier and is now nearing completion in California.

Mr. Custer also announced that his company, Custer Channel Wing Corporation has purchased land at Cedar Lawn on the outskirts of Hagerstown as a site for the new Channel Wing experimental factory.

Should the novel Channel Wing principle of aerodynamics withstand the rigid tests planned by Custer and Davidson and the aviation industry accept it for adaptation on other aircraft, the Hagerstown plant will not be very large.

In that event Custer will license the Channel Wing principle for production by other aircraft companies.

However, should the Channel Wing not be accepted by the industry, Custer plans to start his own factory to build Channel Wing aircraft in competition with other manufacturers in a location not yet decided upon, he told newsmen.

Cumberland is one of the plant sites which may be considered.

Farmers To Get Data On Wheat

Five young Allegany County farmers have been appointed by the County Production and Marketing Committee to contact some 229 known wheat farmers to obtain figures on their wheat production in 1951, 1952 and this year.

This production data is needed in order to establish acreage allotments for the crop of wheat to go in the ground this fall.

Joseph Silber will check wheat farmers in the Oldtown and Williams Road areas. D. T. Puffinberger will contact those living in the vicinity of Little Orleans. Robert E. Wilson has been assigned to consult with those in the Flintstone and Union Grove sections. Raymond R. Lepley will make the check in the vicinity of Mt. Savage and Frostburg. Charles Llewellyn will handle the job in the Potomac Valley and George's Creek sections.

Acreage planted to wheat for harvest as grain, for cover crop and for harvest as hay or pasture will be needed, according to Miss Elizabeth A. Hoover, PMA clerk. Acreage planted to wheat mixtures also will be needed.

Colorado Couple Comes To City For Wedding Bells

The office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court, added another testimonial to its claim as the "Crossroads of America" yesterday.

A couple from Pueblo, Colorado, obtained a marriage license there. The applicants were listed as Milton George Robertson and Mary Elizabeth Rutledge.

Since May 1, residents of nine different states have been issued marriage licenses in Boden's office. Besides Maryland and nearby Pennsylvania and West Virginia, other states represented included Massachusetts, Connecticut, Ohio, Virginia and New Jersey.

Civil Service Replies To Complaints Filed By Police And Firemen

The Civil Service Commission of the City of Cumberland has sent a letter answering complaints of a committee from the Police and Firemen's Welfare Association. The letter was directed to Robert C. Long, secretary of the Association, with copies to others interested.

The complaints were raised about a week ago at a special meeting of the Commission, when Patrolman Joseph Stitcher and Firemen John Carney and William Winters appeared before the board.

The letter follows:

"A committee representing the Police and Firemen's Welfare Association, composed of Mr. Stitcher, Mr. Carney and Mr. Winters, came before the Civil Service Commission at the regular meeting of the Commission Monday, April 27. They requested the Commission to clarify several situations as to their conflict or compliance with the intent of the Civil Service Law.

"The major complaint of the committee was that Patrolman See is entitled to ten dollars ($10.00) more per month than any other Patrolman, based upon an order of the Mayor and City Council of September 18, 1950, but is not receiving same. According to the minutes of the Council, these are the facts.

"By order of the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, Maryland, September 18, 1950, Detective Thomas J. See be and is hereby made head of the Detective Bureau of the City of Cumberland Police Department at a salary of two hundred thirty dollars ($230.00) per month, effective September 18, 1950."

According to the records of the Finance Office, Mr. See's pay record is as follows:

September 1950 — $220.00 — Same as all other patrolmen.

September 18, 1950—$230.00—As per order of the Mayor and City Council as head of Detective Bureau.

From October 1950 to June 1951 — $243.00 — General Increase.

From July 1951 to April 1952 —$255.00—General Increase.

From May 1952 to July 1952 —$260.00—Five dollar increase with appointment to temporary sergeant.

From July 1952 to September 1952—$275.00—Fifteen dollar increase with appointment to temporary lieutenant.

From September 1952 to November 1, 1952—$302.00—General Increase.

November 15, 1952—$269.50—Patrolman pay as of that date.

In the period from September 12, 1952, when the temporary appointment to Lieutenant expired, until November 1, 1952, Mr. See was paid $269.50 (two hundred sixty-nine dollars and fifty cents), regular patrolman wages plus ten dollars ($10.00). One month after he became patrolman again he was paid $269.50 (two hundred sixty-nine dollars and fifty cents), the salary of all other patrolmen at that time.

Officer See is now receiving two hundred sixty-nine dollars and fifty cents ($269.50).

The Civil Service Commission has no power to fix salaries. However, since this complaint came before this commission, we have established the facts herein contained.

Another complaint of the committee concerns the appointment of Mr. John Sherry to the position of temporary Lieutenant. The official record shows that Officer Sherry was appointed temporary Lieutenant December 1, 1952, by Order No. 13143 of the Mayor and City Council. According to Civil Service Regulations, such an appointment should be for a sixty day (60) term. His continuing in office in the capacity of Lieutenant was contingent upon new legislation asked by the Mayor and City Council, permitting additional supervisory personnel beyond that allowed under the law at that time. The State Legislature has seen fit to pass this legislation —scheduled to become effective on or before June 1, 1953. In the event that such additional supervisory personnel is appointed, and since the purpose for providing such additional personnel is for the welfare and protection of the community, the commission cannot see that any great harm has been done.

While according to the strictest interpretation of the law existing at that time, Mr. Sherry should have been reduced in pay to that of his permanent rank; in the light of the aforementioned situation, the Civil Sedvice Commission feels that those clothed with authority acted in the best interest of the public at large.

With reference to the complaint that Officer Law is working a daylight shift on the Police Force while there are other men in the department entitled to the daylight shift by reason of seniority, a study of the situation reveals these facts. The long range program was set up to train a number of promising patrolmen in the work of the Detective Bureau. This program was in operation, and according to our records, at least one man had finished the training. Our records indicate that Patrolman Leo Law was assigned to the Detective Bureau November 1, 1952, for training. During his period of training, the Meister case developed. Since he was on the case from the beginning, and since the State's Attorney's office was requiring constant liaison with the City Detective Bureau, it seems feasible that the man in possession of most of the known facts of the case should be the logical one to continue to work toward a solution, even though this was contrary to the announced policy of rotation at the end of a short training period. At the conclusion of the investigation of the Meister case, or at the conclusion of a reasonable length of time, the Civil Service Board assumes that the rotation of personnel will be resumed in the Detective Bureau.

The men of the Fire Department feel that, in the interest of harmony, when a vacancy occurs in the department—such as chauffeur—said vacancy should be advertised on the department bulletin board and that the eligible men be permitted to sign up for said job. The head of the department shall then choose from the list the man with the greatest seniority, provided he is otherwise qualified. The Civil Service Commission recommends this proceedure in all departments. This recommendation applies only in situations where no promotional examinations are necessary.

Representatives of both the Fire and Police Departments requested a definite scale for rating men for promotional appointment. The Civil Service Board wil continue to study such a scale to aid in the choosing of the man or men for such appointments. Section 36-H of the Civil Service Law, No. 177, provides for promotions "to be made on the basis of merit to be ascertained by competitive examination by conduct and capacity in office and by seniority in service".

Since no records of efficiency for each employee have been kept in the past, and since this board is working to set up such records, we hope, in the very near future, to be able to present a workable plan.

42,145 County Residents Now On Voting List

Election Board Revises Records

Allegany County now has 42,145 registered voters, according to William A. Wilson, chairman of the County Board of Election supervisors.

The voter list has been revised in the past several months with the elimination of those who have died and the addition of those servicemen who voted by absentee ballots without having registered previously.

Male, And Republican

Today the county's typical voter is a white male and a registered Republican.

Of the 42,145 registered to vote 41,660, or 98.8 per cent are white and only 485 on 1.2 per cent, are Negroes. There are Negroes registered in 30 of the county's 90 precincts. One each is registered in Lonaconing and Westernport, 74 in Frostburg and the other 409 in various Cumberland precincts.

There are 23,624 registered Republicans among Allegany County voters. That figures to 56 per cent. Of the rest 18,237 (43.3 per cent) are Democrats, 205 (.5 per cent) declined to list any party affiliation, 31 (.07 per cent) are registered Socialists and the other 48 (.1 per cent) are members of other parties.

Carry 62 Precincts

In running up their traditional margin, the Republicans outnumber Democrats in 62 of the 90 precincts.

On the sex basis there are considerably more male voters than females. The board reports that 21,950, or 52.1 per cent, are men and 20,195, or 47.9 per cent women. This male numerical superiority over females prevails in all of the party listings.

Of the Republicans 12,243 are men and 11,381 women. In the Democrats party there are 9,494 men and 8,743 women.

Among those independents who declined to list political affiliation, 163 are men and only 42 women. Of the 31 Socialists, there are 21 men and 10 women. The 48 registered voters belonging to other parties include 29 men and 19 women.

Next to be stricken from the voting lists will be those who have not voted since the 1948 presidential election. However, Wilson explained that this will not be done until after November of this year.

Meanwhile, those who have just turned 21 and those new residents of the county who now have lived here one year may go to the Board of Election Supervisors office in the Court House basement any weekday and register so they can vote.

Troop 5 Gets New Charter

Boy Scout Troop 5, sponsored by Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, received its new charter Thursday in ceremonies at the plant's social rooms.

John M. McAlpine, guest speaker for the evening, presented the new charter to J. C. Warden, plant manager, who accepted it for the troop.

Three boys were presented perfect attendance awards by Charles Smith, head of the Ground Observers Corps. They were:

Karl F. Taschenberger, Jr., Robert Swarner and Ronnie Fisher.

Smith also presented second class advancement awards to Charles Burcaw and William Hahn. Following presentations Scouts presented demonstrations of artificial respiration, the fireman's rescue carry and morse code.

Demonstrating the fireman's carry were Roy Wrachford, James Wrachford, Robert Jefferies and Kenneth Norris.

Presenting artificial respiration were James Abe, Gary Minke, Edward Cramer, Glenn Twigg, Joel Smith and Charles Burcaw.

Robert E. Shelley, is Scoutmaster for the troop and Karl F. Taschenberger, Raymond M. Kelley and Dashor A. Cross, Jr., are assistants.

Parade Will Feature Circus Performances Here Monday

A gala, star-spangled parade through the streets of Cumberland Monday morning will feature the opening of the King Brothers and Cristiani Combine Circus at Community Ball Park for three performances Monday afternoon.

The parade, always one of the grand spectacles of circus day for old and young alike, will get underway at 11:30 a. m., leaving the mid-city ball park, traveling to George Street, then to Baltimore, up Centre Street to Market, back down Mechanic Street to Baltimore Street once more, thence to Williams Street and return to the circus grounds.

The circus, sponsored by the Cumberland Optimists and Exchange Clubs, will arrive in Cumberland early Sunday from Martinsburg, W. Va., in two great caravans of red and yellow enameled conveyances, mobile sleepers, passenger coaches, animal dens and cages, with horses, ponies, elephants and hundreds of people.

Three performances will be held Monday, with two matinee shows at 1:15 p. m. and 3 o'clock with an evening program at 8 p. m. Sideshows at the circus grounds will open at 11 a. m. and run continously.

A special ticket sale office will be set up Sunday by the Optimists and Exchange clubs at the Texaco Service Station on Wineow Street, opening at 1 p. m. Sunday for advance sale of ducats for the three performances.

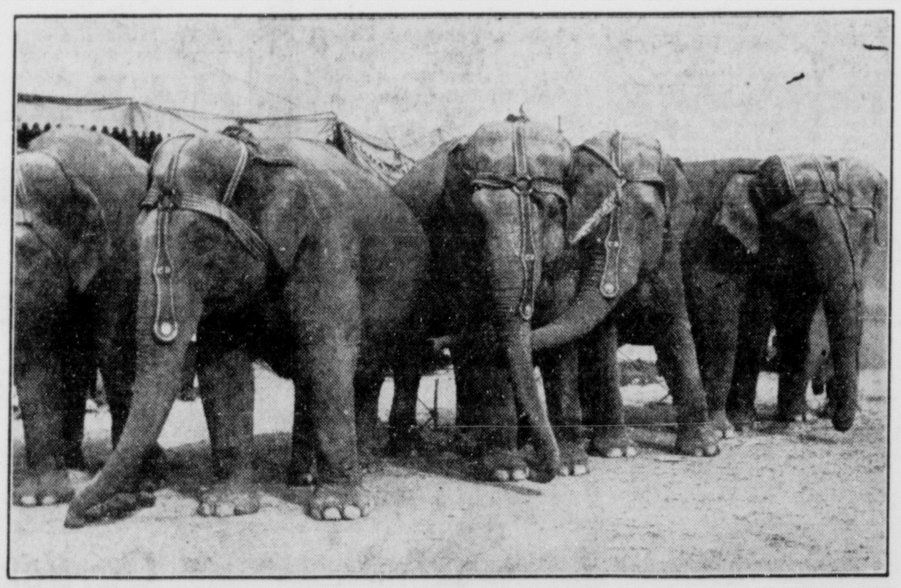
Officials of the clubs sponsoring the event have requested schools which have not reported ticket sales to do so today at Hauger's Jewelry Store on North Centre Street. Tickets are also on sale at Hauger's, they added.

Workers and members of the two sponsoring organizations will meet at 12:15 p. m. Monday at the Texaco headquarters preparatory to working at the circus during the shows.

Following its appearance here the King Brothers and Cristiani Combines Circus will depart for Somerset, Pa., where it will perform Tuesday.

Allegany County public school children will get a half holiday when the circus appears here Monday.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster said the Board of Education agreed to allow children to leave school at 12:30 p. m. Monday. However they will not be excused for the circus which will be here Tuesday, May 26. Webster stated the board decided it was unwise to excuse children for more than one circus. The request for the Monday holiday came first, he added.



Cumberland Civic Orchestra To Conclude Season May 19

Miss Regina Butta, Baltimore soprano, will be guest soloist for the final concert of the season by the Cumberland Civic Symphony Orchestra May 19.

Miss Butta, a graduate of the College of Notre Dame in Baltimore, majored in music and is a member of the Baltimore Music Club. She is a pupil of the Peabody Institute and a teacher in Baltimore City School System.

Her accompanist will be Mrs. Solange Frank, coach and staff accompanist of the Preparatory Department of the Peabody Conservatory.

Miss Butta, who won the Notre Dame voice scholarship in 1951 and has made many radio and television appearances in Baltimore will include selections from the operas, "The Marriage of Figaro;" and "Die Fledermaus." Also on her agenda will be "The Green Dog," by Kingsley and "The Watchmaker's Shop," by Morrison.

The Cumberland Civic Symphony Orchestra will feature the "Petite Suite de Consert," by Coleridge-Taylor in its program. Also included in the local group's final concert will be works by the American composers, Romberg and Harburg. The latter is noted for his popular tune, "Over the Rainbow."

The familiar "Arkansas Traveler," especially arranged and conducted by Harl McDonald, will be the concluding number for the concert orchestra.
